CANCER EPIDEMIC

INCREASING IN ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

Disease Most Fatal Among Laborers and Farmers, and Greatest in Ireland—Women More Subject Than Men.

London, May 2.—Some most impressive and alarming facts and figures, showing how widespread cancer has become, are contained in a special report just issued by the registrar general of marriages, births and deaths in Ireland. Ireland lost nearly 3000 of its citizens through cancer in 1901, being at the rate of 6.5 per 10,000 of the population. In County Armagh the death rate is as high as 19.2.

The steady increase in the recorded mortality from cancer in all three portions of the United Kingdom is very remarkable, and, in fact, all Europe tells the same tale. The mortality is growing year by year, in spite of all medical science can do. In Bavaria the rate has risen during the past 10 years from 8.9 to 9.9; in Holland from 7.9 to 9.3; in Norway from 6.1 to 9.2; in Austria from 5.4 to 7.0; in Prussia from 4.5 to 6.1, and in Italy from 4.2 to 5.2.

The same steady increase is recorded in America. Women suffer slightly more seriously than men, and the disease is most fatal in those advanced in life. In many cases those attacked are carried off with remarkable rapidity. In 1901 776 persons in Ireland were not ill more than six months; and 875 for less than a year. No explanation is furnished of the fact that the disease is most fatal among farmers and laborers.

The observations of registrars may or may not be of great medical value, but it is not without interest to note the general opinion that the disease attacks most frequently those who live in damp houses or who reside in a district with a damp subsoil, while hereditary tendencies exist in many cases. Many of these reports attribute the prevalence of cancer to the clay pipes, often dirty, which the small farmers and laborers use, but in the case of women the illness is laid at the door of the strong tea which they drink (in some instances seven times a day), while in both sexes alcohol is said to predispose to the disease.

Same Old Skeleton.

A young medical student at Bowdoin college once asked the late Prof. Parker Cleveland if there were not some more recent works on anatomy than those in the college library. "Young man," said the professor, measuring the entire mental caliber of the youthful scholar at one glance, "there have been very few new bones added to the human body during the last ten years."—Ran's Horn.

SAVING BY WORK

BOOTH-TUCKER TELLS OF SALVATION ARMY METHODS.

Co-Operative Farms and Towns as Means of Saving Men's Souls and Giving Them Homes—Work of Redemption a Means of Civilizing the Country.

Phenomenal strides are being made in the Salvation Army colonies, according to the great leader Booth-Tucker, now on the Pacific Coast. The army expects soon to place 100 more families upon its farms in the United States.

"We ought to do this work on a large scale," says the commander in an interview. "The railroads should help us, for it is a benefit to them. A company should be organized with $1,000,000 capital.

"At Amity, Col., land that we purchased for $20 and $30 an acre is now worth $100 and $200. In the townsite, the land is worth $6000. There are 20 places of business, patronized by all the country, and recently one of the men erected a $3000 stone building. The freight paid to the railroad at this little station last year amounted to $50,000.

"In the Amity colony there is not one but what is worth from $2000 to $5000, and all are happy and contented. Take human waste and waste labor, place them upon waste land by the aid of waste capital, and join them in a trinity of production.

"For $100,000 200 families, of 1000 souls could be placed on 2,000 acres of irrigated land.

"Many are the men, women and children happily settled upon our farm colonies in Colorado, California and Ohio. They are all self-supporting and will ultimately become home-owners paying back the cost of their redemption and thus preparing the way for others. No more promising enterprise can be found in the entire realm of philanthropy and statesmanship than this endless chain of deliverance. The pioneer difficulties have been mastered. Now, only capital is required for a boundless expansion of this solution of poverty's most serious problem. There is a tremendous future for the worthy poor of our cities.

"Our industrial homes are being enlarged and multiplied. For the new workmen's hotel on the Bowery we pay $12,000 rent each year. Two new homes will soon be erected, one in New York, the cost of which will be $70,000.

