STOCK IN WALLOWA.

Sheep Losses Have Been Heavier Than Usual—Cattle and Horses About the Same.

Wallowa, Oregon, April 22.—(Editor East Oregonian)—In reply to yours of April 6th, concerning stock losses would say that sheep losses have been heavier than usual. I think five per cent will about cover the loss.

JAMES TERRY, Stock Inspector Wallowa County.

Many Buyers at Heppner.

W. F. Courtney, of Walla Walla, is in the county buying stock for the Frye-Bruhn Company, of Seattle. He shipped over the W. & C. R. a carload of fat heaves bought of J. A. Guridarian, of Birch Creek.

and a program of sports has been arranged that will keep visitors interested all the time. The hilarity will begin with a monster street parade at 2 p. m. and from that time until 10 p. m. there will be something doing every minute.

STABBING AFFRAY.

Drunken Negro Cuts Henry Shorter, Who Was Attempting to Help Him to Bed.

A stabbing affray took place in the rear of the Louvre this morning about 8 o'clock. The parties engaged in the altercation were both colored. George Dixon, the bootblack, it is said, was lying half drunk in the rear of the saloon, when the Louvre's bootblack, Henry Shorter, undertook to get him off the premises and to bed. It is said that Dixon remonstrated about being disturbed, and while Shorter was about to enter the rear door of the saloon Dixon unexpectedly assailed him from behind with a pocket knife. Shorter was struck once, about half way from the neck to the point of the right shoulder. The blow was directly downward, and not slashing, and made a narrow but deep cut. The wound was nearly two inches in depth, and not over three-fourths of an inch across. It bled profusely and is quite painful, but not particularly dangerous. It is said that Dixon has a "record" in Portland. He has been in Pendleton but a few months, and only last Thursday was released from the city jail, where he served an eight-day sentence for drawing a knife on a man with whom he was quarreling. He was immediately arrested and is in jail.

Harwood-Newport.

Last evening at the Methodist parsonage on Thompson street, were married F. Pratt Harwood, of Omaha, to Miss Lulu D. Newport, Rev. Robert Warner officiating. There were present H. G. Newport, the bride's father, W. H. Babb and wife, and Mrs. W. H. Boyd of Echo, Ross Newport and Harry Rogers, and Thomas Sheridan of Butter Creek. The groom, who is general manager at Omaha, of the Anchor Fence Company, will return to Omaha in a few days. His wife will follow about May 15, and they will make their home in Omaha. The bride is the daughter of the contractor who is so well known in railroad circles and by scientific irrigationists all over the West. With his daughter he came West about two years ago from Minneapolis, where he was engaged in railroad contract work for a number of years.

Steel Arrives.

There are now at Hunt's Junction seven carloads of steel ready to be put into the W. & C. R. river bridge at Pendleton. The resumption of work on the bridge depends, first upon when the remainder of the steel will arrive. It is all ordered. Also upon when the bridge gang which will finish the work is ready to enter upon it. The contractor who is to finish it is now engaged on contract work for the O. R. & N.

First Consignment of Wool.

Four carloads of this year's crop of wool are standing on the track at the O. R. & N. yards awaiting unloading for use in the scouring mills. This is the very first consignment of wool to be shipped in here this year. There are 60,000 pounds, and it is the product of the flocks of J. E. Gulliford, of Echo, and of the Corrigan flocks of the same district.

A NEW SANITARIUM

BEING ERECTED IN PENDLETON BY MRS. LEACH.

Will Overlook the Entire City and Have a Capacity of Fifty Patients. Cost About $4,000.

Dr. Sabina W. Leach has begun the erection of a sanitarium in this city that is to cost between $4000 and $5000. It will have 20 rooms including the ward room, reception room, kitchen and dining room, besides bath rooms, closets and dispensary. It will be 34x56 feet in size and three stories in height, and be built upon the hill at the intersection of Bluff and Marie streets.

This is one of the prettiest locations for an institution of the kind that could be selected in Pendleton, as it overlooks nearly every building in the city. The structure will be of frame, and completed it will have a capacity of from 35 to 50 patients, besides affording a residence for the usual complement of nurses, and other regular attaches of the institution. It will be heated with hot air plant and be modern in every respect and throughout.

It will be equipped with a complete suite of baths—magnetic, thermal and herbal, besides plain and Turkish baths. Mrs. Leach's purpose is also to carry upon her staff of attaches a masseur and masseuse, and be equipped in every way to give the most advanced and up-to-date treatment of her school of medicine—the magnetic-herbal.

At this juncture the excavating is completed and the contract for the stone work let. Work upon the foundations and basement walls will be begun this week and the contract for the carpentering let immediately after the stone work is finished. It is Mrs. Leach's intention to have the building ready for occupancy by the end of the summer at least. She declares that she has already applications enough to give the institution quite a membership of patients if it were finished now.

Mrs. Leach has been practicing medicine according to the magnetic-herbal school for 23 years, and has had patients in Kansas City, San Jose, Cal., Portland and many other towns in the West and Middle West. She has practiced in many of the smaller towns, such as Dayton, Wash., and Moscow, Idaho, and has had quite a clientele, in an unobtrusive way, in this place and vicinity since she came here about two years ago to visit with her sons and daughter. In fact, it was her increasing practice here that has induced her to locate here and build a sanitarium.

Mrs. Leach will take and treat chronic cases of any and all kinds, professing particularly to look for a clientele from the ranks of patients who "have been given up" by the other schools of medicine. She will also treat victims of alcoholism, morphine, cocaine, or opiates of any kind, including coffee. Her system of medication is very simple and of the so-called "natural" school.
