

FENCE LAW

POINTS OF EASTERN OREGON COUNTIES PROVIDED FOR.

Fence for All Counties East of Cascade Mountains Must Conform to the Following Descriptions and Dimensions.

The range question is foremost among subjects in Eastern Oregon and more fence is being built each year, it is very important that people making permanent settlements, should know just what constitutes a legal fence.

The last legislature passed a special law governing this matter east of the Cascade mountains. In order for residents of this part of Oregon to know how to comply with the law in force, the entire fence law applying to all counties east of the Cascades is printed below:

Section 1. That Section 4345 of Beilby and Cotton's Code and Statutes of Oregon be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

4345. All wire fences in any of the counties east of the Cascade mountains in this state shall be constructed in the following manner: They shall have posts 6 1/2 feet in length, not less than four inches in diameter, made of sound lumber; such posts shall be set in the ground two feet apart, and shall be not further than 32 feet apart; there shall not be fewer than three wires of the kind in common use stretched from post to post; the lower wire shall be two feet from the ground, the second 15 inches from the lower, and the upper one 18 inches from the second one.

All wires shall be fastened to the posts securely in the customary manner and at the distance of eight feet from each of said posts, and at every eight feet from each other throughout the entire length of such fences, there shall be poles, or false posts, set upon the ground, 4 1/2 feet in height, to which the wires of such fences shall be securely fastened.

Provided, that a pole not less than 4 inches thick at the small end, or not less than one inch thick by inches wide, affixed to posts as herein provided, but not more than 16 feet apart, may take the place of the middle wire and false posts.

Sec. 4342. The following shall constitute a lawful fence: All fences, except where otherwise provided, shall be less than four feet, six inches high from the surface of the ground, and of the same shall be constructed as follows:

1. Rails and poles laid up in the manner commonly known as worm fence, with stakes and riders, or in any other manner, to have the corners locked with rails, posts or poles;

2. Posts and rails, with space between the rails, and between the rails of the ground, not exceeding 10 inches wide below, two feet, six inches high, and not to exceed 12 inches in any place, the rails to be attached to the posts by nails, spikes, pins, or in any other manner, if strong and secure; the posts to be firmly set in the ground, not more than 10 feet apart from each other, and be not less than four feet, six inches high from the ground.

3. Posts and poles, posts and planks constructed in the manner required by subdivision 2 of this section, as to length and setting of posts; and the same is constructed of posts and planks, the plank to be not less than six inches wide and one inch thick, and the same shall be fastened as required if posts and rails;

4. Posts and paling, or pickets or slats, constructed in the usual manner, with space not exceeding five inches;

5. Wall of stone entire, or stone with rails, poles, or earth, which, with rails, poles, plank, or earth, which taken altogether, would constitute a fence four feet, six inches high;

6. Turf and earth entire, or turf and earth, which, with rails, poles, plank, or thorn brush, would constitute a fence four feet, six inches high, with a ditch or trench on the side, at least three feet wide at the top and not less than three feet deep; Provided, that when there is a ditch or trench on the side, as before provided for, and constructed in the manner hereinbefore specified, said fence shall not be less than four feet high from the surface of the ground;

7. Posts and rails, poles, or plank, not less in size than hereinbefore specified, with posts set in the ground not more than 10 feet apart, leaning upon braces sufficiently strong to support the same, with the poles, rails, or plank, as the case may be, not less than three in number to the post; Provided, that all fences heretofore constructed which fill the requirements of this section shall be deemed lawful fences; and provided further, that all precipices, embankments, streams, lakes, ponds, or other natural obstructions, if equally secure against the trespass of any domestic animals, or shall be made so by artificial means, shall be deemed lawful fences.

P. A. McPHERSON, Supreme President.

STORY OF THE ORDER BRIEFLY TOLD

The fraternal Order of Lions is a fraternal beneficiary organization, founded by prominent and substantial citizens in the city of Portland in the latter part of 1900 and is consequently only two and a half years old. Its marvelous success is nothing more than might have been expected from a glance at the list of names comprising its founders, its officers and its directors.

