THURSDAY, APRIL 16, 1903.

It is easy enough to be pleasant. When life flows on like a song. But the man worth while is the man that will smile. When everything goes dead wrong. For the test of the heart is trouble. And it always comes with the years. And the smile that is worth the praises of earth is the smile that is seen through tears.

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

THE ART OF "GROWING" THINGS.

Just now while the subject of beautifying homes is uppermost in the minds of all, and the arts of ornamentation and civic improvement are being so generally discussed, the following brief extract from a letter from Prof. A. B. Leckenby, of the Union Experiment Station, is appropriate and to the point.

Prof. Leckenby is a lover and student of nature. His whole life is wrapped up in the art of unfolding her hidden forces, and bringing to light her rare and beautiful forms of expression. He believes that life without art is empty, but that all art is not comprised in sculpture, music and painting, but that "growing things," aiding the earth in the work of filling the barren fields with flowers and golden harvests, is a part of art and one of the most useful vocations of man.

In writing to Prof. E. B. Conklin on the subject of flower planting by the public schools, Prof. Leckenby says:

"With most of the so-called treasures of life, it is necessary to hide them away under lock and key. We place flowers where all can see and enjoy them. Those who cultivate flowers, do it to please others and get a great share of enjoyment themselves—a paying interest on their investment.

"The occupation of growing flowers does not blanch the cheek with sickness, but gives the healthy glow that makes the performer rich in ways that money can not buy. Rich in useful knowledge that may be made use of when necessary. Those who can get flower seed to grow and bloom, can grow tomatoes, lettuce, cabbage or anything that grows—they learn the great science of growing things.

"To become proficient in any of the so-called arts, as music, painting, etc., the worker must devote such incessant exertions and so much of life, that they become unbalanced and unfitted for social duties and pleasures and often broken in health. The love of plants tends to refinement of the highest and best type. To come close to nature, means health, wealth and usefulness. To such there is no more dearer thing, but friends are found in bird and tree, the fields are full of music, life becomes a poem; then are we capable of receiving the greatest blessings and life may be a success."

KEEP COOL AND DO YOUR DUTY.

A woman in Portland was fatally burned yesterday by pouring coal oil from a gallon can onto live coals. Such accidents are sad, and the pity of it is they are so frequent. It is unexplainable why in this day of newspapers when every person who can read has read numerous accounts of just such accidents, anyone will take the risk of such an occurrence. Aside from the danger it is a wasteful and expensive way of making a fire. Paper and kindlings are perfectly safe and much cheaper. The incident re-emphasizes the fact that there are thousands of everyday heroes unknown to fame because an opportunity to prove their heroism has never come to them. While the husband stood terror-stricken, not knowing whether to go to the help of his wife or to rescue his baby, a neighbor, James Kelly, ran to the woman whose hair and clothing were ablaze. He knew what to do and did it. He wrapped a blanket around her and smothered out the blaze. Such men are valuable members of any community. When the emergency arises they do not get rattled. They keep their wits about them, they are cool, they see what is to be done and undeterred by fear or panic, they do the necessary thing.

An agent of the Swift Packing Company is in Portland seeking a suitable location. The establishment of a packing house in Portland would mean much for the livestock interests of the state. It would save the long haul of our stock to Chicago and Omaha. It would save the by-products to be returned to the soil as fertilizers. Where stock is slaughtered by local butchers there is much of value that goes to waste. The establishment of the packing house would eliminate the element of waste.

The spring salmon season, which has just opened bids fair to exceed last year's catch. If Oregon had nothing to advertise her but the game and kingly Chinook, her reputation would be world wide. Our royal Chinook goes in cold storage cars to the East and on the tables of the rich advertises the mighty Columbia. In cans our salmon is sent wherever railroads, ships or pack trains can go.

The coffee output of Central America which amounted to about 1,000,000 bags annually, and which goes principally to Hamburg, will, if present plans are carried out, be diverted to the United States. A line of railroad is to be constructed from the Atlantic to the Pacific across Central America. New Orleans will probably be the port of entry into the United States.

