

Why Pay as Much

for an inferior beer?

Schlitz beer costs twice what common beer costs in the brewing. One-half pays for the product; the other half for its purity.

One-half is spent in cleanliness, in filtering even the air that touches it, in filtering the beer, in sterilizing every bottle. And it pays the cost of aging the beer for months before we deliver it.

If you ask for Schlitz you get purity and age, you pay no more than beer costs without them.

WEEKLY FASHION LETTER.

New York, June 6.—Though one had the gift of prophecy it would fall when it came to predicting the future of fashions. No longer than a month ago everyone was confident that the summer gown to be ultra-smart must be swathed in billowy ruffles of lace and chiffon; now, while such a condition still obtains, it has just been decreed that the simplest designed frocks will be awarded a high degree of elegance.

If in doubt buy an organdie. This is the slogan of the woman who is seeking new conquests in dress. And this idea might be supplemented with another—if you can afford it buy two organdies and have one pure white and the other figured in some delightful little floral design.

The newest effects are both figured and barred with crosswise striped with serrated edges, making an extremely pretty pattern. The fabrics are in great demand for dresses to be worn at dinner parties at the smart hotels and restaurants, for it is not the fashion in Gotham to dine at home in warm weather even if one stays in town until rather late in the season.

A striking design noticed a few days ago had a particularly long skirt which was very full at the bottom and simply finished with a deep hem. It was rather scant at the top, except directly in the back, where it was gathered a bit to give enough fullness.

The bodice was laid in tucks which ran round and round the figure as far as the yoke which formed of tiny vertical tucks. Two rows of fagoting joined the bodice and yoke. The sleeves were tucked at the top and again at the wrist to take in the fullness customarily gathered into a wristband. The effect was very pretty and afforded variety from the regulation cuff.

Although the gown was made of expensive organdie it could easily be duplicated in a 2½-cent lawn or dimity for less than two dollars, provided the wearer does her own dressmaking.

Many women who are afraid to trust their cutting and fitting to their own skill, but are otherwise handy with the needle, find it advantageous to call in an accomplished dressmaker for three or four days, to cut and fit several dresses then finishes them herself. This plan is both wise and satisfactory, for even though many of the styles are apparently simple, they require a master hand to bring out their full beauty and artistic effect.

Was hChiffon Is Very Popular.
Wash chiffon is the name of a fabric that is very popular just now. It combines a wonderful sheen and softness with fairly good wearing qualities. A design somewhat more elaborate than the organdie dresses just described is trimmed with tiny little tucks and narrow Valenciennes lace insertion. The bodice fits loosely all over and is mainly composed of the chiffon with a square yoke of the tiny tucks and insertion across the shoulders, coming around to the front and curving down the center about six or eight inches wide.

The sleeves are topped with the insertion and lace, with the chiffon falling loosely from the center of the arm. The collar is of the open lace and tucks, with a touch of blue ribbon around the top of a big illusion chou in the back.

Yoke effects are so generally worn that the bodice may be varied by

Suffered Eight Months

I can heartily recommend Acker's Tablets for dyspepsia and stomach troubles. I have been suffering for eight months and tried many remedies without relief, until I got Acker's Dyspepsia Tablets, which I used only a short time and am now perfectly well. Thanking you for the speedy recovery, I am gratefully yours, Francis I. Gannon, Vancouver, Wash. Send to W. H. Hooker & Co., Buffalo, N. Y., for a free trial package. (Nothing like them.) F. W. tucking from the neck to the bust line in graduated effect and allowing the tucks to end far enough away from the belt to form the blouse effect at the front. Over this lace insertion may be draped in fanciful design, either in lovers' knots or floral effect.

A sash of wide blue taffeta ribbon makes a charming waist finish. Instead of being tied in a bow it is caught with a large decorative buckle and the ends allowed to fall over the skirt to its very edge.

A prettier skirt than the one designed for the bodice in question, has a yoke of insertion and tucks crossing over the hips and curving down the center of the front to where a deep flounce of the lace and tucks fall very full and long over the feet.

Finishing the toilette is a fascinating hat of fine white straw, turning up somewhat at the side, with white crushed roses and leaves on the side and a high crown almost entirely covered with pale blue ribbon, finished at one side by two or three small cockades with a pearl buckle in their center.

Colored Pongee Smart and Effective.

While it is a difficult matter to find a colored pongee gown that does not fade easily, the fabric is, nevertheless, very smart and effective. Its very delicateness makes it a favorite. Red pongees are chic and in great demand, but will require a good day's search to secure a pretty red. The fact that the color is scientifically considered, suggestive of heat makes no difference to the woman of fashion. Other shades that vie with red for popular favor are pale green, pale silver grey, blue in many shades and an exceedingly pretty shade of brown known as Du Barry. The last named, however, can not be worn by everyone because it requires a perfect complexion.

Appropos of ultra-smart tints, grey is to lead the van for boots and shoes. Considering that grey hats and gowns have already proved their right to share in every well-dressed woman's wardrobe this season, it is in good taste. A combination of grey buckskin and patent leather is one of the most successful of the novel schemes and there are some very dainty and effective walking shoes in this style with Louis quize heels for light wear.

