Great Revival of Interest in Woodmen of World and Women of Woodcraft.

Mrs. Van Orsdall has returned from Walla Walla, where the Woodmen of the World and the Women of Woodcraft held the greatest log-rolling celebration that the Inland Empire has yet seen.

There were over 5,000 people to hear the addresses at the courthouse, one of the speakers being A. D. Stillman, of this place. A large crowd of Pendleton people attended.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our sincere thanks and heartfelt gratitude for the many expressions of love and sympathy we have received from many faithful friends in our recent sad bereavement, the death of our beloved son and brother, Charles Konasek.

Mr. FRANK KONASEK,
Mrs. MARY KONASEK,
Mr. WILLIAM KONASEK.

Will Play at Walla Walla.

The local baseball team will meet Walla Walla on the Walla Walla diamond for a series of four games, May 7, 8, 9 and 10. By that time it is hoped that the Pendleton team will be crystallized into the final aggregation which will carry away the pennant at the end of the season.

When the sun went down on Saturday evening it left the boys of the cardinal suits gilded with the rosy rays of hope and its last rays pointed to the score board where the figures 7 and 1 stood out large and clear with the seven on the visitors' side. And as the boys went home after the game they talked of the good news they were about to send home to mamma and of the joy that the news would bring to the hearts of the waiting and trusting ones at home. They also had the result of the Sunday game on their minds and told how proud their sweethearts would be of them when they came marching home with their crown of victory on their brows; but the crown became misplaced through some freak of fate, when they gathered for the Sabbath festivities yesterday afternoon and the Indians knocked the gliding from the Colfax lads in large and numerous chunks. They went home to their sweethearts with a different story to tell and a crown of willows, not of laurel.

Sunday's game was a good one from the first to the last and the boys of the red and the local lads both have cause to be proud of the result. Pendleton has the best of the argument on the praise side, for the local team went in with three new men to meet the visitors, but those three men were good and to them belongs much of the credit of the victory. Trippier behind the bat, played a steady and consistent game, as did Kruger in the left field and Hartman at the first base. All of the boys played ball and that accounts for the score of two to one by which the game was won.

It was the third inning before things began to happen and then they happened good and fast for a while. Everything was going nicely and Bernard got to first on a pretty single. Case took the ash and shot a long, low, hot one out to Babe Brown at short. It was so hot that Bernard thought he would go to the second station, but the big man had tacks in his mitt and doubled back to Hartman, making the first double play of the day and retiring the side.

In the second half of the same inning Nagel slipped across the rubber making the first score of the game, and from that time on Pendleton had things as they came to them, and they came right.

Colfax had to go to the bat six hard times before they succeeded in sending one of their men over for the first and last run they made. It was bad luck, but it was good ball.

The rank play of the game occurred in the first half of the eighth, when Sommers sent a long fly out into the left center. It was such a pretty fly that the inhabitants of that section hated to spoil it. It was such a graceful fly and sailed through the air like some strange bird, while Kruger, Brown and Gass stood in admiring silence and watched it fall. And as it fell Somers reached the second station and sat down to rest. A long running catch by Gass retired the next man up and Colfax lost the chance to score. Gass, by the way, is the cleanest fielder of the lot, and can hit a few when the team needs a little help in the score column.

The score below will show the Sunday game to have been the cleanest of the series and the nearest approach to baseball yet seen this season:

ON MISSIONARY WORK.

Mrs. Emma Shellabear Recites Some of the Details of Her Work in Singapore.

At the M. E. church yesterday morning, Mrs. Emma Shellabear, formerly of this county, but for the past eight years a missionary in Singapore, gave a highly interesting talk on missionary work in that far away land.

She told of the great need of reading matter in that and adjoining cities of Malaysia. The native population is so poor and their means of securing reading matter so limited, that entire cities of 100,000 population are entirely devoid of any kind of literature. She gave some interesting facts regarding the rescue of Chinese and Malay children from the ignorance and paganism of their native land and said the British government invited the Chinese to settle in the cities of Malaysia, on account of their thrifty and industrious habits.
