IRRIGATION LEADS

W. T. SHAW OF FREEWATER ENTHUSIASTIC IRRIGATOR.

Says His District Will Send Good Exhibit—Thinks the West is Now at the Dawn of Her Best Industrial Era—Is Familiar With Blue Mountain Reservoir Site.

W. T. Shaw, a member of the Milton and Freewater Ditch company, and one of the delegates from Freewater to the Ogden Irrigation Congress, was in the city yesterday evening, and expressed himself as being highly pleased with the prospects for a rousing meeting of the State Irrigation association in this city next month.

Mr. Shaw is an enthusiastic irrigator, and a practical one, in the best sense of the word. He has witnessed the transformation of the cheap land, that was once considered worthless, in portions of Umatilla county, into growing orchards, alfalfa fields and wheat fields worth all the way from $50. to $300 per acre.

This transformation is enough to make a man enthusiastic. Mr. Shaw thinks, and his enthusiasm is contagious.

In regard to the program for the coming meeting, he favors the introduction of the greatest number of actual irrigators. He thinks the story of the actual reclamation of the arid soil, is the best one that can be told everywhere in the West. He thinks anything that will tend to bring the people together, in a clearer understanding of the meaning of irrigation, is a necessary part of every program, dealing with the subject.

Mr. Shaw says a fine fruit exhibit can be collected in the Freewater and Milton districts, and that the citizens will take pleasure in sending everything in the fruit, vegetable and grain lines, which might add to the interest of the meeting.

Aside from farming and improving his land, Mr. Shaw is a busy and industrious student of the science of irrigation, and has made examinations of the reservoir sites and storage facilities of the Blue mountains, and has located and surveyed mountain storage reservoirs, on the headwaters of the Walla Walla river and the various streams coming down the west slope of the Blue mountains, which would hold sufficient water to furnish every farm tributary to those streams, during the entire season, with nothing but the stored flood water of the spring.

He thinks that the West is just now at the dawn of one of the most splendid ages, known to man. He looks forward to the time when the government will undertake, on the largest possible scale, the construction of great reservoir systems, high up in the snow belts, and the building of great carrying canals, from those reservoirs, to the farming community, below, that every foot of thirsty land may be supplied in the time of need and the idle population of the country, will be employed in agriculture, stock raising, and fruit culture, instead of crowding into the dense centers and oppressive streets of the great cities.

In his opinion these irrigation meetings are the agencies by which this splendid condition will be gradually realized.

PREJUDICED AGAINST TRIB.

Dr. L. E. Bellinger, of San Francisco, writes: "I was prejudiced against TRIB, coming to me as it did, but I see how I was mistaken. I have been traveling in England and the Eastern states much lately and find much evidence of TRIB'S good work. I bought 25 treatments for friends, and every one has done its work well."

HAVERLY'S MINSTRELS COMING.

Black-Faced Minstrelsy Still Holds Its Charm on the Public.

Real, black-faced minstrelsy has never lost its hold on the affections of the theater-goers, and the coming of Haverly's Mastodon Minstrels will be awaited with much pleasurable anticipations. There are many so-called minstrel shows on the road this season, but only one which faithfully adheres to the minstrel text.

That show is Haverly's Mastodons, and in this show no white faces are allowed to mar the study in black; all the performers being made up in the "dyed and kinky wool" order.

Haverly's Mastodon Minstrels comes to the Frazer theater fresh from their trans-continental triumphs where they have played to record-breaking business. The Eastern press without exception, heartily praised the performance, and judging from what the critics said in their write-up on the show, the patrons of the Frazer may expect an artistic entertainment with as much mirth, music and melody as you will hear or see in any of the latest comic operas or musical extravaganzas.

LEADING MEMBERS OF LOUIS JAMES AND FREDK WARDE COMBINATION.

Louis James and Frederick Warde will be seen at the Frazer tonight in a new heroic drama, entitled "Alexander the Great," in which the contending elements are insatiable ambition, romantic and self-sacrificing love and covetous envy, which entails a tragic finale.

The last named quality is typical in the character of Perdiccas, which will be played by Mr. Warde, a crafty, cunning, merciless statesman, who would betray anyone, man or woman, to further his own selfish schemes.

Alexander, the greatest military genius recorded in history, who is made to appear in the play as being too magnanimous to suspect the motives of Perdiccas, on whom he has bestowed political honors, will be assumed by Mr. James.

The play is said to be replete with stirring incidents, interspersed with scenes of martial pomp and royal pageants, and tempered by the charm of exquisite romance.

Motherhood

MOTHERHOOD is the reward nature bestows upon healthy womanhood. Women whose vitality has been sapped by disease cannot safely give birth to children. In pregnancy and in childbirth weakness of the mother is revealed in the pain and agony she suffers.

This great medicine drives out every vestige of inflammation and weakness, and gives tone and strength to the delicate organs which mature the child. The pains of pregnancy are banished by Wine of Gardui, and miscarriages, which blast so many fond mother's hopes, are prevented. Flooding, which so often occurs after childbirth, is corrected when Wine of Gardui is used during pregnancy.

Wine of Gardui babies are healthy babies, because, during the months of pregnancy, the mother is able to give them necessary vitality.

With these facts presented to American women no expectant mother should be satisfied without the reinforcement that Wine of Gardui will give her. Every mother should be able to treat herself in her home with this valuable medicine.

Wine of Gardui can be secured from any druggist at $1.00 a bottle.

I am the mother of seven children and while in pregnancy with the first six suffered untold misery until they were born. One month before the seventh was born I began to take a bottle of Wine of Gardui, which gave me relief after taking three doses. I used the remainder of the bottle until the birth of the child, and was stouter in three days after the birth than I was in a month after the birth of either of the first six. I am 29 years old.

MRS. V. ELIZABETH STAFFORD.
