PLAYED GOOD BALL

FAST, CLEAN GAME WAS WITNESSED YESTERDAY.

Score Stood 7 to 5 in Favor of Pendleton—The People Missed a Rare Opportunity to See First-Class Work.

With the dust settled by the rain, the sun just warm enough and two teams evenly matched, the Pendleton fans had an afternoon of enjoyable sport yesterday at the Alta street diamond.

Mr. Ripley called the game at 3:30 and took his place behind the pitcher. The gentleman from up the country has not the stentorian tones of "Babe" Brown, and needs a megaphone to reach the straining ears of the listening baseball cranks on the bleachers. He was so quiet he was almost forgotten, and had it not been for Frank Hammond's merciful inquiry at intervals he would have been entirely overlooked.

The boys didn't need an umpire much anyway, for they all played fast, clean ball, and with an exception or two, knew what had happened to them before the umpire had time to tell them.

Dayton went first to bat, and Kid Williams went first to first. Marcus handed him one in a soft part of his anatomy, where the blow wouldn't hurt. But the left-handed boy made up for it by striking out two men in succession, and the next one was caught out at first.

Pendleton began to receive her pay in the last half of the first. Neagle made a mistake and went out at first, but in turn the Dayton bender man made a little miscalculation and presented Brockhoff with one that he put out towards the fence and while the fielders were hunting the sphere the little man with the yellow stockings made second base. Gass hit to first and stole second. Dunn followed the good work by a hit down the third base line, and on the error of that man, Dunn went to second, while Brockhoff and Gass scored. Dunn scored a moment later on a wild pitch and Brown and Spidel conspired to put the side out.

In the first half of the third inning the Dayton boys got back at the Indians, with three runs, and from then on the game was a see-saw for the mastery.

In the second half of the fifth Brockhoff made the long hit of the day. Stevenson has a habit of being kind to the boys and losing them easy ones once in a while. He tossed Brockhoff one and that little lad walked out to meet it and when the ball hit again it was against the fence, while the heavy hitter was resting on the third cushion.

Donovan and Hartman made the two sensational plays of the game. It looked like a conspiracy to win the grand stand when it was over, and the argument would perhaps hold good had there been enough people in the stand to win, but as the crowd was so small as to be almost invisible, the plays were perhaps unpremeditated and the chance of the game. In the last half of the eighth Hartman sent a bullet over Donovan's head at short. That is, he intended it to go over, but Donovan, by a long leap in the air, nailed it with one hand and retired the man. It was a pretty stop and won applause from all.

Hartman was more piggy with his honors and made a double play that ended the game, all by himself, with the unintentional assistance of Donovan. The Dayton short stop was at bat and sent one out over the first bag that would have given an armor plate bad dreams, but Hartman got his mitt out and jumped on the sack before Lougheed could get back from his lead off, thus ending the game with seven long marks to Pendleton's credit and five on the visitors' side of the board.
