

STATE FISHERIES

REPORT OF FISH WARDEN FOR MONTH OF SEPTEMBER.

Total Expenditures for the Month Over $8,600—All Hatcheries in First Class Conditions—Many Millions of Eggs Now Ready for Hatching.

The report of State Fish Warden Van Dusen for the month of September shows promising returns. All the hatcheries in the state are in first class condition and this excellent department of the state government is making rapid strides toward the preservation of the fish supply in the streams of Oregon. Following are excerpts from the report:

Hatchery Operations.

"Complete reports received from the Salmon river hatchery show that the take of eggs from the early Chinooks this season amounted to 3,551,000. The season began July 14 and ended August 29. The report received from September shows that 1,959,900 have hatched and the young fry are doing very nicely, and the earliest of them will be ready to turn out in a few weeks.

"At the Clackamas hatchery the complete take of eggs was 3,229,000. The season began July 18 and ended August 31.

"At the Wallowa hatchery Station Superintendent Allen is in the midst of his season's work with the early Chinooks, which began September 5. Up to the 30th of September he had succeeded in spawning 554 females, from which he took 2,297,000 eggs. The work on the Chinooks should last another two weeks and then the sockeye variety of salmon will begin to show up.

"At Ontario the new hatchery building is completed and fully equipped with hatchery troughs and all is ready for the season's take of eggs, which from the number of salmon now enclosed between racks, should tax the new structure to its fullest capacity.

"At the Umpqua station the loss by fire of the bank house and all of its contents right in the middle of the egg-taking season interfered to a considerable extent with the take of eggs and was the cause of fully 1,000,000 eggs being lost on account of the salmon spawning out during the period that the men were unable to continue with the work. The season began August 24 and up to September 30 they had succeeded in getting 1,07,000 eggs.

"The Wilson river hatchery they began taking eggs September 11. The other coast streams are late streams and it will be another month before we will be able to tell much about what the success will be, though from present indications they should all do fairly well."

The total receipts for the month, from account of licenses, fines and penalties, etc., for both districts, amounted in the aggregate to $1,252.30, and the total disbursements amounted to $8,684.32, which is the greatest amount of disbursements incurred for several months. This is accounted for, however, by the fact that considerable more money than usual was spent for the construction of new hatcheries and making of extensive repairs upon the old ones. Another big item of expense was the payment of the salaries of the master fish warden and the deputies, which amounted to $1,400.75. The receipts and disbursements are accounted for as follows:

Receipts.
District No. 1	$ 103.00
District No. 2	1148.85
Total	$1252.30
Disbursements.
Hatchery fund (district No. 1)	$3,667.17
Special fund (Ontario hatchery)	990.56
Hatchery fund (district No. 2)	1,201.00
Special fund (Umpqua hatchery)	915.21
Special fund (Yaquina hatchery)	483.80
Special fund (Oregon City hatchery)	20.10
General fund (salaries)	1,400.75
Total	$8,684.32

"Prays" as it Preys.

Very strange is the insect popularly known as the "praying mantis." Of this insect M. J. H. Fabre, a distinguished French naturalist, made a thorough study. According to him, "its long, pale green wings, like ample veils, its head upraised to heaven, its arms folded and crossed on its breast, give it a false resemblance to a nun in ecstatic devotion."

A ferocious creature it is, ever bent on carnage, the workshops of various burrowing hymenoptera being its favorite haunts, since there it is almost certain to find prey.

"Posted on some bush near the burrows," says Mr. Fabre in his account of the insect, "it waits patiently until it sees some other insect, probably a sphinx, returning home. By a sudden rustle of its half open wings it terrifies the approaching insect, which hesitates for a moment, and then as suddenly as a spring the toothed forearm folds back on an arm also toothed, and the insect is grasped between the blades of the double saw in the same manner as the jaws of a wolf trap close on an unfortunate wolf at the instant when it is seizing the bait. Then, without unceasing the deadly machine, the mantis slowly eats its victim."

In Provence this cruel insect is known as "prego Dieou," which means "pray to God."

Motherly Advice

A young girl's thoughts become sluggish, when she experiences, dizziness, faintness, and exhibits an abnormal disposition, pains in the back and lower limbs, eyes dim, desire for a dislike for the society of other girls, when she is a mystery to herself and friends, then the mother should go to her aid promptly. The time the greatest aid to nature is Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound. It prepares the young system for the coming and is the surest reliance in this hour of trial.

That daughter is a precious legacy, and the responsibility largely in the hands of the mother. The mysterious girl that develops the thoughtless girl into the thoughtful woman on the mother on the watch day and night. As she cares for the well-being of her daughter, so will the woman be, and her own.

of a New York Girl of Interest Every Mother and Daughter in the Land.

Mrs. PINKHAM:—I hope you will publish this letter, for I want all to know how much good your medicine did my young daughter. Her health was down about six months ago, and although she is large for her age, she does not understand what was wrong with her; the doctor did not, either, and her heart, which pained her a good deal; but he did not know what to do, and we were afraid heart trouble would carry her off. Every day she was getting thinner and thinner. She had no appetite, and she sat in bed all day, and was always too tired to do anything. All the world would mourn in her sleep, as though in terrible pain.

