UNIONIZE THE SOUTH

TEXTILE WORKERS OF THE UNITED STATES.

Is Rapidly Affecting Amalgamation Of All Related Trades—Curious Conditions Shown to Exist in the Southern States, Where Labor is Cheap Because There are No Unions.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 20.—The second annual convention of the United Textile Workers of America, which opened in Philadelphia today, will devote a great deal of its time to the discussion of the unionizing of cotton mill labor in the South.

The present convention is the first since all branches of textile labor in the United States were amalgamated in the association. It has been only during the past year that the American Federation of Labor gave the association jurisdiction over the silk weavers. A number of independent cotton and woolen workers' unions have also been drawn into the larger organization, and now all are combined under the same jurisdiction. The organization includes unions of blanket weavers, woolen workers, bleachers, silk workers, knitters, passementerie workers, rug makers, carpet workers, lace workers and burlap workers. The convention began today has before it the huge task of making laws for the government of all these varied industries.

Conditions in the South. The unionizing of the Southern cotton mill workers is the most vexing question expected to come before the convention. The situation is made the more interesting by the popular belief that some of the leaders among the unionized workers of the North feel that they have the warm secret support of Northern manufacturers in their efforts to organize the Southern workers, as the accomplishment of this design would lessen the fast-growing advantage the Southern mills have in their competition against the Northerners.

The problem, however, is most difficult, and all the more so because the Southern workers have little union enthusiasm. They show a willingness to organize when approached by an aggressive organizer, and stick to the union so long as the organizer remains among them, but soon drift away when he leaves. The leaders of the movement say, however, that the present convention will tackle the Southern problem with a determination to solve it and to unionize the whole field. The ultimate object is to bring the Southern cotton mill worker up to the hours and wages of the Northern worker.

In order to instill interest among the Southern workers in the association and its objects it is probable that the officers to be chosen at this convention will include several workers from the South. The present officers are practically all from the New England field. The president and leading spirit of the association is James Tansey, of Fall River, and the secretary, Albert Hibbert, of the same place.

AN INCORRIGIBLE BOY.

Edward Clifford Warns Public Against Step-Son, Mathew Kiser.

Edward Clifford, the old gentleman who lives just over the mountain with his family, was in town yesterday looking for his oldest step-son and a mare he took from home, says the Long Creek Eagle.

Mr. Clifford wishes us to announce to the public that the boy is not his son, that he has no control over him whatever and warns anyone against harboring him. Mr. Clifford tried to get the county judge to send him to the reform school some time ago and preferred charges against him as incorrigible, but unfortunately the judge took the boy's word in preference to that of the old gentleman. The boy's name is Mathew Kiser, but is known around here as "a Clifford boy." Mr. Clifford has several bruises on his body at this time, which he says were caused by rocks thrown by this same boy, and also related that the boy threw a rock into the house recently which struck his mother on her head and knocked her down. If these are facts, and Mr. Clifford vouches for their truthfulness, the boy should be taken care of before he does something worse.

IDAHO SEEKING PRIZES.

Will Have Select Exhibits at the St. Louis Exposition.

The Boise Statesman, speaking of Idaho's effort to take prizes at the St. Louis exposition, says:

"World's Fair Commissioner Hurtt and his associates have so far secured between 500 and 600 boxes of very superior apples to be sent to St. Louis, where they will be placed in cold storage pending the opening of the exposition. Mr. Hurtt expects to have between 1000 and 1500 boxes.

"The agricultural exhibits thus far secured are very fine. There have been some good collections turned over to the commissioner from fairs so far held and 50 private collections have been added. The prospect is that a magnificent display of that character will be in place at St. Louis when the exposition opens.

"The Idaho Beekeepers' association will compete for the prizes offered for the best honey. A special display is being arranged in cases and it is expected the exhibit will be a prize winner in every feature.

NEW THEATER COMPANY.

Baker City Will Play Alone for the Coming Winter and Fight the Circuit.

Manager McCord, of the Baker City opera house, announces that he has organized a local stock company for the coming winter to play the Baker and Sumpter theaters, and will open the season at Baker on November 2.

Owing to the refusal of the theaters of La Grande and Baker City to contract with Mr. McCord, of the Northwest circuit, through which these cities would get all the first-class companies on the road, they are out of the circuit of the Northwest Association, and can only get companies not booked for the circuit, and consequently inferior. The organization of this local company is the outgrowth of this difference between the association and those theaters, and its progress will be watched with interest by those interested in theatricals.

LONG CREEK WATER WORKS.

Complete System Being Installed in Progressive Interior Town.

The water works are steadily progressing, says the Long Creek Light. The well is dug, the engine room is completed and the machinery will soon be all in, 15,000 pounds having been brought in this week, the engine alone weighing 1750 pounds.

Mr. Goodrich and S. T. Dinwiddie will commence work on the tower next week. The tower will be 50 feet high. On top of this will be placed a round metal tank, 12 feet deep. The tank will be enclosed all around and top and bottom with a wall of concrete two feet thick.

This will keep the water cool in summer and keep it from freezing in winter. It will be several weeks before this work is completed, but when finished it will afford plenty of water for house use, for irrigation purposes and to use in case of fire.

A BAD TOWN.

Antelope, Wasco County, Maintains Her Olden Reputation.

Antelope has been behaving herself so well of late that she is about to lose her record for being the "ring" of Wasco county, says The Dalles Chronicle. She had a stabbing fray, however, last week, which reminds us somewhat of her old-time stunts. As usual, the affray occurred in a saloon and was the result of a rough and tumble between William Gilsan and Ed Jones, a shepherd, the latter getting the worst of the bargain. Jones is in a critical condition, three bad wounds being the result, one of them to the right of the heart and the other two about the shoulder. Parties coming down from there, however, bring word that it is now thought he will recover. Gilsan was arrested and put under $2,000 bonds.

To the Public.

Commencing Monday evening, October 19th, the following will close their respective drug stores in the evenings as follows: Every evening during week at 9 o'clock except Saturday, when stores will be kept open until 10 o'clock on don Sundays will close at 8 p. m.
