BOYS' AND GIRLS' RALLY PROVES SUCCESS.

Christian Church Was Crowded to Overflowing Last Night to Listen to an Elaborate Program—There Was Excellent Singing—The Tableau of "Columbia" Was Feature of Evening—Collection $26.

A large audience, estimated at over 1,000 persons, with many turned away, greeted the children of the Christian Sunday school last night to observe the "Boys and Girls' Rally day." The children in their songs, recitations and exercises showed careful training, doing their parts in an excellent manner, which reflects great credit on the committee who had the program in charge. The choir of the church, assisted by the organ, piano and two violins, helped the children in their songs, making inspiring music.

The "Healing of the Nations," in which eleven young ladies, all dressed in white and each carrying the flag of a different nation, took part, each telling why they came to this country and all desiring the protection of "Columbia," was one of the prettiest things on the program. This concluded the exercises with a tableau in which Columbia had taken all the different nationalities under the protecting care of the Stars and stripes.

The collection was $26 and will be used for missionary work in America.

Visiting Editor.

Arthur D. Moe, editor and publisher of the Plaindealer, Grand Forks, N. D., accompanied by his wife, stopped over in the city last night, en route home from an extended visit to the coast and southern Oregon. Mr. Moe thinks that twenty acres of Oregon soil, that he has seen in different portions of the state, would be more profitable than 160 acres of wheat land in the Red River valley, where his home town is located, and he will start a boom for Oregon on his return home.

Begin Work at Eight O'Clock.
Owing to the change in the O. R. & N. schedule, the yard crew, under Steve Leonard, in this city, will not go to work hereafter until 8 o'clock in the morning, instead of 7 o'clock. This will permit the crew to work in the evening until the arrival of No. 1 at 6:40 from Spokane, in order to put the cars in that train away on arrival here.

PEO IN DISGRACE

HIS TRIBESMEN REFUSE TO BELIEVE HIM

Once Powerful Indian Now a Byword—Squaws Turn Away in Disgust When He Talks to Them—He Has Abused the Trust Transmitted to Him, Through Drunkenness.

To illustrate in what utter disgrace Chief Peo, of the Umatillas, is now held by his people, it is only necessary to repeat a short conversation between a full-blood young Indian of the reservation and a representative of the East Oregonian.

In writing a short sketch of the old chief, for his sixty-first birthday anniversary, which he celebrated on November 12, a reporter of this paper asked this young Indian in question several questions concerning Peo's life and family. The Indian answered about a dozen leading questions in good English, and, growing tired of the quizzing, suddenly quit talking, grew sullen and pulled his blanket about his shoulders in a proud, defiant manner, and in a changed tone of voice said:

"Why do you ask so many questions about this old dog?"

The reporter explained that Peo was 61 years old on that day and that it would be very nice to publish a short sketch of the chief on his birthday anniversary.

"How do you know he is 61 years old today?" demanded the young Indian.

"He told me so, was the reply. And then in scorn that it is impossible to portray in words this proud Umatilla drew his blanket over his mouth, scowled magnificently and, as he turned to walk away, almost uttered, "Nobody believes what Peo says."

The sentence contained volumes of local history, familiar to every man in Pendleton and vicinity, who has noted the decline of the old chief. The younger Indians have been taught to hate him on account of his faithlessness to the hereditary trust imposed upon him. He is a byword among the tribesmen. None of them keep him company. He rides to town alone, sits on the street alone and rides home alone at night.

He stopped to talk to a papoose, strapped to its mother's back, on Main street, a few days ago, when the young mother haughtily wheeled away and left the old man talking to himself.

He is breaking fast this winter. His hair is growing whiter and his eyes more dim. The wind chills him more easily and his visits to town are not so frequent.

"SHIELDS PARK" THEATRE.

A Thanksgiving Offering to All This Week.

No doubt this week the park theatre will be crowded to the doors to witness the splendid program being offered.

There will be fun for the little ones—fun for the older ones and a good time for all.

Prof. Hunt's dog and monkey circus will be the leading feature. He has just been drawing big houses at Baker City, the seemingly human intelligence displayed by these animals being remarkable. Then they have the Phelps trio, a novelty weighted with laughter, showing Uncle Rube's first visit to the city and their balky mule. William Pierson, the comedy acrobat, is also very clever; Revill & Company, black face songs, comedy and music. Little Bessie La Vern will please in her inimitable way and splendid moving pictures will constitute a fine week's bill, to say nothing of a comical contest for the boys and handsome prizes to be drawn. You will be thankful if you go this week.

MRS. F. W. WAITE DEAD.

Has Been Ill for Several Months at Colfax and the End Was Not Unexpected.

Charles J. Bean, secretary of the local lodge of Elks, received a message from F. W. Waite, at Colfax, today, stating that Mrs. Waite had passed away at that place this morning. She has been very ill for several months, and grew so much worse last Saturday that Mr. Waite, who was in this city at the time, was sent for. On his arrival at Colfax he saw that there was no hope for his wife, and his friends here expected the sad news.

The Elks lodge sent a beautiful floral wreath to Colfax today, as a token of sympathy with the husband, who is a member of the lodge. No funeral arrangements have been made at this time.

MAY CONTINUE SERVICES.

Interest in the Methodist Revival is Greatly Increasing.

The meetings at the Methodist church on Thompson street are largely attended and the interest is increasing nightly, with a possibility that they will be continued all of next week at least. Rev. Armfield returned to the city this morning and will assist Mr. Warner for the remainder of this week. Yesterday there were eleven accessions to the Methodist church, North.

Doesn't Respect Old Age.

It's shameful when youth fails to show proper respect for old age, but just the contrary in the case of King's New Life Pills. They cut off maladies no matter how severe and irrespective of old age. Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Fever, Constipation, all yield to this perfect Pill. 25c at Tallman & Co's.

Robert Gardner, of Oregon City, was sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary, Saturday, for mayhem.

In speaking of the condition of the sheep of Grant county, Mr. Ambrose says that thus far he finds sheep free from the scab.
