MATCHES IN HIS TRUNK.

Ignited and Set Fire to the Other Contents—A Case of Baggage-Smasher's Combustion.

Howard Jones, formerly of Salem, left this morning for Colfax, where he has secured a position and will reside in the future. Mr. Jones came near losing his trunk this morning as he was having it put on the train.

He had packed some matches in the top of the trunk, and as it was dropped from the wagon to the sidewalk the matches in some way became ignited and soon the smoke began to pour from all of the cracks and crevices. The ropes were taken from the trunk, and what had taken fire was thrown out with not much damage to the contents, but it was a close shave for the wardrobe of the owner.

POST GRADUATE STUDIES.

Dr. Ringo Will Study in the East for Several Months.

Dr. R. E. Ringo leaves this evening for New York city, where he will take two months' post graduate course in the College of Physicians and Surgeons. After having completed the course he will spend another month visiting some of the large cities of the East, where he will study the methods in the hospitals and sanatoriums.

When the doctor returns he will bring with him much added knowledge in his profession, and rumor hath it that knowledge is not the only incentive for the visit.

Toilet Daintiness

Who is it that does not appreciate a sweet, delicate odor, especially of the dainty, lasting kind? We have the largest line of imported and domestic perfumes in Eastern Oregon. A few of our leading imported odors are:

Azurea, La Trefle, Peau d'Espagne, Violette de Parme, Indian Hay.

And many more of the same quality in bulk as well as in fancy packages.

VETERANS RETURN

TALK ENTERTAININGLY OF SAN FRANCISCO.

Had a Splendid Time—Immense Number of Visitors in the City—Theory for Friction Between General Miles and the Administration—Next Encampment Will Be at Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Rigby and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. King, of He'x, have returned from San Francisco, where they went to attend the grand encampment of the G. A. R. While at Cliff House Mrs. Rigby contracted a cold which has settled on her lungs, and at one time it was thought that she would have a siege of pneumonia, but it is now thought that the cold may be broken up and that she will soon be convalescent. However, she is in bed under the doctor's care at this time.

Mr. Rigby, in speaking of the trip, said that there was so much to say of the pleasures of the trip that he did not know where to begin, but those who attended certainly had a splendid time. It was estimated that there were over 56,000 people in the city who had come to see the reunion of the old veterans, and who were not members of the order. There were 21,000 from outside the state and the rest were all of them from outside of San Francisco.

The parade itself was not as long as it was in Cincinnati by one-half, and this was due in part to the fact that the place of meeting was so far west that a great many of the members of the order from the East were not able to attend. Another reason was the advancing age of the men, which made it impossible for a great many of those in the city to stay in the line, and they therefore never entered the parade at all.

General Black, of Chicago, was elected grand commander of the order, but it was the desire of a great number of the men to elect Miles to the place. That general, however, refused the place, saying that he had had honor enough and that he was in favor of the man that was elected to the position at last. In spite of the attitude of the president towards Miles, he has a great following among those who fought with and under him in the years that are passed, and he is one of the heroes of the fast thinning ranks of the old soldiers.

It is thought by many of the old soldiers that the reason for the friction between Roosevelt and Miles lies in the attitude of the general on the canteen question. Miles is not in favor of the institution and Secretary Root is, so there was a clash between them concerning the matter, and from this in part sprang the coldness.

The next place of meeting is Boston, and there the Grand Army will assemble a year from now to hold one more of the reunions that are bringing not only the old soldiers of the North, but those of the South as well, closer and closer together in the bonds of brotherhood, and by their example cementing the breach that once stretched across the nation from the east to the west.

TWENTY-ONE YEARS.

Anniversary of Beginning of Rev. Potwine's Pastorate.

Time passes rapidly in the Western world, and few stop to think of its flight unless reminded by some circumstance that brings old facts to their minds.

Few of the old-timers of the city who have attended the Church of the Redeemer stop to think how long they have gone there each Sabbath, yet today is the 21st anniversary of the day on which Rev. W. E. Potwine commenced his labors here as the head of the Episcopal denomination of this city. The expansion and advancement of the church in that time shows as well as anything else could the progress that the city has made in the years that have passed.

DEATH OF MRS. JOHNSON.

Old Age and Consequent Breaking Down Caused the End.

Mrs. Margaret Johnson died this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. J. Morris at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Johnson was 77 years and 4 months of age at the time of her death, which resulted from the breakdown consequent upon her advanced age.

The home of the deceased was in North Dakota, where most of the family reside, and where the remains will be taken for interment this evening by her son, T. B. Johnson. Mrs. Johnson was the mother of seven children, all of whom survive her and three of whom reside in this state. Mrs. Morris, the wife of T. J. Morris, of the Savings Bank, and her two brothers, T. B. and J. F. Johnson, are the children in this state. T. B. Johnson will leave this evening over the W. & C. R. with the remains for the old home in Dakota, where they will be laid to rest in the family burying ground.

