FOREIGHT-HOUR DAY

MANUFACTURERS AND EMPLOYERS WILL FIGHT.

Nine or Ten Hour Day Necessary to be Able to Compete With Foreign Manufacturers — Unfair to the Farmer and Demoralizing to the Laborer Himself.

Ashland, O., Nov. 21.—In view of the effort for eight-hour legislation which organized labor's representatives have already begun in Washington, F. E. Myers of this place, president of the National Association of Agricultural Implement and Vehicle Dealers and a leader among the prominent employers of the country who have organized for the purpose of combating what they regard as the unreasonable and unjust demands of the labor unions, has given forth the following statement of his views:

"The tendency in the direction of an eight-hour schedule for labor demands the attention of every employer. From a manufacturer's standpoint, the future of our country depends very largely on whether we can have the labor of our employes 9 to 10 hours per day and get results as we have heretofore, or be compelled to recognize the eight-hour schedule."

Economically Necessary.

"I have always taken the position that if we can have the services of our artisans and mechanics from 9 to 10 hours per day, we can compete against any country in the world and, practically without protection, and that the future of our country and its growth in the introduction of manufactured articles into foreign lands depend very largely on our ability to do this. During my travels in foreign countries I found where the eight-hour schedule existed that conditions were decidedly unfavorable, resulting disastrously to the employer because of his loss of business that went to others more favorably situated, and the fact that the laborer who has time to stop at questionable resorts on his way to work before 8 a. m., and to do so on returning at 5 p. m., becomes demoralized."

Unfair to the Farmer.

"I have also taken the position that it is manifestly unfair to the farmer who, to make it pay, is compelled to go to work at 6 or 7 a. m., and continue until 6 or 7 p. m. The farmer boy would become discontented with his lot to the extent of leaving the farm still more rapidly if he were to hear our whistle and that of others at 8 o'clock in the morning, and on completion of the day at 5 o'clock. This would certainly have its effect on the young men on the farm and is another reason why we should have the nerve to fight every effort on the part of politicians to secure an eight-hour schedule. They are largely the instigators of this plan, and for political promotion solely."

"In my judgment, every member of the National Association of Agricultural Implement and Vehicle Dealers should make it a point to reach the ear of every one in power in his district and oppose this growing sentiment that will certainly prove disastrous to our interests for the reasons given and many others that might be enumerated. In my judgment it is decidedly better to advance the pay of labor working 9 to 10 hours per day than to grant a reduction in time for the same pay, and produce goods for the markets of the world."

THE DOCTORS AGREE.

Two Physicians Both Agree on the New Scientific Dandruff Treatment.

Dr. W. G. Alban, of Walla Walla,

Wash., says: "I find Herpside all that is claimed for it as a dandruff cure. I shall prescribe it." Dandruff is a germ disease and you can't cure it unless you kill the dandruff germ; and you can't do that unless you use Newbro's Herpside, the only preparation in the world that destroys the parasites. ### LAUNDRY LINES.

Never use brown soap when washing woolen goods.

Salt rubbed on the bottom of a sticky iron will smooth the surface.

Calicoes, ginghams and chintzes should be ironed on the wrong side.

Delicate cotton goods which might be spoiled by starch may be stiffened by wringing them out in milk.

Lace handkerchiefs should be washed with castile soap in warm water, in which are a few drops of ammonia.

Fabrics that are inclined to fade should be soaked and rinsed in very salt water to set the color before washing in suds.

If old kid gloves are worn when ironing or a layer of kid or leather put in the iron holder, the "burnt" hands are not so apt to become calloused.

Paraffin wax in starch is frequently employed to give a brilliant finish to the starched article and also to prevent the iron from sticking. Add a piece the size of a walnut to the boiling starch.

Children's Appetites.

To promote children's appetites take care that they have plenty of outdoor exercise and that they have only such simple, homely food as they can digest. If this be done, there will seldom if ever be any cause for anxiety on the score of their lack of appetite.

If children are fed an highly seasoned and rich foods and are allowed to eat between meals, their little stomachs are overtaxed, and not only do they lose all healthy appetite, but the food they take does not nourish them as it should do.

Illness is a most expensive and in most cases a preventable nuisance, and the best way to keep children happy and good is to keep them well, which is usually easily managed by attending to simple rules of health.

A child's appetite is a pretty fair indicator of health, so if it falls and the failure is not due to indiscretion in diet see whether it is worried over lessons and has enough sleep. Keep it from reading sensational stories and, if needed, give it a short holiday from school.

Says It's a Pleasure.

Walla Walla, Wash., Sept. 3, 1903.—It is a pleasure for me to be able to recommend TRIB as a liquor and tobacco cure, and as a treatment to cleanse the entire system. F. S. Lewis, ex-champion middleweight wrestler of the world.

Taken from Life in the Year 1903

ACT I
Proper and fastidious buyer addressed the grocer: "I wish you to my order 2 pounds of best Java and Mocha, fresh roasted, and other fine. I want this good as we are giving a party, so give me the best and please be particular that coffee."

ACT II
Now the next question is, what happens in Act 2. Does the grocer dig into the two-bit coffee next to the cod fish box, grind up some six-weeks-old coffee and charge it up as Java and Mocha at 40c per lb? Or does he really give the customer what is ordered, a high grade coffee, fresh roasted, and charge at a fair profit.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?
Supposing there were two grocers in a well settled, prosperous community, one following the first plan and the other the latter. Which do you think at the end of a year's time would have most of the well-to-do customers? Which would have the best and most profitable coffee trade?
During the years that we have been sending out high grade Java and Mocha, we have watched the profitable coffee trade moving slowly but surely to the house that sells the best coffee.
We offer you the best coffee that money will buy. We ask you to try them and be convinced.
