WHEAT SITUATION

PROSPECTS ARE FOR A TROUBLED MARKET.

Great Divergence Between the Views of the Farmers and the Buyers—Local Price Nearly as High as the Liverpool Quotation—No Agreement Among Farmers as to the Yield—Barley Crop Is Short.

The wheat situation is as badly mixed up as a pot of mush, but there are three things that are evident: that the crop is short, the prices high, and the farmers are still holding for more money.

Mill feed is way up in the air, bringing from $18 to $19 for bran, and from $19 to $20 for shorts. This in itself has an effect in holding the price of the mills in the top notch, for they can afford to pay high for the grain when they will get such prices both for the outside and the inside of the kernel. As long as the mill feed keeps so high the mills can afford to pay more for their wheat without straining the earning capacity of the grain.

The local price of the grain is now nearly as high as the quotations of the Liverpool market, and it may go higher, though in the estimation of the mill men the rise will not be many cents. The mills in the city are paying from 68 to 70 cents, but the wheat must be good for this price. On the other hand, the export market gives the growers from 64 to 65 cents for their grain. But what the market will be in the future it is hard to say, for the farmers are wanting more than is now given and are holding (that since the crop is so light they should have enough to equalize the loss. It remains to be seen whether or not they will be able to convince the buyers of the equity of their claims, but they think that they will, and that is half the battle, especially if they hold to that view long enough.

Last year the county produced about 3,750,000 bushels, and that was estimated to be 20 per cent short of a full crop. This year some of the men say that the yield will be 33-1-3 per cent short of last year. On the other hand some claim that the yield will be much better, and so it is hard to make an estimate of what is right. It depends on the disposition and the condition of the man, and from what part of the county he hails. One man will come in and tell that he is raising 35 bushels, and the next man will haul in a long face and a wagon load of empty sacks and say that his place is not going over nine bushels.

So it goes, and so it will go until the harvest is over and the wheat begins to come into the warehouses here in good earnest. As yet there has no samples come in to amount to anything, and very little of the grain is being hauled, and not until the end of the week will the hauling commence. Even then it may be light for if the price has not advanced some of the large growers who can afford to hold will not bring their wheat to the market.

Barley is also short, and is clear out of sight when it comes to price, and yet the farmers will not sell. Last year at this time the mills could get all the barley they could use at 70 cents, but this season they offer 85 cents in vain. The yield is going from 10 to 40 bushels, which is pretty slim for that cereal. Another thing that will keep the grain up is the sale at Dayton of 200,000 sacks for 1 cent a pound. This was brewing barley, but it will be a good pattern for the rest of the crop.

The wheat will go from 6 to 35 bushels and in some parts of the county more to the acre. Around Pilot Rock, Tutuilla and Echo and that part of the county, the yield will be short—from 10 to 20 bushels—and it is said not many of the acres will get to the 20-bushel mark, but as the land goes back toward the mountains the crops are heavier as they always are, and that part of the county will save the day. From all the reports it is estimated that the yield will be about 66-2-3 per cent of a full crop.

WHEAT IN WAREHOUSES.

About Six Hundred Sacks Are Coming in Daily.

The warehouses are beginning to receive wheat from all parts of the nearby wheat belt, but as yet they have not begun to buy. The export quotations are from 64 to 65 cents, and for this sum the farmers will not sell their grain at this time at least. About 600 sacks are coming into the warehouses each day now, and this will increase as fast as the harvest is over.

Until the market settles and the mills have their fill of the grain and the farmers have to fall back on the export trade, there will not be much wheat bought at the warehouses, though they will buy to a limited extent for the milling trade.

FIVE MILES NORTHEAST.

Grant Elgin's Wheat Averages Thirty Bushels and Quality Good.

Grant Elgin, one of the prosperous farmers about five miles northeast of the city, came to town today to return some of the sacks that he had not filled in the harvest, and to transact business in the city. He reports that his farm averaged 30 bushels of wheat to the acre and that the grain was of good quality and clean. It would weigh on the average about 140 pounds to the sack. The district about his place was all about the same in yield, and the harvest was nearly over.

By the end of the week most of the farms would either be threshed, or the machines would be in the fields. As soon as the grain is all cut the farmers will begin to haul to the warehouses, though some of them will have a disposition to hold for higher prices in the market.

TUTUILLA WHEAT.

Will Run From Ten to Twenty Bushels — Harvesting Well Under Way.

A. C. Larson, of the Tutuilla country, was hauling some of his wheat to the mills here today. He says that the wheat of that part of the county will average from 10 to 20 bushels to the acre, and that it is all of good quality. However, there is some smut in that part of the county, and much of the wheat has to be washed before it is used in the mills. In spite of this the wheat is plump and of good weight, and what there is of it is of the best quality.

The harvesting in that part of the county is now under way and will be over in a short time, but the wheat may not begin to move towards the city for some time for the growers that can hold, are of the mind that they should have more for their wheat in view of the shortage in the crop, and the resultant greater local demand. Yet if the market now is as high as it will be, the farmers will sell rather than hold all the year.

Will Visit Michigan.

H. O. Burroughs left this afternoon for Grand Rapids, Mich., where he goes to visit his parents. Mr. Burroughs has been for some time past the night agent at the O. R. & N. depot, and is now taking his vacation. He has not been to his home since the Spanish war, having enlisted and gone to the islands and served there for the term. Since returning to this country he has been in the employ of the railroad and has not had a vacation.