BACHELORS FEAST.

General Good Time at the Hotel Pendleton Tonight.

Invitations are out for a stag dinner to be given this evening at the Hotel Pendleton for all the involuntary bachelors of the city. For some time the matter has been in the wind, but owing to the intercession of those whose better-halves have not yet departed for the mountains and the coast, the event has been delayed from time to time; but now that the rains have come and the ladies are beginning to flock home from the beach and the mountain camps, it has been deemed impolitic to delay any longer, and tonight the dinner will be had.

Dark and mysterious rumors are about as to what the gentlemen will eat, but the menu is unknown—locked safely in the bosom of Mr. Van Dran, the host. However, those who have attended the functions in the past express themselves as willing to go up against the bill of fare with their eyes shut, provided they are sure their wives will not have returned before they get them open again.

Some of the gentlemen of the city are bemoaning their fate for the reason that the affair has been delayed for so long that their families have returned home and they are doomed to remain home this evening and enjoy the pleasures of the occasion only by hearsay, but there are enough left to make the evening a howling success. An authentic account of the dinner will be printed at the head of the society column when that column once more appears.

SHIELD'S PARK.

Wet Audience Stayed Through Entire Performance Last Night.

A large, but wet crowd visited Shields' Park last night, and to their credit, stayed until the performance was ended, despite the fact that a brisk rainstorm beat upon both audience and performers during a large portion of the program.

The program was good last night, despite the difficulties under which the performers rendered their parts. This is comedy week and the feature is being carried out fully. All the numbers are good. Stanley and Scanlon, Sims and Bartelme, are artists of special ability in their lines. The illustrated songs and new pictures on the polycope are refreshing and the week promises to be one of the most attractive yet enjoyed.

CLEANED THE RESERVOIR.

Nothing of a Deleterious Nature Was Found—Work Done Yesterday.

Superintendent Brown of the water company, yesterday put a force of men to work on the reservoir, and it was emptied and cleaned.

The men first took out all of the sediment and then thoroughly scrubbed and rinsed the large cement tank, so that it is now as clean as it can be made. The water was very clean, and there was nothing in the reservoir that was of danger to the health of the consumers.

Returned From La Grande.

Rev. R. W. King returned today from La Grande, where he preached the funeral sermon of Miss Pearl Pennington, daughter of Sheriff C. C. Pennington, of Union county. The young lady was only ill a short time, having suffered a severe attack of appendicitis. She died at the Baker City hospital, following an operation.

Delayed Returning.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson, who went to San Francisco to attend the grand encampment of the G. A. R., will return home in about a week. While in the city on a sightseeing tour, Dr. Johnson contracted a cold which has kept him in doors for the last few days, but he is now convalescent. Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Collier, who are in the city, will return about the same time.

Of the Weston Normal.

Miss Ethel Garfield, of the Weston Normal School, was the guest of friends in the city yesterday en route from Portland, where she has been visiting for a time. She left this morning for Walla Walla for a short visit before returning to her year's work at Weston.

Will Go to Dayton.

Will Lyons, who returned yesterday to take his old place in the local office of the W. & C. R., was called to Dayton on his arrival here, to take charge of that office during the illness of J. W. Muirhead, the operator at that place.

HOW IT WILL BE DONE.

Problem of Method of Adding Hotel St. George Third Story.

Many people have been wondering how the workmen are going to finish the third story of the Hotel St. George, which is now in course of construction. Some thought that the old roof would be raised to where it would be when the other story was added, and then walls built up to it; others thought it would be torn up.

It is the intention of the contractors to build the walls up around the roof and put the new roof on before destroying the old. In this way the interior of the hotel will be safe from extra disturbance and from the rain. The tower, that was on the corner, has been taken loose at the base and will be left in the middle of the roof until the workmen are ready to hoist it up to its new position on the corner of the third story. It will take about two months to complete the work.

Deadwood, S. D., is making great preparations for the reception of the Miners' Congress, which convenes there on September 7.

They Lead the Procession

The popularity of Swift's products among all classes is very largely due to the absolutely clean and hygienic conditions under which each carcass is dressed, and the meat and the food products prepared and inspected. This is particularly true of Swift's Premium Ham and Bacon. From the sleek, corn-fed hogs in the pens, the carefully selected hams and bacon in the smokehouse, the final expert inspection by the U. S. government, and, lastly, the dainty wrapping in parchment paper, each step in the evolution of these nutritious and appetizing products is a guarantee that they will always please.
