Naval Squadrons Will First Do Battle With Each Other and Afterward Make War on the Land Forces, Intrenchments, Batteries and Troops,

Washington, D. C., July 27.-Never before in the history of the United States have military maneuvers been States have military maneuvers been held on such a large and comprehen-sive scale as those which are about to begin off the coast of Maine. First, two immense fleets, comprising the flower of the American navy. combat for supremacy—one represent-ing an American squadron defending a part on the New England coast the other, an enemy attempting to capture the port, or so cluding the watchful eyes of the home fleet as to afford no opportunity to prey on the coast commerce of this country.

At the close of this so-called search problem the representative American squadron and the former enemy will combine forces under the command of Rear Admiral A. S. Barker, and ferming the largest and best equipped fleet of warships that has ever been mobilized off the coast of the United States, will swoop down upon Port-land Harbor, Maine, and will endeav-or by all means known to naval stra-or by all means known to naval strategists, to prove that the army land defenses of that important port are mable to withstand the attack of a fleet of this strength. Such are the general features of the mammoth maneuvers that have been planned under the direction of the most capabie and best known army and bavy officers of the United States.

Today the powerful North Atlantic squadron, comprising some of the most efficient fighting ships in the entire world, will rendezvous at Frenchnan's Bay, on the coast of Maine with the coast squadron, under comtrans of Rear Admiral Coghlan Next week Rear Admiral Barker, the companies of the search problem will begin the details of the problem will not be amounted until just before its begin the search problem. on August 10. Then there will end on August 10. Then there will be a reconciliation, and the squadrons will again meet in Frenchman's Bay to coal, proceeding thence to Long Island Sound for a cruise and for tactical exercises.

On August 15 a most spectacular inspection of the immense fleet will be made by the president of one Unit-S. A. REFORM PARTIES CONFER.

Attempt to Get Different Elements Into One Organization,

Denver, Col., July 27.—The pro-posed consolidation of the populists br-metallists and modern socialists, it By the Fire Insurance Com is hoped by the promoters of the panies we represent. Our movement will be cemented as an outcompanies stand first in the come of the national conference in progress here today between representative members of the organiza-tions concerned. The movement is designed to embrace all the so-called reform elements and the primary aim is to overthrow the "old parties." Bimetallism, government ownership, anti-imperialism and the initiative and referendum are some of the political tenets to be included in the ition) platform of the new party Prominent leaders whose names are mentioned in connection with the movement, some of whom are here in person, while others have sent letters embodying their views, are E. Benjamin Andrews, president of the Nebraska University: Clarence S. Darrow, of Chicago: George Fred Williams, of Massachusetts: former Governor Poynter, or Nebraska, and Edward Atkinson, of Boston, president of the Anti-Imperialist League
