THE SUEZ CANAL

FREIGHT TRAFFIC INCREASING EACH YEAR.

Number of Vessels Passing Through in 1902 3,708. Total Tonnage Over Eleven Millions—Value of Property Constantly Growing. The annual report of the Suez Canal Company for 1902 has appeared and contains, besides the figures of interest for the stockholders, valuable information with reference to the commerce of European countries with Eastern Asia, India and West and South America. The year 1900 was not a prosperous one and came only up to the average business on account of the Chinese war expeditions and business dependent on them. The year 1901 showed a large increase in traffic ($1,930,000), of which 12 per cent was on account of Russian petroleum to Eastern Asia and South America, while the high price for European coal had curtailed the English export coal trade. The additional increase of traffic in 1902 is mainly on account of return freights, a new and unexpected circumstance. The increase of European exports via the Suez canal is inconsiderable. Russian petroleum exports across the Pacific have decreased on account of large stocks in Eastern Asiatic and South African ports, while England, on account of lower prices for coal, increased its export. Return freight from the United States have increased, while those from Australia have remained unchanged. Taken as a whole the result has been a most gratifying one for the company. The total number of vessels passing through the canal during the last three years was: In 1900, 3,441 vessels (with 282,511 passengers) of which 135 were military transports; in 1901, 3,699 vessels, of which 96 were military transports; in 1902, 3,708 vessels, no military transports being mentioned. The net tonnage during the three years was: 1900 9,738,152 1901 10,823,840 1902 11,248,413 The increase from 1900 to 1902 was nine per cent in number of vessels and 15 per cent in tonnage. This large increase in tonnage is due to the larger sizes of modern-built ships, which necessitate increased expenditures for the canal. In spite of lower valuations of the canal, on account of wear and tear, the total valuation at the end of each year has increased as follows: 1900 586,700,000 1901 598,500,000 1902 593,600,000

EMPEROR'S BIRTHDAY.

Evident That China's Sovereign is No Simpleton. London, August 1.—An interesting account has reached London of the recent visit of the Chinese emperor and the empress dowager to the imperial tombs, where the unhappy monarch, who it may be mentioned in passing, will reach his thirty-first birthday tomorrow, selected the tomb in which he is to be when his time comes. The correspondent describes the emperor as looking thin and sad and very shy, while the empress, though she is well along in the seventies, appeared full of life and energy. The correspondent adds: "If the native reports be true, there are times when the emperor can speak to the point, simpleton though he is supposed to be. On reaching the palace at Pao Tingfu, which had been lavishly fitted up absolutely regardless of expense, the emperor called Yuan Shi Kai to his apartments and pointed out that he desired in his travels to see the condition of the people and learn their needs, so that imposing royal pageants were unnecessary."
