

You Want Both

When you try on a pair of shoes look for two things—"Comfort" and "Style." You must have them both; either one by itself is not enough.

Our whole stock is purchased with these two things in view and it is the largest and most complete in Pendleton from a heavy brogan to the finest French kid boot and they all have that wearing quality found only in a carefully selected stock.

Powdered Daintiness

You never saw a foot powder like ours. It is taking the town by storm. There is just one word in the dictionary to describe it. That word is "dainty."

Tallman's Foot Powder

is unequalled for sore, blistered, itching and sweaty feet. It keeps the shoes dry, sweet and wholesome these hot, sultry days.

The harvest man needs it, the business man needs it, you need it and everyone needs it.

Be sure you get Tallman's.

Accept no other.

Fred Wiggins, one of Salem's prominent merchants, stopped off in the city today for a few minutes to shake hands with friends here. Mr. Wiggins is just returning from a seven weeks' trip in the East, and has had all kinds of adventures with the floods of the Middle States.

PREACHER POLITICIAN.

Reminiscence of Career of Bishop Barkley in the Legislature.

Henry L. Barkley, the silver-tongued orator of the Willamette valley, passed through the city this morning on his way home to Portland. Mr. Barkley is the bishop of the United Brethren denomination, and is at present living in Portland, though his home is in Woodburn. In 1895 the reverend gentleman turned the legislature to McBride from Dolph in the senatorial fight, and in conjunction with "brother Hofer" of the Salem Journal, led the immortal 30 that led victory into the arms of the free silver wing of the republican party. In that campaign Mr. Barkley furnished the eloquence and the editor, as usual, furnished the long-winded arguments that held back votes and won the fight.

The bishop says he has gone out of politics and only visits the camp long enough to vote at the present time, but he intimates that should there come a time when his services are needed for the good of his party he would lay aside the vestments of the church for a season and gird on the harness of his party for the good of the cause and the saving of the state.

RAIN WAS GENERAL.

Eastern Washington and Oregon Thoroughly Soaked.

The trying situation which has confronted farmers of the Inland Empire the past six days is a thing of the past, says the Walla Walla Statesman. Thirsty crops over the entire county have been wetted with rain from a quarter to an inch in depth. A telephone message from Eureka at 2 o'clock this afternoon stated that rain commenced falling at that place at 1:15 this afternoon and steadily poured down for a half hour. Heavy clouds hang all over the flat and indications are that another heavy shower will occur tonight.

The upper flat and Prescott country, which was greatly in need of rain, was visited by a heavy shower and in the Dixie country a half inch fell today. The Dixie district was also visited by a heavy shower last night, which relieved the situation there. The rain today practically assures the wheat crop in this district a dozen miles long by nearly as many wide.

A VERY PLEASANT AFFAIR.

Mrs. Sturgis Entertains in Honor of a Tacoma Friend.

Mrs. Lina B. Sturgis entertained a party of friends at her home on Water street, Tuesday evening, in honor of her friend, Miss Grace Redman, of Tacoma. Anagrams and various other games were played during the evening, and several selections were rendered on the piano by Mr. William Sturgis. The evening's entertainment was concluded with the Virginia reel.

MISS THOMPSON ENTERTAINS.

Those Attending Were Members of a Social Club That Met During the Winter.

On Tuesday evening Miss Edna Thompson gave a dinner in honor of Miss Mabel Nye. The tables were very prettily decorated with carnations and smilax, and the evening passed quickly with toasts and merry tales to help the hours along.

Those present were the members of a club which met during the winter months at the homes of those belonging.

MISS DAVIS ENTERTAINS.

Congregational Christian Endeavor Spends a Pleasant Evening.

Miss Florence Davis entertained the members of the Christian Endeavor society of the Congregational church at the home of her mother, Mrs. W. C. Davis, on Williams street, on the evening of Thursday last. Luncheon was served at 11 o'clock, and the evening was passed with singing, games and recitations.

PICNIC PARTY ON THE RIVER.

One of the Very Pleasant Affairs of the Season.

A merry picnic party spent Sunday in a shady grove some miles up the river. It was a farewell gathering in a sense, and the time passed all too swiftly to the hour of return.

Those composing the party were: Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Therkelson, Mrs. William Shultz, Misses Mabel Nye, Eva Switzler and Grace Redman, of Tacoma; Messrs. Jerry Clark, Lachlean Macleay, William Sturgis and Clark Shultz.

