S. P. TO BURN COAL
 WILLAMETTE VALLEY WOOD-BURNERS DISCARDED.

All Locomotives Will Be Equipped With Coal Burning Apparatus—No More "Wooding Up" for the Trainmen—Everybody Welcomes the Change.

There will be no more engines on the main line of the Southern Pacific railroad burning wood, says the Salem Statesman. The engine that pulled the overland past Salem and down to Portland on Monday evening was the last one. That engine was taken to the shops yesterday and will be converted into a coal burner.

The freight engines on this section of the road, and the engines on the branch lines, most of them will burn wood for a time yet—a few of them possibly for a long time. But there will be no more wood chinders to get into the eyes of the passengers on the main line.

It was rumored in railroad circles that the Albany local was to be drawn by an oil burner. But this will not be for the present. The engine drawing this train will burn coal.

The coal will come from Bellingham Bay in Washington, until a more convenient supply may be had.

Oil Burners.
 It is likely that oil burners will finally be put on this division, as on the California and other southern sections of the road. Some of the engines burning oil now come as far north as Ashland, and a tank for the storing of the crude oil will soon be established there. So far the oil is secured there from tank cars.

The Wood Situation.
 The burning of coal by the passenger engines on the main line will somewhat relieve the wood situation of Western Oregon. Wood is growing scarce and high in the country north of Junction, and the matter of economy figures as one of the reasons for the change that has been made from wood to coal. Time and convenience are also factors. There will be no more stopping at wood yards to take on fuel.

A Famous Creole Dish.
 An old private recipe for that famous Creole dish "Gumbo Filet" is found in the new book Cooking in Old Creole days (Harper's), and reads as follows: "Put into a casserole (sauce pan) a spoonful of pure lard, and one of flour, stir it well until it is of a light brown. Chop an onion into small pieces and throw them in. Cut up a fat capon or chicken into small pieces and put those in the casserole with the flour and lard. Stir it all the while until the chicken is nearly done. When the whole is well browned, add a slice of ham cut up small. Throw in two or three pods of red pepper, and salt to your taste. Now add a quart of boiling water and leave it on the fire for two hours and a half. A quarter of an hour before dinner is served add three dozen oysters with their liquor. Just before taking the soup off the fire, put in a tablespoonful of fillet, stirring it all the while. Let it boil one minute and then serve. Do not put in too much fillet; the spoon should not be full. Indeed, half a tablespoonful is enough."

Eleventh Annual Convention Pacific Coast Association of Fire Chiefs, Olympia, Wash., Sept. 22-25, 1903.

For the above occasion a rate of one and one-third fare is authorized to Portland and return, and to Seattle and return under the following conditions: Delegates or their families will purchase on any three days prior to September 22, regular one-way tickets to Portland, taking receipt for same, which, on presentation to agent, Union Depot, Portland, together with certificate properly signed by H. The Editor's Appetite.
 The editor and wife had another square meal Sunday on account of having received an invitation to dine at the hotel. Perks said he was afraid we wouldn't accept, but we did. For the benefit of our lady readers, we will state that they had chicken and the stuff that goes with such a layout, and strawberry shortcake and lettuce. Our wife wore her blue and white and looked real dear. Mrs. Perkins had a new skirt and looked too sweet for anything. The editor wore his Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday suit, and was sick all night.—White (S. D.) Leader.

HIGH CLASS DRUGGISTS AND — OTHERS.

The better class of druggists, everywhere, are men of scientific attainments and high integrity, who devote their lives to the welfare of their fellow men in supplying the best of remedies and purest medicinal agents of known value, in accordance with physicians' prescriptions and scientific formula. Druggists of the better class manufacture many excellent remedies, but always under original or official names and they never sell false brands, or imitation medicines. They are the men to deal with when in need of anything in their line, which usually includes all standard remedies and corresponding adjuncts of a first-class pharmacy and the finest and best of toilet articles and preparations and many useful accessories and remedial appliances. The earning of a fair living, with the satisfaction which arises from a knowledge of the benefits conferred upon their patrons and assistance to the medical profession, is usually their greatest reward for long years of study and many hours of daily toil. They all know that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative remedy and that it gives universal satisfaction, and therefore they are selling many millions of bottles annually to the well informed purchasers of the choicest remedies, and they always take pleasure in handing out the genuine article bearing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package. They know that in cases of colds and headaches attended by biliousness and constipation and of weakness or torpidity of the liver and bowels, arising from irregular habits, indigestion, or over-eating, that there is no other remedy so pleasant, prompt and beneficial in its effects as Syrup of Figs, and they are glad to sell it because it gives universal satisfaction.

Owing to the excellence of Syrup of Figs, the universal satisfaction which it gives and the immense demand for it, imitations have been made, tried and condemned, but there are individual druggists to be found, here and there, who do not maintain the dignity and principles of the profession and whose greed gets the better of their judgment, and who do not hesitate to recommend and try to sell the imitations in order to make a larger profit. Such preparations sometimes have the name—"Syrup of Figs"—or "Fig Syrup" and of some piratical concern, or fictitious fig syrup company, printed on the package, but they never have the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of the package. The imitations should be rejected because they are injurious to the system. In order to sell the imitations they find it necessary to resort to misrepresentation or deception, and whenever a dealer passes off on a customer a preparation under the name of "Syrup of Figs" or "Fig Syrup," which does not bear the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of the package, he is attempting to deceive and mislead the patron who has been so unfortunate as to enter his establishment, whether it be large or small, for if the dealer resorts to misrepresentation and deception in one case he will do so with other medicinal agents, and in the filling of physicians' prescriptions, and should be avoided by every one who values health and happiness. Knowing that the great majority of druggists are reliable, we supply the immense demand for our excellent remedy entirely through the druggists, of whom it may be purchased everywhere, in original packages only, at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, but as exceptions exist it is necessary to inform the public of the facts, in order that all may decline or return any imitation which may be sold to them. If it does not bear the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, do not hesitate to return the article and to demand the return of your money, and in future go to one of the better class of druggists who will sell you what you wish and the best of everything in his line at reasonable prices.

THE FAIR
 The Place to Save Money

Misunderstood Instructions.
 A good story comes from Ellensburg about two young ladies who became imbued with a desire to go driving one afternoon lately. They went to a local livery stable and asked for a gentle horse, as they wanted to drive into the country a few miles. The man in charge gave them one, and told them that the horse would be all right if they kept the rein from his tail. When they returned he asked them if they had any trouble. "Oh, no," said one. "It did sprinkle some, but we had an umbrella, and we took turns at holding it over the horse's tail so that not a drop of rain touched it, and we got along all right."
