TRAFFIC IS HEAVY

OVER 200 FREIGHT CARS THROUGH PENDLETON DAILY

Four Regular Freight Trains Run Each Day With One Extra in Addition—Ore, Lumber and Ties East—Coal, Merchandise and Wood to the West—All Departments Busy.

Traffic on the O. R. & N. is probably heavier just now aside from any special rush of local produce, than at any time for many years.

There are four regular freight trains on the main line, Nos. 21 and 22 west-bound, and Nos. 23 and 24 east-bound. Each one of these trains runs every day, and in addition about six extra freight trains are run each week.

These freight trains are made up on an average of 45 cars each, making a total average of cars passing through Pendleton about 220 each day.

There is no special shipment now being made, but this number of cars is used in the ordinary traffic consisting of lumber, ties, ore, merchandise, coal and wood.

The last large shipment to be made over the O. R. & N. aside from the wheat and wool shipments this year, was 2,000 carloads of piling for the Ogden-Lucan cut-off over the arm of Salt Lake, on the Southern Pacific. Lumber, bridge timber and ties form the heavy east-bound shipments and coal and merchandise the west-bound shipments at the present time. Since the O. R. & N. has substituted Wyoming coal for Roslyn coal on the engines of The Dalles and Portland divisions, it has stimulated coal shipments from the East to the extent of 25 cars per day.

Most of the ore passing east comes from the Coeur d'Alene mining district and is sent to smelters at Denver and Pueblo. The lumber and ties go as far east as Illinois, and are loaded by the railroad in Wyoming, Nebraska and Iowa.

The heavy traffic is making work for every department. The 14 heavy freight engines and five helpers on the mountain division are worked to the limit to keep the volume of business moving.

There are two helpers at Kamela, one of which comes to Pendleton almost every day to help trains, one is located at Telocaset and two at Pleasant Valley. These engines run about 130 miles each, every 12 hours and all except the Telocaset helper have two crews each, working 12 hours. The total amount of coal used in the helper service is about 2,000 tons per month and the cost of the helpers on the mountain division amounts to over $20,000 per month.

Passenger traffic is equally heavy, every passenger train over the main line being made up of from seven to 12 cars, with standing room at a premium in the day coaches.

It will be necessary to put on another passenger train to accommodate the homeseeker rush to the West, if the ordinary business of the road remains at its present magnitude.

RAISING ORDERS

PROCESS INCREASES CENTS TO DOLLARS.

Original Order Issued From Pendleton Office—One Has Been Cashied, the Other Was Found in Portland Either Lost or Thrown Away—Many Similar Instances of Late.

Postmaster Livermore has in his possession a money order issued from this office that has been cleverly raised from 45 cents to $45.

The order was issued to a man giving his name as Davis, and was drawn in favor of an Eastern firm in payment for a small amount of mail merchandise. It was issued November 12, and the amount was never checked as paid by the Eastern office.

Several days ago Mr. Livermore received a letter from the proprietor of the Portland Club, in Portland, stating that an order for $45 had been picked up on the floor of the club-rooms, and that the owner could not be located. The office here saw from the number of the order and the amount that something was wrong, and sent for the order. When returned this morning it was entirely altered. The name of the place had been changed from the Eastern office to Walla Walla, and all of the marks and even the signature had been erased. The only mark left was a slight shadow where there had been some figures in the cents column of the order, while all of the erased places had been filled in, making an apparently bona fide order, calling for $45 in favor of W. H. Brooks, of Walla Walla.

It is supposed that the man had raised the order expecting to transfer it as payment for merchandise or something of that sort, and had become frightened and thrown it away. There have been a lot of orders passed in this way in the last week or two. In Portland there were three orders raised from 45 and 75 cents to $45 and $75 and money realized on them. The same man who purchased the order turned into the office here this morning, purchased another one for 75 cents at nearly the same time, and the whereabouts of this latter order is not yet known.

DEATH OF MRS. HEWETT.

Old Settler of Long Creek Widely Known and Respected.

Mrs. J. H. Hewett, of Long Creek, died at the hospital this morning at 9:30 o'clock of Bright's disease.

