SERVICES OF PENDLETON
PEOPLE ARE APPRECIATED.

Only Close and Personal Investigation Discloses the Extent of the Suffering and Fact That There Must Be Much More Contributed to Meet the Legitimate Wants of the People.

George K. Rogers, state organizer of the Woodmen of the World, dropped off in Pendleton for a few hours today, en route to Baker City. Mr. Rogers comes direct from Heppner, where he has been doing relief work among the stricken members of the Woodmen and has been completing proofs of death in order that the insurance moneys may be paid with the utmost promptness. When requested for a statement of conditions as he viewed them, Mr. Rogers said: "First and foremost, let me say that while help in money and supplies have been generous indeed, yet let no one get the idea that the pressing, urgent necessities of the people have been relieved. Far from it. I honestly believe were the contributions doubled tomorrow that every dollar and every article of food or clothing could well be used.

Try and Understand the Need.

"No language, no words, no pen, can ever give an adequate impression of the extent of that awful calamity. Even to view it by being right on the ground will give one no idea of the people's real needs. One must enter into searching investigation of the life and conditions of each individual family, as was done by our Woodmen relief committee with our members, to note carefully the work done and the calls coming to the citizens' relief committee and to talk with the health officers as to what remains to be done and done at once, in order to have any conception of what is needed.

"These people feel deeply grateful to the Pendleton people; to all the people everywhere, in fact. Just before leaving I was talking with one of our members, E. M. Shutt, secretary of the citizens' executive committee, and when I told him I would stop at Pendleton, he said, 'Be sure to tell those people that we are grateful to them beyond all words of expression. We cannot write them, simply because we have no time.' The head camp of Woodmen of the World appropriated $1,000 and Head Consul F. A. Falkenberg sent an appeal to every camp in the order. From present indications it seems possible that the Woodmen of the World will raise altogether fully $5,000. This money it should be borne in mind, is charitable contributions, in addition to insurance benefits to be paid there. "We have arranged to look after our own membership first and to turn the balance into the general relief funds.

Record of Pendleton Men.

"While I am speaking on the subject, I wish to tell you people that you should be proud of Dr. C. J. Smith, George A. Hartman, Sr., W. F. Matlock, Mayor Hailey and others who were there. Dr. Smith was acting state health officer and the way he worked and what he accomplished over there is simply remarkable.

"Out in the heat and dust and dirt, filth and debris, with his coat off from early morning till late into the night, working like a Trojan, he surely proved himself the right man in the right place. He has made a record for himself that is a credit to Pendleton and to our order, for I am proud that he is a Woodman. What is true of Dr. Smith is equally true of the others. Mr. Hartman has charge of the army of workmen and his management of the herculean work which is in his charge is just simply wonderful.

"I want also to speak of the good work which John E. Lathrop, formerly of the East Oregonian, is doing. Lathrop's vividly descriptive pen, I honestly believe has given a truer idea of the situation and influenced more donations than any other agency. He has established headquarters right with the executive committee, and is keeping in close touch with every detail of the work, as well as personally assisting and looking into every want of the people. By mail and by wire he is sending out to the country the details of the awful conditions there, and is too, working unceasingly in personally ministering to the needs of the afflicted. John Lathrop is proving to be the big-hearted fellow we all thought him.

"As I came out I met Mrs. Van Orsdall, Mrs. Ada Ross and Miss Bertha Sumner, of the Women of Woodcraft, going in. That order's grand body has also appropriated $1,000 for aid of their membership and others. Other orders are responding grandly, and there was never a time in my life when I was so proud of our fraternal organizations as I am today.

"So while the work is growing grandly forward, yet let no one be carried away with the idea that enough for urgent, pressing necessities has been done, for too much cannot be done. More men to help in cleaning up the city and wreckage are needed and needed at once.

"The town of Lexington, which seems to have been overlooked, because of no deaths there, needs much help and needs it right away, in order to prevent an epidemic in that place. "But altogether, a magnificent, noble work has been done and I am convinced that all our people need is to know that the half has never yet been told in order to continue unwearied in well doing, till all danger of sickness is removed and all cases of immediate destitution relieved."

Relief Car Broken Open.

The attempted vandalism of hoboes who broke into a relief car containing supplies for Heppner, was one of the worst displays of human meanness in connection with the disaster, says The Dalles Chronicle. The would-be robbery occurred at Heppner Junction, where cars from Waverly, Fairfield and Tekoa and one or two other points were on the Heppner branch waiting delivery. The men were seen breaking in, but escaped by prompt disappearance as two or three armed men made for the car. A bunch of 30 or 40 waiting passengers were ready to throw the hoboes into the Columbia if caught.
