SOME REASONS.

Pendleton People Should Follow This Valuable Advice.

Because the proof is in Pendleton. You can easily investigate it. Not necessary to experiment. With some untired remedy. Profit by the experience of a citizen.

Mrs. G. W. Brown, who lives at the corner of Turner and B streets, says: "I was unable to sleep without suffering the most intense pain across the small of my back and through my kidneys. I got my first box of Doan's Kidney Pills at the Brock & McComas Co. drug store. I was so sore and lame that I could not stoop at the sink to wash. Doan's Kidney Pills did away with the trouble. If I did not honestly think that Doan's Kidney Pills acted up to the representations made by them I would not set my name to an endorsement. I know others who have used Doan's Kidney Pills with the same satisfaction."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents per box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Remember the name—DOAN'S—and take no other.

POWER OF REPORTER

HAVE AN AUDIENCE OF MANY MILLIONS.

Captain Bellairs Made History in Cuba and the Philippines.

The vast power and responsibility of the newspaper reporter have never been more strikingly shown than in the recent career of "Capt. Bellairs." This man, who is charged by two prominent newspapers, one of which employed him for a time, with being a former convict and professional scamp, was in Cuba chief among the men who made history by sending the news. In the Philippines, as agent of the Associated Press, he was for two years practically the sole informant of the American people upon the results of the momentous experiment of governing little brown men "outside of the Constitution," and by sending and coloring all the news from the islands he no doubt contributed more toward making public opinion on the Philippine question than any other man—except Mr. McKinley, the president of the United States.

Modern progress in the utilization of journalism by great statesmen who generally denounce it has made the "authorized statement," the semi-authorized statement and the mere "feeler" printed in the public press, do in Europe most of the work of diplomacy and of home politics. In this country it has evolved a new scheme for appealing direct to public opinion which has been well illustrated in President Roosevelt's trip.

The reporters who have attended Mr. Roosevelt to the happy hunting grounds have not really reported his speeches at all, though millions of people has so supposed. Every editor of a New York newspaper having the associated Press service had upon his desk, before the president left Washington, all the important speeches that he has since made. They were all prepared at the white house, carefully printed in good type, closely revised and put in proper numerical order.

It was, of course, stipulated that no newspaper should use any of these speeches until "released" by the news of its delivery; and no editor would have dreamed of violating this condition. In a word the speeches were not speeches at all, but compositions, carefully written, carefully revised and doubtless carefully read by cabinet members and political leaders, and criticized by them as to matters of which they had special knowledge.

The audience of 1000 or 2000 or 10000 people who actually hear one of these addresses is insignificant compared with that audience of millions who read it by the help of the press. Nor has any king or premier or president in time past ever had the advantage of such means of prompt appeal to his nation and to the world as is afforded by the modern press through the reporter, whose duties are so important that statesmen everywhere seek means of becoming reporters themselves.

A Chicago man proposes to capture Havana's stray dogs, use them as bait for sharks in the harbor, and when sufficient are gathered, blow them up with dynamite. The Havana municipal council pays $3 for each female shark destroyed, and $2 for each male. "There's millions in it."

At the annual meeting of the new board of directors of the Rubber Goods Manufacturing Company, in New York, Charles H. Dale, founder of the Peerless Rubber Manufacturing Company, was chosen president and chairman of the executive committee.
