

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

CATHOLICS DOING HONOR TO BISHOP OF VINCENNES.

Clergy and Lay Members Meet at Indianapolis, in Honor of Bishop Chatard—Short Story of a Very Interesting Life.

Indianapolis, May 9.—Prominent priests and eminent prelates of the Roman Catholic church are gathering here to take part in the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the elevation of Francis Silas Chatard to the bishopric of the diocese of Vincennes, now the diocese of Indianapolis. The celebration will begin tomorrow with a mass meeting of laymen in Tomlinson hall, in which the school children of the several parishes will take part. The ecclesiastical celebration will be held Tuesday, beginning with a pontifical high mass at St. John's church in the forenoon. There will also be a banquet for the clergy. Among the high church dignitaries to take part are, Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Quigley, of Chicago, Archbishop Keane, of Dubuque, Archbishop Farley, of New York, Bishop Montesdocca of San Luis Potosi, Mexico, Bishop Gabriel of Ogdensburg, N. Y., Bishop O'Connor of Newark, Bishop Kelley of Savannah, Bishop McQuade of Rochester and Bishop Janssen of Belleville, Ill.

Biography of Bishop Chatard.
Bishop Chatard was born in Baltimore in 1834. He is of French descent, though his maternal grandmother was Irish. His mother was born in the Isle of Martinique. He was educated at the college of Mount St. Mary, Emmetsburg, Md., where he was noted as a diligent student, graduating in 1853. He adopted the profession of medicine, but had no sooner finished his medical course than he felt that he was called upon to qualify himself to enter the priesthood of the Roman Catholic church.

He at once entered upon the work of preparation, and soon crossing the Atlantic, proceeded to Rome, where he entered the Urban College in 1857. At the end of six years of study he read a public thesis, which brought to him the degree of doctor of divinity. Soon after this his merit as a scholar was recognized by his appointment as vice-rector of the American College at Rome. On the elevation of the rector, the Rt. Rev. Dr. McClosky, to the bishopric of Louisville, Dr. Chatard was made rector.

This office he ably filled for 10 years. As a resident of Rome and the ecclesiastical head of a great educational institution, his influence was wide, and his labors in every good cause were untiring. His work during the vatican council, in 1868, was especially recognized by Pope Plus IX, who, as a token of appreciation, presented him a gold medal.

In 1878 Dr. Chatard visited the United States on a mission to collect money for the support of the American College. On his return to Rome he was notified of his appointment as bishop of the diocese of Vincennes, and was consecrated to that high office in Rome on May 12, 1878. He arrived in Indianapolis in August of the same year. From the first he made this city the seat of the diocese, but the name of the see was not changed from Vincennes to Indianapolis until 1898.

Large Strawberry Crop.

The trainmen on the O. R. & N. mixed branch train between this city and Walla Walla keep close watch on the rapidly ripening strawberry crop along the line. The strawberry season in Umatilla county means more to this crew than to any other three men in Oregon, for fully 75 per cent of the crop is handled by them and they are now counting the days until they shall begin handling from 100 to 500 crates per day. The crop is expected to be exceptionally good year.
