NO MESSAGE FROM KING.

Pius X Feels Deeply the Lack of Cordiality in Humbert.

Rome, Aug. 7.—The pope spent the morning quietly in the Vatican. He is much disappointed because no message of congratulation has been received from the king of Italy.

Pius X has hoped that the old animosity between the church and the government of Italy had disappeared, but this lack of cordiality on the part of King Humbert proves that it still lives and that the mission of the peacemakers is yet incomplete.

Pius X, like Leo XIII, considers himself a prisoner of the king, and will remain constantly in the Vatican.

SARTO IS A MODEST MAN

AS PIUS X HE IS NOT CHANGED IN THE LEAST.

Says the Only Change Will Be in the Color of His Robes—He is Simple Man of Out-Door Habits.

Rome, Aug. 7.—A few anecdotes show what sort of a man Pius X is. His position as Patriarch of Venice brought him $2,000 to $4,000 a year, which did not go far, when he paid the bills for all of his numerous charities.

Once, when he had to come to Rome he was without a cent, and did not know where to turn. He was finally obliged to borrow $400 from a bank, and was in a perfect fever until the debt was paid.

He was sincere in thinking he would not be made pope, and signore Stratirovitch, the Venetian prelate, accompanied him to Rome, and up to the door of the conclave, and in taking leave, as usual, hoped Cardinal Sarto would be made pope.

In all of the excitement of his first triumph, he kept his word, and went to the telephone station, and called up the number, only to find that Monsignore Stratirovitch knew the result of the ballot and was already on his way to the Vatican.

Plus likes not only to walk, but to climb. A few days before he left Venice for Rome he ascended Mount Grappa, 5,500 feet high. But his greatest enjoyment is music. He is a great friend and admirer of Lorenzo Perosi, the eminent director of the pontifical choir, who was formerly maestro at St. Mark's, Venice.

Richard of other distinguished men were voted for in the parties to the imposition of the class of Americans such absurdities are being with the increase of and decrease of provincialism.

GIBBONS WILL STAY IN ROME

Was Stricken in the Vatican and Ordered by Physicians to Leave the City.

REFUSES TO HEED PLEAS OF DOCTORS.

Despite Their Orders, Will Stay in Rome to Attend Pope's Coronation Next Sunday—Heat in Rome is Now Terrible—Many Deaths From Prostration Expected at Coronation.

Rome, Aug. 7.—After being received by the pope, Cardinal Gibbons was taken ill and removed to his hotel. The physician attending him ordered him to leave Rome immediately to escape the overpowering heat now prevailing.

This determination on the part of the American cardinal aroused the warmest feeling of admiration, as it showed a self-sacrificing devotion to duty, in spite of personal danger.

The heat in Rome is something terrible now. The sun glaring down upon the white walls and streets is almost blinding to the eyes and the suffocating heat is prostrating hundreds of the natives.

People from the temperate climates find it almost unbearable and it is only by strict observance of the laws of health that foreigners are able to withstand it.

Preparations are being made to care for an unusual number on Sunday, the date set for the coronation, as it is expected the congregation of the immense crowds will cause many deaths from heat prostrations.

Gibbons' illness is not now alarming, but he was ordered to leave Rome as a measure of safety.
