HOT LAKE, OREGON

FIRST MADE FAMOUS BY WASHINGTON IRVING.

It is Sixty Degrees Hotter Than the Famous Springs of Arkansas—Interview With Dr. G. W. Tape—Discovered Ninety-two Years Ago.

Dr. G. W. Tape, of Hot Lake, Or., is in Portland. In an interview yesterday the doctor said:

"I am here calling on the physicians of your city and find them a fine lot of fellows. I am acquainted with the peculiar advantages of our sanatorium for their patients. My partner, Dr. Phy, and myself are regular ethical physicians, and work in perfect harmony with the medical profession."

"You see, there are a great many cases which are not benefited by any medicine, while another set of cases will be benefited but not wholly relieved. These are the ones the physicians send to our springs. As if it were a special dispensation of Divine Providence, these are the very cases that make such remarkable recoveries under our treatment."

Enlarging and Improving.

"We have accommodations for about 125 now, and have been enlarging and improving the sanatorium ever since we opened two years ago. Eighty thousand dollars was spent last year in a new hotel and bath-house. There is really nothing to compare with it at any springs west of the Rocky Mountains."

"Our water is stronger than that of the Arkansas springs, and we have over three times as much of it, and it is 60 degrees hotter than their hottest spring in Arkansas."

"Every patient is examined thoroughly without cost before he can take his baths, and the kind of bath he takes and the quantity of water he drinks is prescribed by the physician from day to day."

"The fact is we are paying every attention, not to the man who wants a blowout, but to the man who wants his health."

"Plans are being drawn for another new hotel to join the present one, which, when completed, will double our accommodations, as our largest trade is in the winter and fall."

Hot Lake is on the main line of the O. R. & N., near Pendleton, Or., and was discovered by the Astoria expedition in 1811 and described by Washington Irving in "Astoria."

Dr. Tape will be in the city the greater part of this week, calling on the physicians and friends.
