EDUCATORS ARE STUDYING OUR EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM.

Expenses of a Remarkable Commission Are Paid By A Private Individual—All the Principal Universities, Colleges and Technical Schools Will Be Inspected.

London, Oct. 3.—The commission of thirty educational experts which Alfred Mosely is sending to the United States to closely study American educational methods sailed for New York today on the American liner Philadelphia. The commissioners have been selected with the greatest care and represent almost every branch of educational activity. Among them are such men of distinction and competence as Prof. Henry E. Armstrong of London Institute, A. W. Black, mayor of Nottingham; Dr. J. Ross Bradford, University College, London; G. J. Cuckburn, Leeds school board; the Bishop of Coventry; Harry Coward, president of the National Teachers' union; Prof. Finlay of Dublin university; Prof. Frankland of the University of Birmingham; W. C. Fletcher, head master, Liverpool institute; William Jones, M. P., and Prof. McLean of Glasgow Technical College.

The commissioners will travel about separately, visiting many of the leading universities, colleges and technical schools of the United States. The public school system will also be closely studied in New York, Boston, Cleveland, Indianapolis and a number of other cities. Mr. Mosely is already in America completing arrangements for the tour of the educators. He pays the expense of the pilgrimage, as he did that of the industrial commission which visited the United States last year.

Mr. Mosely is convinced that the American educational system is the best in the world, hence his anxiety to show its workings to English educators, with the hope that they will return home and induce the authorities to modernize the English system of education, adopting the patient excellencies of the American schools, colleges and technical institutes.