I was discouraged; I was spending money for doctor's bills, but she was receiving no help. At that time I was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I read in one of your books that it would cure her. I decided to drop the doctor, and give her your medicine. I could see the change in her, and the pink cheeks Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound has given her. She had taken but half a box when menstruation started again and her heart trouble went away like a shadow. Menstruation is regular and painless, and I owe my thanks to your wonderful medicine for her good health.—Mrs. MARGARET Tenth Avenue, New York City.

SPECIAL ADVICE TO YOUNG WOMEN FREE.

By her vast experience in treating female ills, extending over years, Mrs. Pinkham has gained a knowledge which is of value to every ailing young woman. Her advice never fails. If you need such help write her. Address Lynn, Mass.

Medicine that has restored so many women to health and can prove of the fact must be regarded with respect. This is the Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which cannot be equalled by any other medicine the world has ever produced.

Remember these facts when some druggist tries to get something which he says is "just as good." That is impossible. No other medicine has such a record of cures as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so do not experiment with untried medicines, but insist upon the one you know is best.

FORFEIT If we cannot forthwith produce the original letter and signature of the testimonial, which will prove its absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

When Others Failed

1056 Winnetka Avenue, Chicago, Ill., Oct. 25, 1902. Wine of Cardui can always be relied on to cure when everything else fails. I suffered for years with the most intense pains in the womb and ovaries and dreadful headaches unfitted me for my work. Finally I grew so ill that I had to keep my bed. The pains were so intense at times that I caused spasms and a disagreeable discharge that took away my life forces. In my extremity after all else failed, I tried Wine of Cardui. After using it for a few weeks I began to improve so rapidly that I felt encouraged to keep up the treatment, which I did for eight weeks, but at the end of that time I was entirely cured. What a new and how new and beautiful life looked to me when my health was restored. Only those who have passed through such a siege of illness as I have will understand how much I value Wine of Cardui.

Frances Mitchell Secretary, North Chicago Frauen Verein.

HIGH CLASS DRUGGISTS AND — OTHERS.

The better class of druggists, everywhere, are men of scientific attainments and high integrity, who devote their lives to the welfare of their fellow men in supplying the best of remedies and purest medicinal agents of known value, in accordance with physicians' prescriptions and scientific formula. Druggists of the better class manufacture many excellent remedies, but always under original or official names and they never sell false brands, or imitation medicines. They are the men to deal with when in need of anything in their line, which usually includes all standard remedies and corresponding adjuncts of a first-class pharmacy and the finest and best of toilet articles and preparations and many useful accessories and remedial appliances. The earning of a fair living, with the satisfaction which arises from a knowledge of the benefits conferred upon their patrons and assistance to the medical profession, is usually their greatest reward for long years of study and many hours of daily toil. They all know that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative remedy and that it gives universal satisfaction, and therefore they are selling many millions of bottles annually to the well informed purchasers of the choicest remedies, and they always take pleasure in handing out the genuine article bearing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package. They know that in cases of colds and headaches attended by biliousness and constipation and of weakness or torpidity of the liver and bowels, arising from irregular habits, indigestion, or over-eating, that there is no other remedy so pleasant, prompt and beneficial in its effects as Syrup of Figs, and they are glad to sell it because it gives universal satisfaction.

Owing to the excellence of Syrup of Figs, the universal satisfaction which it gives and the immense demand for it, imitations have been made, tried and condemned, but there are individual druggists to be found, here and there, who do not maintain the dignity and principles of the profession and whose greed gets the better of their judgment, and who do not hesitate to recommend and try to sell the imitations in order to make a larger profit. Such preparations sometimes have the name—"Syrup of Figs"—or "Fig Syrup" and of some piratical concern, or fictitious fig syrup company, printed on the package, but they never have the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of the package. The imitations should be rejected because they are injurious to the system. In order to sell the imitations they find it necessary to resort to misrepresentation or deception, and whenever a dealer passes off on a customer a preparation under the name of "Syrup of Figs" or "Fig Syrup," which does not bear the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of the package, he is attempting to deceive and mislead the patron who has been so unfortunate as to enter his establishment, whether it be large or small, for if the dealer resorts to misrepresentation and deception in one case he will do so with other medicinal agents, and in the filling of physicians' prescriptions, and should be avoided by every one who values health and happiness. Knowing that the great majority of druggists are reliable, we supply the immense demand for our excellent remedy entirely through the druggists, of whom it may be purchased everywhere, in original packages only, at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, but as exceptions exist it is necessary to inform the public of the facts, in order that all may decline or return any imitation which may be sold to them. If it does not bear the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, do not hesitate to return the article and to demand the return of your money, and in future go to one of the better class of druggists who will sell you what you wish and the best of everything in his line at reasonable prices.

Nasal CATARRH

In its stages there should be cleanliness.

Ely's Cream Balm cleanses, soothes and relieves the diseased membrane, it cures catarrh and drives away a cold in the head quickly.

Cream Balm is placed into the nostrils, spreads over the membrane and is absorbed. Relief is immediate and a cure follows. It is not drying—does not produce sneezing. Large Size, 50 cents at Drug-gists or by mail; Trial Size, 10 cents by mail. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren Street, New York.

THIS is the instrument I use in examining the interior of the eye. With it I can tell if your eye is in a healthy condition or plainly see any disease that may be present. This is very important for sometimes glasses will not help your eye trouble. If you need glasses I have instruments for showing me just what lenses are required. If you do not, your trouble can be corrected by a physician.
