Quotations on Staples Furnished by Local Merchants and Revised Daily.

Eggs are still quoted at 35 cents, and the demand is better than was ex-pected the week following the Thanks-giving market. It keeps the grocers guessing to supply the market. One of the marked features of the Pendle-ton market is the amount of bread handled during the winter months. It is estimated 1,000 loaves of bread per day are handled by Pendleton grocers, aside from the amounts sent direct from the bakeries. Although several complaints of short loaves have been made in Spokane and Seattle this winter, Pendleton bakeries have experi-enced no such trouble. Potatoes are scarcer than was anticipated in the fall, and it will be necessary to ship in many tons of outside potatoes, unless local growers develop greater re-sources than at present shown, in the

INSPECTORS' OFFICE ABOLISHED

Seattle Wipes Out the Position and Salary of Meat Inspector.

Seattle, Dec. 1.-The finance committee or the city council yesterday refused to appropriate any more funds for the positions of city meat inspector and two quarantine guards The two guard positions were, in effeet, abolished as being unnecessary while the meat inspector's office is not to be re-established until a thor-tuably competent man to fill it can be recured. W. R. Suder, the present mass inspector, has resigned on account of the small salary stached to the po-tition, and will leave the city's conploy December 1.