A Minnesota flax company is seeking to locate in Oregon. Not even in Belgium is a better quality of flax grown than in the Willamette valley. Climate and soil conditions are very favorable there for its growth. The present mill intends to use the flax fiber for rope. Later we may be producing a grade of linen equally as good as the famous Irish linen.

The famous "Spindle Top" at Beaumont, Texas, has been visited with a destructive fire. A flywheel of an engine operating one of the wells, struck a lantern. The derrick was ignited and the flames spread with great rapidity. About 300 derricks were burned, causing a loss of nearly $1,000,000.

HOMES ARE NEEDED.

The following from the Daily Astorian is a sample of the universal cry for houses in every thriving city in Oregon:

"A handsome monthly income and the approval of a suffering public will be the reward of the enterprising man who erects a number of small cottages or a few first-class flats for rent within easy walking distance of Astoria's business center. The dwellings of the city are taxed to their utmost. It is, and has been for many months, almost impossible to obtain a good modern house to live in at any price without waiting indefinitely for it to become vacant.

"The houses which have been built recently have all been rented before they were finished, usually before construction was begun. Dozens of families in the city would be glad to secure medium sized dwellings with modern conveniences at a rental of $15 to $20 a month if they could be had.

Probably some of the property owners are afraid that if they built new houses their old tenements would be vacated. Perhaps they think the people may leave town soon. Some of them have left because they could not find decent houses to rent."

LOW SALARIES A CURSE.

The county prosecutor of the average community, on whom nine-tenths of the prosecutions of the county falls, gets somewhere between $1200 and $3000 a year. Going up in the scale, one finds that the federal district attorney gets $4500, and that the attorneys general of the several states have salaries ranging from $2500 to $5000. The attorneys general of the various departments and bureaus at Washington receive from $2000 to $5,000, and at the top of the pyramid stands the attorney general of the United States, who gets but $8000, and has to maintain a place in the cabinet upon that small salary.

The average salary of the average public attorney who has charge of the enforcement of laws in this country is probably something under $2500 a year. In three cases out of five which the public prosecutor tries in court he opposes attorneys for the defense who are making annually twice as much money as he is. Corporations take the best attorneys away from the commonwealth's service.

In nearly every town of over 10,000 people every railroad crossing pays some attorney more than the city or county prosecutor gets. In every state capital every railroad maintains an attorney whose salary is three or four times as great as that of the attorney general of the state. And every great railroad has at the head of its legal department men who receive from two to ten times as much money as the attorney general of the United States receives.

Law is made finally by the courts in this country, and the courts are influenced by attorneys. Is it any wonder that the people complain bitterly against the courts, and claim that the corporations get all the favors? What else can the people expect? Court decisions are like everything else in this world; the product of environment and the natural law. Cheap men give the public cheap service.—William C. Whitney in Saturday Evening Post.

Word has been received from E. C. Green, World's Fair commissioner to South Africa, that Rhodesia has accepted the invitation to participate in the World's Fair, St. Louis, 1904.

The German empress gave 176 female servants the golden servants' cross last year for having remained 40 years in the same family.

REAL ENJOYMENT.

The woman who reads this will understand to the full what Mrs. Tipton meant when she says: "I am enjoying good health." It takes a person who has been made wretched by sickness to understand the joy of health.

There are very many women who suffer as did Mrs. Tipton, who might be cured as she was by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"It is with pleasure I recommend Dr. Pierce's medicine," writes Mrs. Nora Tipton, of Cropper (Cropper Station), Shelby Co., Kentucky. "You remember my case was one of female weakness and weak lungs. I had no appetite and would often spit blood; was confined to my bed almost half of the time and could hardly stand on my feet at times for the pains through my whole body and system. My husband had to pay large doctor bills for me, but since I have taken four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, four of 'Favorite Prescription' and three vials of 'Pleasant Pellets' we haven't paid any more doctor bills. It had been seven months since I stopped using Dr. Pierce's medicines and I have been enjoying good health all the time. I can never praise these medicines too highly for I have received so much benefit. I pray that many who suffer as I did will take Dr. Pierce's medicines. I am sure they will never fail to cure when given a fair trial. Everybody tells me I look better than they ever saw me. I am sure I feel better than I ever did before."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a ladies' laxative. No other medicine equals them for gentleness and thoroughness.
