NEW PRESIDENT FOR PENDLETON ACADEMY.

Rev. W. H. Bleakney Will be At the Head of the Institution During the Coming Year-Well known in Pen-

The board of trustees of the Pendleton Academy held its regular annual meeting last evening at which time the business of the past year was audited and the accounts paid. The financial affairs of the academy are in excellent condition and it is practically free from debt. All of the accounts that are at the present time unpaid can be met from the fund owing the institution so that the school can be said to be on a cash basis.

Full Board Present and Officers Elected.

There was a full attendance of the members of the board at the meeting last night, eight members answering to the roil call, namely; Lot Liver-more, president; T. C. Taylor, Freder-ick Nolf, Prof. T. L. Forbes, Rev. R. J. Diven, Rev. W. H. Bleakney, of Elgin; Rev. Levy Johnson, and Dr. W. S. Holt, of Portland.

After attending to the routine busi-ness of the meeting the board passed to the election of the officers for the coming year. Mr. Livermore was again honored with the presidency and Frederick Nolf was again given charge of the records of the board. T. C. Taylor was elected to treasurer in the place of C. S. Jackson, whose duties in Portland prevent his attendance at the meetings of the board. Judge

The resignation of President T. L. Forbes was presented to the board and accepted and Rev. W. H. Bleakney, of Elgin, was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Rev. Forbes. President Bleakney was one of the faculty of the academy in one of the faculty of the academy in 1890-91, and is one of the ablest men of the denomination in the state. He comes to the work with an excellent record behind him and will no doubt carry on to completion the good work so well begun by the retiring presi-

The board congratulated the Rev Forbes on the splendid record he has made while at the head of the academy and expressed the wish that he have all success in his new field. From a run-down, impoverished institution the retiring president has built up the present institution, making it successful financially and as a place of learning, has increased the efficien-cy of the faculty and has placed the school on a footing with any denomi-national institution of the state. The gentleman will go to Seattle where he has accepted a call to the First Presbyterian church of that place. The change is directly the result of the continued ill health of Mrs. Forbes, with whom the climate here did not agree. Then again the work of the last five years has been hard on Rev. Forbes and his health demands

JUDGE FITZ GERALD'S ADVICE.

After Soundly Lecturing Young Of fenders, Case Is Dismissed.

The case of the city against Bertha Robinson was tried in the city court yesterday afternoon, at which time the defendant was found guilty and sentence was suspended during good be-havior. The defendant was accused havior. by Mary Hannell of assault and a cloud of witnesses were introduced in support of the charge. The trouble arose May day, and was the outcome of a family row about a duck.

In passing sentence the court reminded the principals in the case that the city was at the present time putting in some new steel cells in the city jail and warned them that the practice of family rows, grown com-mon of late, in the city must cease or he would pass jail sentence upon the offenders. The court held that such things were entirely unnecessary and disgusting and that either they would have to cease or he would make an example of the offenders on the next provocation. Both sides of the case were warned to keep the peace and

WILL FURNISH SEWER PIPE.

Bid of Denny Clay Company, of Seat tle. Accepted by the City Council.

The council met last night in spec session to consider the bids the sewer pipe. Besides Mayor Hal-ley, Councilmen Johnson, Dickson, Clopton, Switzler and Howard were present when Recorder Fitz Gerald called the roll.

Chairman Ciopton, of the committee on sewers, reported favorably on the bid of the Denny Clay Company, of Seattle, and recommended that the council award them the contract. Accordingly an ordinance was read and passed, authorizing the Denny Clay Company to furnish the pipe at the figure proposed by them, which was $17,664.10, and fixing their bonds at City Engineer Miller asked the per mission of the council to auvertise for bids for the construction in one of the Portland papers and it was given him. The council ordered the bid of the Western Clay Company to be re-turned. The meeting then adjourned.

ELEVEN STUDENTS WERE GRADUATED LAST NIGHT.

Exercises Were Very Entertaining and the Christian Church Was Crowded by an Interested Audience -An Enviable Record for the Institution.

The Christian church was crowded to the doors last night with people gathered to witness the graduation of the first class of the Pendleton Busi-ness College. At that time 11 young ladies and gentlemen were given di-plomas testifying to their ability to cope with the business world and their many friends had gathered to see them thus honored.

A very interesting and instructive program was given by the members of the class, the first number of which was a plano solo by Mrs. Marston, en-titled "Evening Reverie." Following the solo, an invocation was offered by Rev. N. H. Brooks, in which he prayed for the success and future happiness of the members of the class, and the continued prosperity of the college.

Following the invocation Mrs. Marston delighted the audience with another number on the plano, after which Miss Della Privett presented her oration on "The Lady in Stenography." Miss Privett handled her subject in a manner showing keen insight into the requirements of stenography. ographic work, and treating especially the influence of true womanhood in the business world. The effort was well received and given merited ap-Herbert A. Yates read the class prophesy, and as is usual, depicted the future of his classmates in bright and happy colors. His paper neatly written and well read.

"Imps and Sprites at Work" was the title of a piano trio very nicely handled by Miss E. Kimbrell, Miss B. Krebs and Miss H. Arnold.

The class valedictory was delivered by Miss Luvena Hale, and was listen-ed to by the large audience with great interest. Miss Hale is a graceful speaker and handled her subject in an able manner.

Following the valedictory the diplomas were handed to the members of the class by Professor H. M. Robinson, the principal of the college. Each diploma was accompanied by happy remarks from the man who had led the young people over learning's rocky road for so long and hopes express ed by him that their future inter course with the business world would be as pleasant and as profitable to all as had the time spent in college.

Following the remarks of the president, the three young ladies again favored the audience with a piano

The program was closed by Judge The program was closed by Judge Stephen A. Lowell in a very masterly treatment of the subject, "Climbing the Heights." Judge Lowell's speech was a model of its kind and fully sustained that gentleman's reputation for eloquence and logic.

The members of the graduating class are given below. Another class will graduate during the first week of July, and will contain about 12 members.

Professor Pray, of Spokane, took charge of the stenographic depart-ment this morning, and will make his part of the college equal to any on the coast for thoroughness and efficiency
