TO FIGHT COMBINE

A. H. SUNDERMAN BELIEVES IN MORE ORGANIZATION.

Says Stockmen Should Stand Together and Demand Relief From Unjust Combinations That Now Force Down Prices.

A. H. Sunderman is down from his range on the head waters of the Grand Ronde river, and reports his stock in fine condition for winter. He will remain on the summer range for a couple of weeks yet, when he will move down to the fall pastures near Pilot Rock.

Mr. Sunderman is an enthusiastic advocate of organization among the stockmen of the West for the purpose of combating the meat and packing combines. The rangers raise the stock, feed it and graze it, prepare it for market, load it on the cars and furnish it to these grasping combines at a sacrifice, and yet no decisive steps are taken to fight this method.

The trusts keep buyers in the country, living on the fat of the land, drawing enormous salaries, living in comparative ease, whose business is to hammer down prices on the producer, and secure the stuff grown on the farms and ranges at less than the actual cost of production.

Mr. Sunderman believes the stockmen of Oregon should thoroughly organize, make it a secret organization, as in Montana if necessary, and stand together, under all circumstances, to protect each other from the grasping corporations that are constantly pulling down the prices of wool and livestock. In the wool pools each man should be obliged to abide by and support the organization, and thus prevent agents from using unfair means to get individual clips at reduced prices, or use coercive methods to beat down any one owner.

He favors the establishment of the independent packing plants, under the supervision of stockmen, as now organized. He thinks that the actual stockmen of the country, and not the hotel lobby stockmen, should control the institution, and reap the just profits, to which they are entitled.

Speaking of the coming meeting of the National Livestock Association in Portland, next January, he thinks the Oregon and Pacific Coast stockmen should be prepared to defend themselves against the old ring which has dominated the policy of the association for years. To do this, the actual stock growers should get together, understand each other, demand some plain, ordinary business action, which will release them from the salt and transportation trusts, and permit them to place their output on the market at something nearer its actual value.

Something should be done to save the grower the profits that now go to keep in luxury about three useless classes which are not engaged in handling livestock—namely, the buyer, the commission man and the wholesale dealer.

Between the steer or the mutton on the range and the butcher's block are but two men actually needed in the entire process—the owner of the live stuff and the railroad company. By forming the stockmen's packing plants the owner, through the association, can put the meat on the block to the consumer as easily as the commission men put it there, and all the intermediate profits would remain in the hands of the grower, to be converted back again into more range stock.

TWO LETTERS ABOUT TRIB.

Man Who Was Willing to Try and Was Convinced.

A. S. Burroughs, Baker City, Or., December 15, 1892, writes: "I have been a very hard drinker for 20 years (few people drink more than I). If your TRIB is a cure, I want it." On May 15, 1893, Mr. Burroughs writes: "It is a pleasure for me to recommend TRIB as a cure for the liquor habit. It has now been six months since I completed a cure with TRIB. I have never had better health. I eat well and sleep well. I believe it is the best cure for the liquor addiction yet placed upon the market."

"Captain Bob."

Wednesday's Portland Oregonian says of "Captain Bob," which comes to the Frazer tonight: "The last performance of that beautiful romantic drama, 'Captain Bob,' which S. Miller Kent and his exceedingly capable company have been playing at the Marquam Grand Theater, will be given this evening. Mr. Kent was never seen to better advantage. His character of Robert Rensselaer affords him ample opportunity to show his talents as an able actor. His company has been selected from among the most capable people in the profession. The scenic effects are elaborate and complete in every detail. In fact it is an interesting story, cleverly told and well worth seeing."

Saves Two From Death.

"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of ARMOR, N. Y., "but, when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had Consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and today she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for coughs and colds. 50c and $1 bottles guaranteed by Tallman & Co. Trial bottles free.

The Walla Walla theater has just received 300 opera chairs which will be put in place immediately.
