Will Teach at Alba.

Miss Myrtle Prosser, lately from Michigan, begins next Monday to teach a summer term of school at Alba. Miss Prosser lately arrived from Michigan with her parents and several brothers and sisters. All the other members of the family went to Eugene, having shipped their goods there from Michigan on the representations of Eugene. After a few weeks spent at Eugene they became very much dissatisfied, and having spent a short time here before going there, returned on their first impressions of this county and what information they can gain about it. Mr. Prosser, Sr., will buy farming land in this county.

Old County Farm for Sale.

The proposed sale of the present county poor farm affords an excellent opportunity to get hold of some very fertile ground with some valuable improvements probably quite cheaply, or at least at a reasonable price. There are in the three dwellings on the place over 20 rooms besides bath rooms and closets. The ground not occupied with buildings is under a high state of cultivation and contains quite a number of bearing fruit trees. There are 21 lots in the property, which will be offered for sale to the highest bidder May 6.

Bridges Over the Tutuilla.

Alex Hutson, the road supervisor, has just completed two new bridges over the Tutuilla, near town. One is located close by the cemetery and is the first ever erected at that point. The other is about a mile farther up the creek and replaces an old one which was very decrepit. Both are entirely new structures, well built and substantial and were much needed.

One on Jim Spence.

They are telling a good joke on Jim Spence. It seems that Jim was out driving with a traveling man the other day and the subject of cooking came up. Jim began bragging on his wife's ability to cook spring chickens. The way Jim described it made the traveling man's mouth water. The upshot of the matter was that Jim invited the traveling man to breakfast. That afternoon he ordered a couple of spring chickens, some oranges and various other dainties. Meanwhile some of his friends had got wind of the affair and put up a job on Spence. They scoured the town over to find a couple of tough old hens and scrawny, warty little oranges. They had been sent down late the night before so Spence would have no time to replace them before the stores closed. That evening, just after the goods had been delivered there was a furious jangle of Kunkel's telephone bell. Mr. Kunkel ran to the phone, thinking there must be a fire. He heard an excited voice say, "This you, Kunkel? Say, chase out and hunt up that traveling man that was going to take breakfast with me. It's all off. I sent home a couple of spring chickens, and they must have sent me some Plymouth rocks that must have come over in the Mayflower. They are tough enough to be the great grandmothers of the first chickens that ever came to Oregon. You can't dent them with an ax. And the oranges; why they're the runtiest, meanest, scrawniest things I ever saw anywhere. Head off that traveling man. I wouldn't have him come for a quarter section all seeded to wheat." Kunkel couldn't find the traveling man, and how Jim squared himself we haven't yet heard. Just ask him. The treats are on him, all right.

A CLEANLY AGE.

Twentieth Century Ideas Incline Toward Sanitation and Preventatives.

Nowadays scientists believe that in cleanliness lies the secret of prevention of diseases.

To prevent a disease, remove the cause.

Just as unclean habits breed many diseases, so careless habits will breed dandruff. Improper use of another's brushes, combs, etc., will surely cause baldness.

It's microbic infection, nothing more nor less.

Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ, and causes hair to grow luxuriantly. Herpicide is absolutely free from grease or other injurious substances. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit Mich. Sold by F. W. Schmidt.

Mrs. Thoroughman Dead.

Mrs. Hannah L. Thoroughman, mention of whose coming from Kansas was made in the East Oregonian some days ago, on a visit with friends and relatives here, died very unexpectedly of paralysis in this city yesterday at 5 o'clock p. m., at the home of her grand-daughter, Mrs. S. K. Lipscomb, of West Bluff street. Mrs. Thoroughman was the mother of Rev. A. L. Thoroughman, formerly pastor of the M. E. church, South, of this place, and who with his brother, M. E. Thoroughman, of Vancouver, Wash., was with his mother at her death, and for some days previously. Mrs. Thoroughman, it will be remembered, was on her way to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. R. Plumb, of Lakeide, Wash. The funeral will take place today at 2 p. m., at the M. E. Church, South, conducted by the pastor, Rev. E. B. Jones, and the interment will take place in Olney cemetery. Mrs. Thoroughman was born in Indiana, November 23, 1827, and was married when 17 years of age to Aaron L. Thoroughman.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to try Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed at Tallman & Co.'s drug store.

