BUILDING REVIVAL

LARGE NUMBER OF NEW RESIDENCES GOING UP.

All the Lumber Dealers Are Quoted as Saying That Not Only Are the Present Building Operations Extensive, But They Will Be Greatly Increased in the Next Few Months.

The new residence which has been built by J. W. Sullivan has been completed and the family are moving in. The house is on West Court and is one of the nicest residences of that part of the city. The house was built by G. I. LaDow and the lumber was furnished by the Oregon Lumber Yard.

The building industry of the city is once more on the increase, and while there are many houses now in course of construction, there will be more this fall. During the recent time here when the labor condition was unsettled and it was not known what would be the outcome of the matter, many of those who were contemplating building put it off until a more reasonable time, and now that things are all serene once more, they are getting ready to go ahead with the work.

The Gray's Harbor Lumber Company has furnished lumber for several houses of late and some of them are nearly completed. Three of the houses are in the west end of the city, and all of them are modern houses and desirable additions to the residences in that addition. E. Eggeoth is putting up a $1,000 cottage. E. L. Horn has nearly completed one at a cost of $2,000, and Peter Blanchow has built one for $1,500.

The Oregon Lumber Yard has furnished lumber for six places so far and has more orders coming as soon as the plans are drawn for the buildings in contemplation. In fact, the two yards are having a hard time to keep up with the orders they receive, so great are the demands made upon their stock by the contractors of the city.

Lee Cohen is constructing a large house on the other side of the river which, when completed, will be one of the finest residences in the city. Yates and Ellstrom are the contractors. These same men have the contract for the work on the Bowlsby residence, which will be one of the large places of the city when completed. They are also at work on the repairs to the residence of Marsual Schoer, which are extensive and will entirely change the appearance of the house when done.

Dr. J. L. Miller is having a house built, also by Contractor Harry Bixby, and this will be one of Pendleton's fine residences when all of the work has been finished.

The carpenter work on the Reusch brewery plant is now on also, and will be completed as fast as the masons are out of the way. Tom Means is the contractor, and will push the work as fast as possible.

From the statements of W. J. Sewell, of the Gray's Harbor Lumber Company, and of John A. Borie, of the Oregon Lumber Yard, the two principal millmen of the city, it would seem that Pendleton is on the verge of a revival in the building business and that the fall months would see a large number of residences spring up in the various parts of the city. The demand for lumber from these two yards is growing daily, showing that the desire to build is on the increase in Pendleton and vicinity.

BOISE CITY ELECTION.

Democratic Mayor Wins Out After a Very Warm Municipal Campaign.
Boise, July 15.—J. H. Hawley, democratic and Union candidate for mayor, was elected yesterday, after a very quiet and orderly campaign. The election passed off without any incident worthy of mention.
The vote was light, only 262 votes being cast for mayor.
Out of 12 councilmen elected, 10 are republicans. The socialist vote was not 50 per cent of that cast at the last state election, but the fact is accounted for by the union of all the law and order forces irrespective of party, municipal issues taking precedence over all political lines.

OLYMPIA HARBOR.

Work Will Immediately Begin Upon its Improvement.

Olympia, Wash., July 15.—Tomorrow the big government dredge will be here and begin work on the improvements in the Olympia harbor, for which the last congress appropriated $25,000. The plans for the work were made by Captain Harry Taylor, formerly in charge of government work on Puget Sound. Major John Mills, of Seattle, successor to Captain Taylor will direct the work, which consists largely in deepening and widening the channel and basin in the harbor. The Puget Sound Dredging Company has the contract for the expenditure of approximately $17,000, which will leave an unexpended balance of about $8,000, which will undoubtedly be used in the same manner.

Evaded the Duty.

San Francisco, July 15.—Captain Harris, U. S. A., paid a fine of $100 for bringing in dutiable goods on a transport without declaring them.

OREGON MILITIA

HOW WILL THE NATIONAL GUARD BE REORGANIZED.

Portland May Lose Regimental Headquarters—Voting Strength of the State About Equally Divided for and Against Portland.

National guardsmen are at sea regarding the reorganization of the military forces of the state, says the Oregonian. While it is probable new officers will be selected to head the Third Infantry, the probable action of the regimental officers whose votes will decide the question has not yet been foreshadowed. The decision that reorganization had to come has been made so recently that the officers have not yet had time to thoroughly canvass the situation.

Among the members of the six companies stationed in Portland there is a strong feeling that some Portland man should be elected colonel of the Third Infantry. Unless such an officer is elected from this city, the regimental headquarters will be removed to some other point in the state, and this is something the guardsmen in Portland are anxious to avoid if possible.

If the officers of the six Portland companies can agree upon a course of action, they will be able to hold the regimental headquarters. Half of the voting strength of the regiment is represented by the Portland companies, and without Portland votes no candidate could be elected. It is felt by the guardsmen that the other members of the regiment would be willing to concede Portland the headquarters, provided a colonel could be elected who was generally satisfactory to the regiment and the other regimental officers were distributed fairly throughout the state.

The difficulty in selecting a new colonel is that the reorganization scatters the companies of the Third Infantry all over the state, and it will require a great deal of the colonel's time to administer the affairs of the regiment. There are not many active guardsmen in the city engaged in business who can readily give up the time necessary to look after the welfare of the regiment, and until the officers whose ballots are to elect the new regimental officers have solved this problem, the attitude of the Portland guardsmen will be uncertain.

There is a reasonable certainty that the officers in the regiment will be distributed fairly throughout the state. Guardsmen feel this should be done, but the question of a fair distribution is a hard one to solve. The valley is entitled to considerable recognition, and it will be necessary to give Eastern Oregon companies some attention if an agreement can be reached among the members of the guard relative to the distribution that should be granted, the election of new officers will not be a hard matter.
