Slide to Death. Captain Carl Wildes, the man who gram is being arranged.

makes the "slide for life" during the free show in front of the main tent at the depot, was painfully injured last night by the breaking of the tackle at the lower end of the wire.

Wildes slides on a wire suspended from the top of one of the telegraph poles to the ground, while hanging to the pulley by his teeth. Last night, just as he started on his flight, the lower end of the wire came loose from the pole and the man dropped to the ground, a distance of nearly 30 feet

He was taken to the hospital where he is now resting. It is thought that his spine is injured, though the hurt is not considered dangerous

TWO THOUSAND ADMISSIONS.

Bailoon Ascension Tomorrow Morn ing-Program of Sports.

The first day of the carnival was great success, large crowds coming into the city from the country to witness the parade and attend the shows. It is estimated that there were at least 2.000 people bought tickets for the big show, and there were perhaps many who attended the other amusements who did not go to the main tent

The ascent will be made in the morn-ing on account of the wind general lunch daily from 11:30 a. m. to 2 p. m. arising later and which makes the exhibition too hazardous for the performer

QUOTATIONS HAVE NOT

CHANGED MATERIALLY.

Two Hundred Thousand Bushels on Hand at One Mill-One Farmer Accepted 63 Cents Who Refused 72 Cents Earlier-One Warehouse Company Has 600,000 Bushels Stored.

The wheat market is beginning to show signs of being stronger than it has been for some time, but as yet it has not enough spirit to raise the quotations. The exporters still quote at 62 cents and the millers raise this figure up to the 66 mark, but this is as high as it has been for some time, and it seems to be able neither to raise or fall.

The farmers will not sell at this figure except in isolated cases, and there is nothing doing in the market in the way of buying. The Byers mill has on hand 200,000 bushels of wheat and will buy as fast as the farmers will sell, but that is not as fast as it might be, or has been during the first of the season. The mills are now paying from 65 to 66 for bluestem and from 62 to 63 for chaff wheat and club. Yesterday one of the mills bought a cargo of wheat from a farmer of this county for 63 cents hauled to the station. At the first of the season the same man refused 72 cents at the mill, claiming that he could get that amount for his grain in the field, and would hold for higher prices to come.

The Puget Sound Warehouse Com-pany has in the aggregate about 600,000 bushels of wheat stored in its warehouses in this county: it may have more, but not likely less. This will give about two-thirds of last year's crop. The most of the wheat is now in the new warehouses and granaries, but a great deal of that is only stored, not sold, the owners preferring to pay storage and insurance rather than sell at the prevailing prices. As it is now, the whole situ ation is practically at a standstill. waiting for developments.

PRIZES FOR WADE CATTLE.

Fine Herd From the Grand View Farm Takes First Prizes at the Spokane Fair.

C. R. Wade received a message this morning announcing that his herd of Shorthorn and Hereford cattle had captured the first prizes at the Spokane fair.

Hillcrest Hero, the Shorthorn bull Elgitha, Snorthorn cow, and his Shorthorn yearing helfers were all awarded first prizes and every Here ford entered at Spokane by Mr. Wade was awarded a first prize. Bright Hope and Song Bird, two Hereford yearling heifers, won the sweep-stakes and championship of the Northwest.

This is gratifying to the host of admirers of the Wade herd, and the new laurels won this year at Salem Portland, Yakima and Spokane will serve to stimulate him to produce a still larger list of prize winners for the future. Owing to the advanced season and the several days time to elapse be tween the close of the Spokane fait and the opening of the Walla Walla fair, the herd will not be entered at Walla Walla, but will be taken to the Grand View farm, near Hot Lake, Union county, the last of in

The competition has been vers spirited this year at all the fairs in the Northwest, and Mr. Wade's showing is highly creditable to the state cially Eastern Oregon river, three miles west of the city, is preparing to move into a new real-dence on his farm in the near future. Mr. Snyder's present residence is lo cated so close to the right of way of the O, R & N, that his stock are con-tinually bothering about the track, and the number of pigs, chickens, and the number of pigs, chickens, ducks and turkeys killed by trains during the past 20 years is beyond computation. Partly to avoid this annoyance and partly because of the better location, Mr. Snyder will move to another residence about a mile from the track, on his excellent river farm.

Exciting Runaway.

This morning the team driven by Lee Holmes, became frightened at some carnival object and started down the street towards Froome's barn, where they belong. In turning the corner in front of the Judd building they ran the corner of the wagon into the telegraph pole, catching the casting supporting the reel which holds the wire attached to the arc lamp and tearing it from the pole. This let the lamp down and wrenched it from the hood. The team was stopped at the corner and driven to the barn, none the worse for wear

RAILROAD FREIGHTS.

War Between the Trunk Lines and LOOK CUI the Gulf Port Lines.

New York, Oct. 8.—There is rea-son to believe that a disturbing fea-ture of the freight rate situation will be eliminated as a result or today here between the Trunk meeting tine's import committee and sentatives of the railroads with Gulf outlets. The Gulf port lines heretofore have been bound by no rate agreements with the Atlantic port lines. This independence has at times been a great disturbing factor. Recently both sides have displayed a willingness to make concessions in the interest of harmony and it is be lieved a satisfactory agreement will now be reached.

The basis of the proposed agre-ment provides a differential rate for the Gulf port lines about 10 per cent. less than the New York rate. With harmony established between the Trunk dues and the Gulf port lines the two will be in a botter position to fight the Canadian lines, which have shown a tendency to capture the grain export traffic from the United States railroads.