Nye-Macleay.

On Wednesday evening of this week, the most beautiful and impressive church wedding ever solemnized in Pendleton occurred at the Church of the Redeemer, when Miss Mabel Nye of this city was given in marriage to Mr. Lachlean Macleay of Olympia.

Miss Nye is one of Pendleton's native daughters and has long been identified with the social life of the city, in which circle she is an acknowledged leader and favorite. The large auditorium of the church was very beautifully decorated with roses, murguerites and ferns. The color scheme was in green and white and the delicate white roses and murguerites were banked among the ferns in a way most artistic and pleasing.

The bridal party entered to the strains of the Lohengren Wedding March, played by Miss Jessie Hartman. The bride's party entered the church from the main entrance and proceeded down the center aisle.

The procession was led by the ushers, Elmer P. Dodd and Fred W. Lampkin, in full dress, followed by Miss Eva Switzler, of Walla Walla, the maid of honor. Immediately behind the maid of honor were the bridesmaids, Miss Nellie Cameron and Miss Edna Thompson. Closing the party was the bride, Miss Nye, on the arm of her father, A. W. Nye. The bride was met at the chancel rail by the groom, Mr. Macleay, supported by his best man, Jerry Clark, they having come from the side entrance, and preceded the bridal party to the altar where the groom awaited them.

Amid the strains of Chopin's sublime "Nocturne," Rev. W. E. Potwine pronounced the words which, in accordance with the impressive and inspiring marriage ritual of the Episcopal church, bound Miss Nye to Mr. Macleay, in the indissoluble bonds of holy wedlock. After the pronouncement of the ceremony the party passed out of the church to the accompaniment of Mendelssohn's "Recessional."

The bride wore a charming costume of white organdie over white taffeta silk, with veil to match, and carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses.

Miss Switzler was gowned in white mull over pale blue silk and the bridesmaids, Misses Cameron and Thompson, wore exquisite costumes of pale blue organdie with white picture hats.

The groom and his support were dressed in the usual full evening dress.

The home of the bride's parents was lavishly decorated in honor of the event and to this hower of flowers, the friends of the bride and her intimate family repaired after the ceremony.

The reception room was decorated in pink and green, while in the dining room the walls were festooned with garlands and streamers of red roses banked on green.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Nye, the parents of the bride, gathered in the home until half past ten, to offer their congratulations and well wishes and following them the young friends of the bride and groom, came to take possession of the house until the train should bear Mr. and Mrs. Macleay from them on their wedding journey.

A large number of very beautiful and costly presents were received by Mr. and Mrs. Macleay, and hosts of friends and well wishers sent messages of good will.

Mrs. E. L. Lowell, of Portland, and Miss Kate Elmer, of Spokane, presided at the punch bowl, while Mrs. Frank Sharpstein, of Walla Walla, and Mrs. W. C. Shultz served the ices. The servers were assisted by Misses Blanche Shultz, of Spokane, Fanchon Borie, Blanche Horn, Bess Duncan, Lavelle Moorhouse, Esma Sawtelle and Dena Hendley, of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Macleay left on the early morning train for an extended wedding journey. They were met at the train by a numerous crowd of their friends, who showered them with the customary rice and rose-leaves. Mr. and Mrs. Macleay will travel several weeks before returning to the city.

Among their numerous friends in attendance from out of town were: Mrs. Edwin Lowell, Mrs. Jacob Proebstel, and Mrs. John Rowland, of Portland; Mrs. Daniel Shultz, Miss Blanche Shultz, Mrs. William P. Shultz, Clark Shultz, Mrs. W. W. Elmer, Miss Kate Elmer, of Spokane; Mrs. Arthur J. Dillon, of Meadows; Mrs. Mack Gase, of Pomeroy; Mrs. John Switzler, Mrs. Frank Sharpstein, Miss Eva Switzler, Mr. George Williams, of Walla Walla; Mr. Proel and Jerry Clark, of Portland; W. H. Switzler, of Walla Walla, and Mrs. Dillon and son, Arthur, of Echo.

Mrs. Tallman Gave a Dinner.

On Thursday evening Mrs. Joseph V. Tallman gave a dinner in honor of her sister, Miss Elsie Folsom, who is soon to be married. The hostess was assisted by Miss Bess Duncan and Miss Georgia Folsom.

In Honor of Miss Anna Rinehart.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Wade entertained a large number of the young peo-
