POSTMASTER-GENERAL AN EXPERT TEAM PLAYER.
Has the Art of "Fixing" the Negro Vote Down Fine—Does it With a Full Knowledge That Roosevelt Cannot Carry a Southern State.
Our postmaster general plays the political game as an expert, say Collier's. Among the statesmen who care little for principles and everything for tricks, he is a master. Through lobbying he gained position and through dexterity he makes himself useful. Useful, that is, to his party. A negro proves unwelcome to the white people as rural mail carrier. Does Mr. Payne keep quiet or use any kind of tact? Not he. His answer is prompt for the next morning's press. Does he know or care how a Southerner feels, when he is away all day, leaving his wife alone far from any other house? No. He takes a "strong stand." He gives a wave of the bloody shirt. He furnishes an interview intended to envenom race feeling and increase Southern suffering. "There are only two courses left open for the department," says he. "We must either suspend the rural free delivery service in those districts where the white people object to negro carriers, or we must send United States soldiers to protect these carriers in the performance of their duties." What is the cause of this wanton defiance and stirring of bad blood? Mr. Payne is a devoted supporter of Mr. Roosevelt. He has the doubtful merit of "team play." Mr. Hanna made Mr. McKinley's first nomination certain by "fixing" the Southern delegates to the republican

MISS MONIE BOWEY,
No. 38 Perry Street, DETROIT, MICHIGAN.
A couple of winters ago I slipped on a frozen sidewalk and fell flat on my back. On being examined I found that I had sustained internal injuries which laid me up for more than two months. After that I noticed that I had pains in the back and groin which I never had before. I doctored and doctored for several months but as the pains increased instead of growing better I decided that I was not having the right treatment. Reading in the papers of the wonderful cures performed by Wine of Cardui I wrote to one of the parties and received a very satisfactory reply and I immediately sent for some. In a very short time I felt generally better and after seven weeks faithful use I was once more well and strong. I have never had a sick hour since and I daily bless your splendid medicine.
MONIE BOWEY.
WINE OF CARDUI is one medicine that should always be kept on hand in every home for immediate use when female weakness first makes its appearance. Miss BoweY's painful and dangerous accident would not have resulted so seriously had she taken Wine of Cardui promptly.
Your druggist will sell you a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui. Secure the medicine today. Take it in the privacy of your home. Relief will come to you as surely as you take it.
Wine of Cardui makes women more womanly by curing their weakness and making them stronger. Wine of Cardui cured Miss BoweY. A medicine for all women in every trying period of their lives can you think of a better medicine for yourself, your sister, your daughter or your mother? Can you think of a more acceptable present to give your friend than a bottle of this medicine which will bring her health and happiness? You are suffering? Your duty is to rid yourself of this pain. If your daughter, mother, sister or friend is sick and in need of relief, your duty is equally great to them. Many women, now well, owe their lives to friends who brought them Wine of Cardui.
Wine of Cardui is adapted to women at any age in any walk of life. For the working woman it gives her strength for her tasks and better treatment than a doctor for very small cost.
A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui.

convention. Those delegates are chosen by negroes. Mr. Payne now intends to have them solid for Mr. Roosevelt and thus prevent any possible hitch in the schemes for 1904. The vote of the Southern states in the election is a negligible quantity. The republican candidate will not carry one of them. Therefore, if Mr. Payne can make the negroes enthusiastic he gains delegates and loses nothing. Moreover, the negro vote is over 50,000 in New York, and of about equal relative importance in such other doubtful states as Indiana, New Jersey and Connecticut. Now Mr. Roosevelt's record thus far amply deserves renomination and re-election, but he could get them without the aid of such a cabinet officer as Mr. Payne.
Political "Team Play."
"Team play" is a phrase which has magic on the inside of politics. It is often the expression by which a man is led to give up his convictions. Conformity may be a virtue. In our actual conditions it is more likely to be a vice. It is so easy for any crowd which gets into office, even though it be reformers in silk stockings, to relax their standards and to appeal to "team play" if one of their number wishes to pursue a stricter course. To keep a happy balance of reasonable conformity and personal integrity is so difficult in politics that superior men have declined office for that reason. A French historian and philosopher, in refusing to enter public life, said that successful political action was impossible without some yielding of the truth. What gave Washington his greatness as a president—and he was the greatest administrator of that office we have had—was his ability to admit practical considerations without slackening his purposes or lowering his standards. In choosing the men who should hold office, he not only demanded ability and integrity, but a public career which had proved those qualities to the world. Under our present system, with "harmony" and party so much emphasized, public office often means a crumbling of high purpose. No appeal is now stronger, with a good-humored man, than the social appeal, the appeal to work harmoniously with his friends, even if they have their human weaknesses. The present district attorney of St. Louis is sending to jail the men who helped to put him in office. That is better than "team play." If Mr. Roosevelt felt strong enough to remove the two or three men to whom he has given high offices for merely party reasons, that would be better than "team play" also.

DEATH OF AN OLD-TIMER.
William Burnham, a '49er, Dies at Baker City.
Baker City, June 10.—William L. Burnham, of California, argonaut and Eastern Oregon pioneer, died last evening at St. Elizabeth's hospital. He was aged 69 years and death resulted from pneumonia.
He made three fortunes and died without a penny, having literally given his money away. In the olden days of placer mining he found a band of stranded and hungry miners at The Dalles and chartered a boat and took them to Portland.
He was connected with Bonta in a plan to build an electric road from Baker City to Burns.

The Creation of the Blue Mountain Reserve Will Result in Less Friction Between Stockmen.
The usual summer quarrels over grass in the mountains of Grant county will be materially reduced this season, as a result of the range being largely covered by the Blue Mountain reserve, according to T. A. Rhea, a prominent stockman of Heppner. Mr. Rhea is in Portland on business, and says that grazing of sheep is to be permitted as formerly, but under restrictions.

BYERS' FRIEND "JOLLIED" HIM.
How Milton Man Mistook Union for Marriage Mill.
Dusty and tired, after a ride from Milton, B. J. Byers walked into the Union office last evening and inquired if a marriage license could be had there, says the Walla Walla Union. He said that he was anxious to get married, had everything settled with his sweetheart, Miss Lizzie Stewart, of Milton, and all he needed was the consent of the law.
When asked why he came to a newspaper office to get a marriage license Mr. Byers said:
"Jim Foster, a friend of mine in this city, told me to come to the Union office if I could not get into the county auditor's office. That is why I'm here."
It appears Byers thought the county offices remained open till late Saturday nights, consequently he did not try to reach the city till after the heat of the day had passed.
He was told that the Union office was not a branch of the county auditor's department and thanking his informant he stepped into the street a sadder, wiser man.
