KAMELA'S SUICIDE

E. SWANGER TAKES CARBOLIC ACID.

Pioneer of the Mountain Settlement of Umatilla County—Was a Sufferer for Years From Asthma—Well Known in Eastern Oregon.

Elmer Swanger, Sr., for the past 16 years a resident of Kamela, committed suicide last evening at 7 o'clock by taking carbolic acid. He was 67 years of age and a native of Indiana. He came to Portland 17 years ago, but the climate not agreeing with him, he came to Kamela, purchased the Corbett property including most of the dwelling houses in the town, and has resided there continuously since that time. He leaves a wife, two sons, Seymour, of Meacham Creek, and Elmer, Jr., of Hunt's Junction, and a daughter on Puget Sound. He has been engaged in the wood and milk business and has done much to improve the little town on the summit of the mountains. He owned six or seven dwelling houses and some choice timber lands. He has been a sufferer from asthma for years and could only live in a high altitude. Coroner W. G. Cole went to Kamela on an early freight train today and will hold an inquest this afternoon.

ADVENTISTS' CAMP MEETING.

Collection of $665 Taken for Educational Work at Adventist Colleges.

Quite a number took advantage of the special rates to the camp meeting yesterday, so the number of campers is larger than at the close of the week. There are now 109 tents pitched, and occupied by campers and for meeting purposes. One thing of special interest is the meeting with the young people. A 30x50 tent is pitched for that purpose and services held with them at 5:30 a. m. and 5 p. m. Professor Prescott's Bible studies at 2:30 p. m. are very instructive and much interest is taken in them. Elder W. F. Martin occupied the stand last evening, speaking on the second coming of Christ. Resolutions were passed this morning looking toward changing the time of the conference year from ending April 1, to end January 1, and holding local camp meetings. A collection was taken up to pay for the material used in the book, "Christ's Object Lessons," which was dedicated to be used as an endowment to the colleges among Seventh Day Adventists, and $665 was raised for that purpose.

FORMERLY A PENDLETON GIRL.

Mrs. H. E. Hutchinson, of Mount Vernon, Wash., Died Last Week.

The Mount Vernon Argus, published at Mount Vernon, Wash., contains a notice of the death of Mrs. H. E. Hutchinson, of that city. Mrs. Hutchinson was formerly Josephine E. Conley, a daughter of David M. Conley, who was associated with the late J. H. Turner, of this city, in the practice of law, about the years 1884-5. She attended school for several years in this city and will be remembered by many friends here. While but a child, her parents removed to Mount Vernon, where she graduated and followed teaching for several years. In June, 1901, she was married to H. E. Hutchinson, a merchant of Sauk, Wash. She leaves a husband and little daughter, her mother, now Mrs. J. S. Bowen, and two married sisters, Mrs. J. H. Smith, of Mount Vernon, and Mrs. Harvey Curry, of Sedro-Wolley, to mourn her loss. She was born in Albany, Or., August 3, 1878.

Valuable Indian Relic.

One of the finest Indian relics found about these parts for many days was picked up by the young son of C. A. Borders last week, says The Dalles Chronicle. The design is a head somewhat after the nature of Egyptian work, chiseled out like a mortar. It has large bulging eyes, the nose being worn down. The hair is represented by coils resembling cord. It is about eight inches high and is a valuable relic. The boy found it in Mill creek, below the Fourth street bridge.