Its Supreme Past President is Hon. Robert D. Inman, of Inman, Poulsen & Co., lumber manufacturers, and former state senator from Multnomah county. Its Supreme President is Mr. A. P. McPheerson, one of the best known insurance men on the Pacific Coast, who has given several years to this class of work and is thoroughly informed in all its phases. It was he who formulated the plan of this order and it is under his personal management and direction that it has attained its phenomenal success. Its Supreme Vice-President is Horace D. Randell, manager in the big department store of Lipman, Wolfe & Co., and prominent in fraternal circles for several years. Its Supreme Secretary is Hon. Alex Sweek, joint senator from Multnomah and Washington counties and former municipal judge of Portland. Ralph W. Hoyt is Supreme Treasurer, and is also cashier of the Merchants' National Bank, and was treasurer of Multnomah county for four years. Dr. H. R. Biersdorf, one of the prominent practitioners of Portland, present city health officer, and former house surgeon at St. Vincent's hospital, is Supreme Medical Director. Hon. J. M. Long, former city attorney of Portland, is Supreme Lecturer and legal adviser, while Hon. George E. Chamberlain, present governor of Oregon, is Supreme Auditor. Among the other officers and directors are John T. Wilson, auctioneer and commission merchant; Charles W. Miller, attorney at law and ex-school director of Portland; F. O. Downing, of Downing, Hopkins & Co.; E. A. Baldwin, president of the Union Printing Co.; J. H. Ackerman, state superintendent of public instruction; Charles B. Moores, Register of the United States Land Office.

These are all names in whom the people have entire confidence and besides being a guarantee of strength, stability and perpetuity, they stamp the order as a home institution, in which Oregon people should take extra pride.

The Order of Lions is organized for the purpose of associating together all acceptable white persons between the ages of 18 and 55 years for mutual improvement, social enjoyment, fraternal helpfulness and the protection of themselves and their loved ones. For convenience and the better promotion of the social and fraternal virtues, its members are organized in lodges in every locality where a sufficient number are secured to maintain such an organization, and these subordinate lodges form the gateways to the order, through which admittance is either gained or refused, in accordance with the character of the applicant.

The order issues to its members a certificate or policy guaranteeing the payment of $2,400 and $100 as a funeral benefit, at the death of the member to the beneficiary or beneficiaries named in the certificate, who must be dependents or blood relations of the member. The $2,400 is paid in pensions of $50 per month for four years or until the amount due is exhausted.

The order allows its members, in case of sickness or accident, to draw to the amount of $95 for ten weeks of any one year; or if the member becomes totally disabled, he or she is allowed to draw $95 per year; or if the member lives to the age of 70 years, he or she is allowed to begin drawing the pension of $50 per month and continue to do so until the entire certificate is exhausted, if life continues that long. If the member dies before drawing the entire amount, the remainder goes to the beneficiary. The beneficiary in all cases receives the sum that remains after deducting the amount drawn by the member during life.

The certificate just described is called a full rate certificate. The order also issues a half rate and a quarter rate certificate under which the benefits are one-half and one-fourth of the above.

The rates charged by the order are as reasonable as the dictates of safety, prudence and perpetuity will permit. For a full rate certificate they run from $1.45 per month for younger ages, to $2.50 for those of 55 years. These rates will be materially raised at the first of the year 1904, but those admitted in the meantime will remain under the old rates.

The Order of Lions is a grand Oregon product and deserves the great success it is enjoying. The supreme officers occupying pleasant quarters on the sixth floor of Chamber of Commerce, 600-607, where Supreme President MacPheerson, his assistant, Frank Davey, Supreme Secretary Sweek and a full office force will be found always prepared to do business for you or to make a social visit pleasant to the caller.

Performances will be given at 2 and 8 p. m. Norris & Rowe's big shows are nearly double the size of last season and many new features have been added, including one of the most prominent troupes of acrobats in the country. Fargo, Duke and Dutchess, the dwarf elephants, have been taught many new acts which are wonderful and the educated seals are appearing in new and novel feats of skill.

Two Siberian camels and a pair of llamas, with their numerous tricks, are performers of high class merit. These combined with the best animals that have been with the show in past years make more than an interesting entertainment.

A funny clown band and a large hippodrome track, upon which all kinds of races and Olympian games and pastimes take place, are also new, special features. A grand free street parade will be given at 11 o'clock on the morning of the exhibition at which time the entire company and over 500 animals will be seen.

Night Was Her Terror.