Mrs. Hewett was the wife of J. H. Hewett, of Long Creek, one of the old settlers of that place and a man who is well known there, where he is engaged in the furniture business.

The deceased was born in England 55 years ago, and came to this country about 35 years ago. She has lived in Long Creek for many years and leaves a large circle of friends. She has been a sufferer from Bright's disease for some time, and was brought to this city on Saturday last in the hope that the better facilities for treatment to be obtained here would result in her gaining her health once more, but the disease had secured too great a hold on her, and she died suddenly this morning.

Mrs. Hewett leaves two sons, C. D. Wilson, of this city, and W. R. Wilson, of Goldendale, Wash., besides her husband to mourn her loss.

The husband of Mrs. Hewett has been comforted with by telephone, and it will be impossible for him to be present, so that the funeral will be conducted from Rader's undertaking parlors, tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

FINISHING TOUCHES.

New Sewer System Ready for Official Trial in Short Time.

The contractors who have charge of the work on the sewer are now overseeing the end of the work. All of the pipe, about nine miles in round numbers, has been laid and the men are now engaged in putting the streets in as good condition as possible after having had them torn up, are testing the automatic flush tanks, and looking after the connections to see that all is fit before the work is turned over for the inspection of the city.

The sewer will cost in round numbers $47,000 or $48,000, and is guaranteed to be satisfactory by the contractors in every particular before the city has to pay for the work.

It will be a week or ten days before the official test is made by the city council, and in that interval everything will be finished, and all of the details in the work will be finished, so that when the city receives it there will be no further work to be done, and no complications will arise.

LARCENY BY BAILEE.

Robert McGee of Athena in Court for Appropriating Carpenter's Brace.

Robert McGee of Athena was arraigned this morning in the court of Justice of the Peace Fitz Gerald, charged with larceny by bailee, committed at Athena some days ago.

The complaining witness in the case is N. A. Miller, who accuses the boy of having borrowed a ratchet brace from him some time ago and having since neglected to return it. When spoken to about the matter, he still refused to return the tool and the complainant had him arrested.

McGee was brought before the court and plead not guilty to the charge and was allowed to go on his own recognizance pending the time of the trial. The date of the trial has not been fixed, but will be as soon as the witnesses can be gathered together.

Resumes Work After Fire.

Walla Walla, Dec. 3.—After an enforced idleness of several weeks, caused by being burned out, the Whitehouse-Crimmins Lumber company will start up its new milling plant Monday morning. The machinery has all been placed and about all that remains to put the plant in running order is to fit several steam pipes in the engine room and finish up a few odds and ends around the mill.

O. D. Teel, of Echo, is in the city today on a brief business visit.

Horses Are Cheap.

Owing to the scarcity of hay in the Sherman, Morrow and Gilliam county range districts, horses are very cheap this fall. Hay on some ranches in those counties is selling for $16 to $18 per ton, and all kinds of horse stock is cheap. Many of the horses running on the range will not be gathered in for winter on account of the scarcity of feed, and many more of them will be driven into Klamath and Lake counties, where hay is some cheaper and the winter range better.

IN THE SUPREME COURT.

Arguments About Oleomargarine—Alien Immigration Problem.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Oral arguments are being heard in the supreme court today against the constitutionality of the oleomargarine law passed by the last congress. The arguments cover four cases, three from Chicago, the fourth from Cincinnati. The arguments made by Guthrie, of New York, judge of Outcault county, is a contention that the tax of 10 cents on oleomargarine colored in imitation of butter is discriminatory and prohibitive of the manufacture of oleomargarine, and therefore an illegal encroachment on the police powers of the United States. The case, which has attracted particular interest, will be heard tomorrow.

Who Are Alien Immigrants?

The case is being heard of Isabella Nonzalis, of Porto Rico, against Immigration Commissioner Williams, of New York. The plaintiff is denied admission as an alien immigrant. She contends that the treaty by which Porto Rico came into the possession of the United States nationalized her. The decision will be far-reaching, as it covers the native islanders of all the insular possessions of the United States.