"With the sufficiency of such harbors of help, temporary work can be provided for the most helpless, unskilled, hopeless and unfortunate, until permanent employment can be secured. They are thus assisted, without being pauperized. At the homes for women and workmen, nightly accommodation is given to thousands at a price brought down to the capacity of the poorest, and this is afforded to all, irrespective of creed or nationality."

Major Dublin, who accompanied the commander on his trip to Walla Walla, Seattle and Tacoma, reports exceedingly interesting and successful meetings.

In Walla Walla a large meeting was held at the opera house, Major Hunt presiding, and prominent citizens acting as vice-presidents. A special feature of the visit was the meeting at the penitentiary, where the warden, in the middle of the day, stopped all the work that the 600 prisoners might assemble to hear the man who is so greatly interested in work for their betterment.

The commander believes that if a convict could have a little encouragement, he given another chance in the world, the number of criminals would decrease rapidly.

ROOSEVELT IN KANSAS.

President Sees Most Populous and Rich Portion of Sunflower State.

Salina, Kan., May 2.—The route of the presidential special today lay through one of the richest and most populous sections of Kansas. Leaving Topeka at an early hour this morning there were brief stops during the forenoon and afternoon at Manhattan, Junction City, Abilene and one or two other places. Everywhere there were the same enthusiastic ovations for the president.

Each station was decorated with flags and bunting, bands were on hand to play the national air, and multitudes of people to listen to the president's brief remarks. In Salina 4,000 school children of the county were massed to hear the chief executive of the nation speak and the crowd was the largest ever seen here. Several more stops are scheduled for late this afternoon and Sharon Springs will be reached at 8:30 p. m. Here the party will remain until Monday when the journey will be resumed to Denver, which city will be reached before noon of that day.

"California."

"California," the new play of the period, which will be seen here for the first time Tuesday, May 5, has made a remarkable success. The Indianapolis Sentinel says: "The play in all its component parts was a most effective piece of work. Without mentioning individual characters the work was so well balanced that it was hard to choose favorites from the cast. Some especially commendable features to be expected is the scene representing the Yosemite Valley (a magnificent piece of work), the costume and the playing of Miss Rae Bronson as 'Dolores' the Spanish girl, Mr. Ed M. Kimball as 'Tom Bolton' the old miner, and in fact, the whole play."

A Petrified Chicken.

"Squire Douglass Burling, who lives near Gleason, Tenn., has dug up on his farm a petrified chicken, just the proper size for a broiler. It is perfect in every respect except as to legs, which it does not possess. It is so near to nature that it might have been carved, but local sharps say it was surely petrified.

MISS MONIE BOWEY,

No. 38 Perry Street,

DETROIT, MICHIGAN.

A couple of winters ago I slipped on a frozen sidewalk and fell flat on my back. On being examined I found that I had sustained internal injuries which laid me up for more than two months. After that I noticed that I had pains in the back and groin which I never had before. I doctored and doctored for several months but as the pains increased instead of growing better I decided that I was not having the right treatment. Reading in the papers of the wonderful cures performed by Wine of Cardui I wrote to one of the parties and received a very satisfactory reply and I immediately sent for some. In a very short time I felt generally better and after seven weeks faithful use I was once more well and strong. I have never had a sick hour since and I daily bless your splendid medicine.

Miss Monie Bowey.

Wine of Cardui makes women more womanly by curing their weakness and making them stronger. Wine of Cardui cured Miss Bowey. As a medicine for all women in every trying period of their lives can you think of a better medicine for yourself, your sister, your daughter or your mother? If your daughter, mother, sister or friend is sick and in need of relief, your duty is equally great to them. Many women, now well, owe their lives to friends who brought them Wine of Cardui.

Wine of Cardui is adapted to women at any age in any walk of life. For the working woman it gives her strength for her tasks and better treatment than a doctor for very small cost.

Your druggist will sell you a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui. Secure the medicine today. Take it in the privacy of your home. Relief will come to you as surely as you take it.
