REGULATING WATER

FIXED RULES GOVERNING
DISTRIBUTION NEEDED.

F. B. Holbrook Thinks There Should Be the Greatest Possible Harmony Among Irrigators With Least Possible Friction — Good Administration of Rights Needed.

F. B. Holbrook, superintendent of the Oregon Water & Land Company, of Stokes, (or Irrigon, as they have renamed the prosaic Oregon Railroad & Navigation station, just west of Umatilla Junction) was in the city yesterday evening and expressed himself as usual, on the subject of irrigation.

Mr. Holbrook thinks that one of the interesting features of this discussion of irrigation regulations at the coming state convention, should be the administration of water rights by settlements of people, under large ditch propositions. He thinks the just distribution of water to each landholder, alike, and the economical use of the water apportioned to land by private and public concerns, so that there will be the greatest uniformity, and harmony with the least possible friction.

In most irrigated districts, even where the water supply is sufficient for all the land under the ditch, and the rights of individuals are plainly set forth, there is in nearly every instance great waste of water, and consequent injustice in the administration of the water rights.

Many men will insist on being allowed to divert a certain number of inches of water, to which they may be entitled in the contract or purchase of their land, or the provisions of the ditch company, under which they may be working, although the supply may be scarce, and the quality of their soil may not require the full quota of water to which they are entitled.

This excess use of water damages the soil and causes injustice to other landowners, who may be short, at the time.

These regulations form one of the most important phases of irrigation in the state and should be discussed with a view to incorporating the right kind of a provision in an irrigation law to be recommended to the legislature.

FEED SITUATION BAD.

Country is Overstocked and Hay Very Scarce.

Not only do stockmen of Eastern Oregon desire a mild and open winter but such a winter is an absolute necessity to the success of the livestock industry because hay is scarce and almost continuous range is essential. So J. W. Ralston, the well known drover who is in Portland with a shipment of stock from Arlington, tells a Portland paper. Mr.
Ralston's home ranch is near Mayville, in Grant county on the banks of the John Day river, and he says the hills are already green with fall grass that has started as a result of the recent warm showers.

"There is little or no hay in Eastern Oregon this season," Mr. Ralston said, "and unless we get an open winter we are going to lose a great many sheep and cattle. The entire country is overstocked, more so than ever before, as there was no sheep shipped East last summer."

"We have, therefore, all last year's increase to take care of in excess of the usual number. This increase alone numbers several hundred thousand head."

"Farmers working new ground are cutting down our stock range year after year, as the land mostly belongs to the government and proves to be valuable for wheat raising. The honeycrisp is already eaten out to the roots, and unless the weather is mild and showery there will be no grass for winter range."

Catarrh and Hay Fever.

Liquid Cream Balm is becoming quite as popular in many localities as Ely's Cream Balm solid. It is prepared for use in atomizers, and is highly prized by those who have been accustomed to call upon physicians for such a treatment. Many physicians are using and prescribing it. All the medicinal properties of the celebrated Cream Balm are contained in the liquid form, which is 75 cents, including a spraying tube.

RESTRICT PRIVILEGES.

Portland Organizations Driving Employers to Take Defensive Action.
There is concerted action among employers in Portland to draw the lines tighter against the unions, whose gradually increasing demands, they claim, are becoming annoying if not obnoxious, says the Evening Telegram.

The job printers and pressmen recently asked for a nine-hour day, which request was partially granted after considerable dickering back and forth. The compromise was for an eight and a half hour day. The employers were reluctant to grant the change, and felt they must go something to get even.

They have accordingly agreed among not to permit visitors or others to converse with their employes during working hours. The rule is being rigidly adhered to with the result that the union employes affected are considerably worked up over the curtailment of their liberty.

"They don't object to the doors being barred to the omnipresent bill-collector, the indefatigable life insurance agent, or the pestering book man; but they think there are cases when to deprive them of a minute's interview with some one on urgent business, or to refuse them permission to speak a moment with some

WHEAT PRICES.

T. G. Montgomery Draws Contrast With Present and Past Market.

T. G. Montgomery, manager of the Puget Sound Warehouse Company of this city, who was a delegate to the grand lodge of the Knights of Pythias, said yesterday to the Oregon Daily Journal, in regard to Umatilla county farmers holding wheat for 70 cents per bushel:

"Wheat held for 70 cents is sharply in contrast with the years of the panic, when we saw wheat sold as low as 18 cents a bushel. Now, the farmers for the greater part have money in the bank, and have credit so good that they do not have to use it very frequently.

All in all, the county of Umatilla, which is easily the banner wheat county of Oregon, is rejoicing in prosperity, and has vast quantities of horticultural, live stock and agricultural wealth besides wheat to sell to the world."

Small Flood at La Grande.

The Perry Lumber Company each year opens the headgates of the great dam at the mills, four miles above La Grande, on the Grand Ronde river, for the purpose of washing out the sediment and collections of mud in the reservoir. Yesterday the dam was opened and the flood rushed down the channel, as usual, and swept away about a quarter of a mile of temporary track which the O. R.
& N. had laid out to a gravel pit, in the river bed, at Island City. The track was not totally destroyed, but was badly damaged and will delay work for a day or more.

New Irrigation Project.

For the past five weeks J. B. Golt has been out in the Juniper Flat country surveying the route for a flume between 25 and 30 miles long, which will bring water for irrigation and milling purposes to the residents of two and a half townships, says The Dalles Chronicle. Starting at Clear Lake about 10 miles south of Mt. Hood, from whence the supply comes. He encountered about two weeks of rain which greatly delayed work. The flume is to be put in by a Portland company.

Old Junk From Fire.

Eighteen tons of old junk and remnants of machinery was taken from the ruins of the Whitehouse-Crimmins planing mill and lumber yard yesterday and sold to a local junk dealer of Walla Walla.

NIGHT CLASSES.

Special Session of Pendleton Business College.

A night class has been started at the Business College for the accommodation of those who are anxious to attend the college, but have not the time in the day. It started with an enrollment of four pupils, and more are expected in a short time. The college now has an enrollment of 14 pupils and in a short time more are coming. The work of the school has been progressing well and a very successful term has been had so far.