Stricken With Paralysis.

H. B. Nelson, of Weston, was yesterday stricken with paralysis, and is said to now be in a very critical condition. This great misfortune will be a surprise to the entire county, as while not being a robust man, Mr. Nelson was neither feeble physically nor old, being only about 50 years of age. He has been engaged in the brick making business for many years at Weston, and is known to every business man and builder in North-eastern Oregon and Southeastern Washington.

TWO NICKELS.

Dropping of One on Car Floor Recalls Another Incident to Old Gentleman.

It was in a Boston street car. When the car stopped at a crossing, a lady got up and went to the door. As she rose there was the clink of a coin on the floor, but before it occurred to any one to stop her, she was out of the car and across the street. Two ladies who had sat next to her, looked with anxious indifference on the floor. One of them leaned slightly forward, but said nothing. Just as the conductor was reaching for the bell-rope a young man spied the coin and dashed out of the car. He caught the lady who had left the car, handed her the coin, ran back, caught the step of the car as the motors began to sing in crescendo, and sat down breathless. One of the two ladies opposite him leaned forward and said coldly, "Young man, what did you do with the nickel I dropped?" The passengers tittered. An old man at the end of the car turned to his neighbor. "That reminds me," he said, "of something that happened to my wife years ago.

"It was before the days of conductors, when we used to drop our nickels into a slot, and they ran down a groove to the box behind the driver.

"My wife had started out with a little change and one of those troublesome five-dollar gold pieces which used to be more commonly in circulation than they are now. Her eyes were not good and so she was nervous about her gold piece, and had it on her mind all the way down town.

"When she took a car for home she met a friend, and grew interested in conversation with her. She put her coin in the slot absent-mindedly. The driver turned as it struck the box. You remember the coin fell into a glass compartment first, and then the driver pushed a lever which sent it into the strong box below.

"As my wife heard the click of the lever, she thought of her five-dollar gold piece. She looked in her purse. Sure enough, it was gone. She went forward and spoke to the driver. He said he hadn't looked very carefully, but he thought there were only three nickels in the glass receptacle when he pushed the lever.

"My wife insisted. The driver said if she would ride to the end of the line the cashier at the station would open the box. This meant a journey of two miles beyond our street and my wife was in a hurry.

"An old gentleman who sat by the door, said he was going to the end of the line, and offered to give her $4.95, and get the gold piece at the station. My wife thanked him and took the money. When she got home she found the five-dollar gold piece in the lining of her purse.

"Next day I went to the station. The cashier said an old gentleman had made him open the box. There was no gold piece. The old gentleman had left in a rage, refusing to give his name. He said he had been swindled, and did not want to be known for a fool."

HOUSEHOLD CARES

Tax the Women of Pendleton the Same as Elsewhere.

Hard to attend to household duties. With a constantly aching back. A woman should not have a bad back.

And she wouldn't if the kidneys were well.

Doan's Kidney Pills make well kidneys.

Here is a Pendleton woman who endorses this claim:

Mrs. George Hays, living at No. 223 Lillith street, corner West Bluff street, says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to all sufferers from backache and other kidney troubles, with utmost confidence, that they will do everything that has been claimed for them by those who have used them as well as by the makers. The trouble for which I used them was principally backache, with which I had been troubled for a long time. It hurt me badly when I stooped to do any household that caused a strain on the back. I read an advertisement about Doan's Kidney Pills and decided to try them, feeling that they could do no harm, even if they did no good. I got a box in the store of Brock & McComas Co. and used only one box, as that was sufficient to relieve the backache and I have not felt it since."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents per box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name —DOAN'S— and take no other.
