C. R. DUTTON'S
Trib—Notice—Trib

The people of Pendleton are respectfully asked to fully investigate Trib, the world's greatest cure for the liquor and tobacco habits, and to anyone in need of a cure we say truthfully, Trib is an honest, positive cure.
You do not use Trib in your coffee;
you can't give it that way; but be sensible and take it for either of these habits the same as you would a remedy for any other disease. Here is a reference from a man well known in Pendleton. Read it. We have many more.

J. W. Daugherty writes on May 14,
1903: To whom it may concern:—
I wish to say I completed a cure with Trib in February, and have had no desire to drink since. It will also cure the tobacco habit. I had a harder time to learn to smoke after taking Trib than when I first learned to smoke. I am quite well known in Baker City, La Grande, Sumpter and Pendleton and anyone wishing to stop using either liquor or tobacco, I would recommend them to take Trib.
Price $12.50. For sale by all druggists.

PLANT DIGESTION

THIS FUNCTION IS NOT EXCLUSIVELY ANIMAL.

It is Duplicated in Every Detail in the Vegetable Kingdom Its Exercise Depends in Both Cases Upon Whether Anything is Given it to Work Upon.

You may smile at the idea of plants digesting their food, but they do, and wise men have discovered that every part of our elaborate and complex digestive system is duplicated.

HERE AT HOME.

Pendleton Citizens Gladly Testify.
It is testimony like the following that has placed "the old Quaker Remedy" so far above competitors. When people right here at home raise their voice in praise there is no room left for doubt. Read the public statement of a Pendleton citizen.
Charles W. Beale, expressman, living at 306 West Tustin street, corner of Aura street, and well known to every resident of Pendleton, says: "For four years past I have been troubled with kidney disorders, caused, I think, by heavy lifting required by my occupation. The strain was such that I was unable to stoop or rise again without pain and effort. The kidney secretions were irregular, especially at night and caused me much annoyance. When I first heard of Doan's Kidney Pills I decided to try them and got a box at Brock & McComas' drug store. They have relieved me to a very great extent, both as to the backache and the urinary trouble, and I have the greatest confidence in them."
Price 50 cents per box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. For sale by all dealers.

In every detail in the stomachs of our vegetable cousins. No less distinguished authorities than Professor Marshall Ward and Pentland Smith have discovered a vigorous starch-digesting or diastatic process in the grains of the familiar maize and the tubers of the lowly potato. In both cases so soon as the bud or shoot begins to develop it secretes a ferment that attacks the starch of the mass and changes it into sugar for absorption by its cells.

Indian Corn Digestion.
Not only can this wretched cereal do with ease what our salivary glands and pancreas strain themselves red in the face over, but it also performs another feat that our elaborate human digestive apparatus is utterly incapable of, that of dissolving or "peptonizing" cellulose or woody fibre.

The starch needed by the shoot for conversion is enclosed in cells with firm walls of cellulose, and these must be eaten through before it can be acted upon by the diastatic ferment. Accordingly another ferment is secreted that dissolves cellulose, as our pepsin does proteids.

Of the helplessness of our own ferment in the presence of cellulose we have all had personal and painful demonstration in the extraordinary vacarities indulged in by the festive cucumber and the frugal raw turnip when introduced into our unsuspecting and defenseless interior.

In fact, the peptonizing power of the vegetable ferment is so much greater than that of the animal that, as we see daily, the papayotin of the pineapple, the pawpaw and other fruits are becoming rivals of the porcine product.

Vegetables Meat Eaters.
Certain other plants display even more strikingly human characteristics in that they have actually become meat eaters and meat digesters. It has long been known that a large family of flowering plants, of which the sun dew and Venus flytrap are familiar examples, secrete upon the surface of their leaves a thick, sticky juice, which in the former simply entangles insects, and the latter attracts and holds them till they can be actually seized by the halves of the leaves closing upon them trap fashion.

Whether these were utilized in the nutrition of the plant was, however, an open question until quite recently, when a series of analyses of this viscid secretion was made, and it was found to contain both a peptic ferment and an acid, which together rapidly dissolved all the soft tissues of the insects, leaving only the wings and hard cuticular casing of the body and limbs.

And what makes the resemblance to our own gastric processes most striking is that neither the acid nor the ferment is present in any quantity in the resting condition of the leaf, but both are poured out as soon as nitrogenous matter is placed upon the surface.
