They Lead the Procession

The popularity of Swift's products among all classes is very largely due to the absolutely clean and hygienic conditions under which each carcass is dressed, and the meat and the food products prepared and inspected. This is particularly true of Swift's Premium Ham and Bacon. From the sleek, corn-fed hogs in the pens, the carefully selected hams and bacon in the smokehouse, the final expert inspection by the U. S. government, and, lastly, the dainty wrapping in parchment paper, each step in the evolution of these nutritious and appetizing products is a guarantee that they will always please.

ADMINISTRATOR APPOINTED.

Will Look After the Estate of Victims of Heppner Flood.

Upon the petition of Matt Mosgrove, of Milton, letters of administration were ordered to be issued to him for the estate of L. B. Banks, of Milton.

The deceased was for years a resident of Milton, and about a month before the Heppner disaster he was married to a young lady from Milton, and they moved to Heppner, where the groom had secured a position in one of the stores there. When the flood came both Mr. and Mrs. Banks were drowned. Their bodies were brought to the old home at Milton and buried there. Mr. Mosgrove was an old friend of the deceased.

TWO INFORMATIONS.

William Webb, Alias H. W. Stevens, is the Defendant.

T. G. Halley, the prosecuting attorney, has filed two informations against William Webb, alias H. W. Stevens, in the county clerk's office, this afternoon.

Webb is the man who rented the rig from L. White at Milton, some time ago, telling the liveryman that he wanted to go to Freewater and then come to this city, and sold the horses to M. J. Carney of this place.

One of the informations charges the defendant with larceny by bailee, in having taken the team and sold it, and the other alleges that he obtained money under false pretenses in giving the bill of sale to Carney and guaranteeing that the horses were his own property.

There are a couple of other charges that will perhaps be filed in a day or two against the same man. It is thought that the man is an old offender, and that he has a record behind him, and the fact of his traveling over the country under names other than his own would bear out the supposition.

CRITICAL CONDITION.

William Gooseman Has Been Taken to the Hospital.

William H. Gooseman, who has been a resident of the city for the past four or five years, is at the hospital in a critical condition, and his life is despaired of. For several years Mr. Gooseman has been troubled with a derangement of the gall bladder, and has been under the care of doctors here and in San Francisco, but has gained no permanent relief. He has of late grown weaker and weaker until at this time he is unable to retain nourishment on his stomach for any length of time. It is expected that an operation will be performed on him tomorrow in hopes of changing the drift of the disease, but the hope is a forlorn one, and his death is expected at any time.

MAY NOT BE HELD.

Miller, Accused of Till Robbery, Will Probably Be Released.

It has been stated by Mr. AHiley that he would allow Carl Miller, the lad accused of taking money from the till of the Telephone Stables some time during last week, to go pending his good behavior. Miller is only a boy, and this is his first offense, and there is besides, some doubt as to whether or not he could be convicted on the evidence that has been brought out so far.

The brothers of the boy are working on the sewer and are apparently steady and industrious men, so that in the opinion of the district attorney it would be the best thing for all to give the lad the benefit of the doubt and allow him to go, as long as he behaves himself. The order to dismiss him from custody has not yet been made, but will perhaps be in the near future.

GETTING READY.

W. & R. C. Railway Making Preparations for a Big Grain Traffic.

The management of the W. & C. R. are busy getting their rolling stock in readiness for the wheat season, and all of the cars are being overhauled and hauled to the wheat belt, where they will be held for the transportation of this season's yield.

No empties are being hauled to this end of the line, and all of the full cars that come into the city are sent out as fast as the cargoes are taken out of them. If some one wants to have a car for some purpose they can take it as it is emptied, but it is hard to have them shipped in here at this time, and it will be harder until after the rush of the harvest is over.

MAIN STREET BRIDGE.

Has Been Overhauled in Readiness for Heavy Traffic.

Street Commissioner J. H. Means has finished going over the Main street bridge preparatory to the heavy work of the next few weeks. He has tightened all of the braces and has repaired all of the holes and weak places in the decking. The bridge is now safe and can be used by the heavy wheat wagons with no danger to the teams or the wagons. The matter of redecking the whole structure will be taken up at the next council meeting, and in all probability the repairs will be ordered at once.

Securing Many Exhibits.

Dr. A. LeRoy, who was here last week in the interest of the Oregon Information Bureau, advises from La Grande that he has secured a fine exhibit of sugar, sugar beets and other products from the factory in that city, besides a large collection of agricultural exhibits. He has made arrangements for one of the largest fruit exhibits in the bureau, to be prepared at the Oldenburg farm, near La Grande.

WAS NOT ARRESTED

FOUR MEN ARRESTED AND THE FIFTH THOUGHT HE WAS.

Mr. Platzoeder Was So Interested in the Welfare of His Men That He Lost Track of His Own Status—Stood for the Release of His Own Employee and Saw Them Through.

The police court was filled with excitement and long-winded words this morning when the cases of George Archambault, James Welch, A. B. Withy and Tom Aston were called for examination.

All the trouble originated at the Platzoeder butcher shop yesterday afternoon about 6 o'clock, when Geo. Archambault and Tom Aston had a fight over some little difference. The man with the long name was getting the worst of the argument, when the officers appeared on the scene and attempted to take the men to jail.

Welch and Withy claimed that the police had no right to arrest the men without a warrant, and refused to allow them to take the two pugilists to the lockup, with the result that all four of the men found themselves in the clutches of the law in a very few minutes.

Along about this time was where Platzoeder misunderstood the situation. He thought that the officers were a little off in taking his men out of the shop when they were working on his time, but he was willing to have them arrested if it had to be done. However, he wanted to go bail for the men so that they could go to work, for he had a carload of hogs to unload and had no time nor men to spare. He became so excited about the matter that the officers threatened to lock him up, and he came to the conclusion after he had gone to the recorder's office and paid $10 bail for each of his men that he was under arrest himself so this morning when the case was called he was represented by Balleray & McCourt.

The lawyers soon saw that they were not needed and left, but Conrad didn't know he was loose until after the court had adjourned. Then he heaved a great sigh, pocketed the check he had written for the bail of his men, and went away marveling at the course of justice as found in the court of Judge Fitz Gerald.

Archambault was considered to have been punished enough in the fight and was discharged, but the other three men were fined $5 each; Welch and Withy for interfering with an officer in the discharge of his duty, and Aston for disorderly conduct.

WANTS NEW CHARTER.

Mayor Hunt, of Walla Walla, Says Old Charter is Out of Date.

Mayor Gilbert Hunt, of Walla Walla, in his annual message says in regard to the extension of Walla Walla's city limits:

"We need a new charter. We have outgrown our territorial charter under which we are working and in order to get it in a satisfactory form to meet the approval of our citizens we should take plenty of time in which to frame it. If left till next year there will hardly be time to get it in shape for the next state legislature.

"Our boundaries should be extended, thereby increasing the population of the city several thousand and giving these people the benefits of city government. Give the mayor more authority, place more responsibility on his shoulders, give him the appointing of the principal paid city officials, do away with the expensive annual election by having it once in two years."