Buckles are used more than ever and we are gradually beginning to consider that nothing is too extravagant a sum to pay for them.

Elaborate bending is out of date, even for evening slippers and the smartest full dress shoes are being treated to very scanty decoration. Everybody is going in for foot-exercises and in compliment to the pretty outlines that already are and are expected to be, if constant training counts for anything, simple footgear for evening that allows a view of these curvatures will be comme il faut.

A pongee frock that is suitable for almost any occasion is of silver grey tint. Over the shoulders both back and front, it is arranged in tiny tucks straight across, about five inches deep. From this come four deep tucks running vertically round the figure. These come to the waistline, hanging round the figure rather loose, with an orange ribbon belt encircling the waist caught in front by a fancy buckle.

The sleeves are tucked above the elbow where they fall full, with three deep tucks above the cuff at the wrist. A tucked collar is worn around the neck.

The skirt is tucked and stitched to the knees where it branches into a flare which falls very full around the feet. A very flat grey hat trimmed with grey plumes and rosettes of lace and orange colored panne complete the costume.

Sandalwood Perfumed Water.
For the benefit of the woman who is as particular about her perfume as about her gown, it might be interesting to know that a new toilet water known as sandalwood is dainty and refreshing; it is individual without being pungent and no production in recent years has proved more refreshing and delightful.

Violet, of course, remains the favorite extract and will probably never lose favor. It has received the cachet of the social world and is the personal fragrance of many distinguished women. Next to it come carnation pink, marguerite and cut roses, each of which is extremely delicate.

MAUDE GREENE.

The New Baby

Motherhood is woman's natural destiny—actual barrenness is rare — comforting words to childless women.

Many women are denied the happiness of children simply because of some curable derangement of the generative organs. Among the many triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is overcoming cases of supposed barrenness. Thousands of children owe their existence to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This great medicine is so well calculated to regulate every function of the generative organs that its efficiency in this respect is vouched for by multitudes of women.

Nine Years Without a Child.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—We had been married nine years and never had children, and now we have a little baby girl nineteen months old, the joy of our life. She owes her existence to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's vegetable Compound I was a constant sufferer. I had pains in my back and sides, especially before menstruation. I had doctored but received no benefit. Hearing so much about the Vegetable Compound I decided to try it, and after taking six bottles was cured."—Mrs. T. H. GOULBEY, 1223 Nevada St., East Toledo, Ohio.

Portrait of a Baby Girl Who Owes her Existence to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wrote to you some time ago asking why I could not have a child. I explained that I had displacement of the womb and ovarian trouble, and suffered with backache and headache. You sent me a nice letter in reply giving me full instructions how to treat myself, and in accordance with your directions I took your Vegetable Compound, and followed your kind advice faithfully in every respect, and now I have a little girl, the joy of our home. I never would have had my baby if it had not been for your advice and medicine.

"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough for what it has done for me. I hope other childless women will see this letter."—Mrs. JOHN UBER-LACKER, 1111 Broadway, Cleveland, Ohio.

Another Happy Case in Brooklyn.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wrote to you a year ago telling you of my troubles. I had pains in the ovaries, menses were painful, and I had never borne children.

"You answered my letter and I followed your advice. I was completely cured. Have just given birth to a fine, healthy babe, and during childbirth had a very easy time.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines are a God send to women who want to be mothers."—Mrs. SCHULTZ, 42 Luzner St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Many women whose letters we print were utterly discouraged, and life lacked all joy to them when they wrote Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., without charge of any kind. They received advice which made them strong, useful women again.

MISS IDA M. SNYDER,

Treasurer of the Brooklyn East End Art Club.

MENSTRUAL irregularities are generally the beginning of a woman's troubles. With the vitality at a low ebb, the digestion disordered, she goes about pale-faced, hollow-eyed and haggard, a piteous contrast to the blooming health of her former self. But over 1,000,000 women have found health again by taking Wine of Cardui. As a regulator of the menstrual periods Wine of Cardui has never been known to fail. It has seldom failed to restore perfect health, even in the most persistent and aggravated case of weakness.

Miss Ida M. Snyder, of No. 535 Bergen Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., has used Wine of Cardui and she says it helped her into a new life. Health to Miss Snyder is worth a great deal. She is an attractive young woman with intellectual attainments and she occupies the position of Treasurer of the Brooklyn East End Art Club. This position marks her as a person of intellect, culture and refinement and it speaks highly of the respect and trust her fellow women have in her. She writes:

"If women would pay more attention to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would use more intelligence in the matter of medicines, observing results, they would find that the doctors' prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for.

"In consulting with my druggist he advised McElree's Wine of Cardui and Theodor's Black-Draught, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."

You may secure the same relief as Miss Snyder, if you take Wine of Cardui as she took it. Theodor's Black-Draught is the companion medicine of Wine of Cardui and it is a liver and bowel regulator which assists greatly in effecting a cure. If you take these medicines according to directions, the relief and cure is simple. Some cases are cured quickly and others take longer because the disease has run longer. Remember how Miss Snyder took Wine of Cardui and has health. The same medicines are offered you to-day.

WINE of CARDUI A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui.
