MAY RULE RUSSIA

THE CZAROWITZ IS NOW
TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OLD

is Nephew of the Present Czar, Who Has Never Fathered a Son—is an Avowed Imperialist of the Aggressive School—Originally Frail, He is Now Robust in Health.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 4.—Religious services were held throughout the empire today in celebration of the twenty-fifth birthday of Grand Duke Michael, heir apparent to the throne, who was born November 22, O. S. (December 4) 1878. The services also included Thanksgivings for the czarina's progress toward recovery.

Notwithstanding the fact that he appears destined to become the czar of all the Russias the czarowitz is probably the least known publicly of any of the members of the imperial family, and it is difficult to realize that the frail, sickly youth, who never was expected to reach manhood, is now 25 years old.

The grand duke is the third son of the late czar Alexander III, and as a youth he gave promise of a useful future, though his elder brother, Grand Duke George, heir apparent to the throne, naturally came in for a larger share of public notice. With the death of the latter, a few years ago, and the continued failure of the present czarina to bear a son, it has become more and more of a certainty that the young grand duke will some day be summoned to stay the sceptre of the vast Russian domains.

Is a Typical Russian.

He is said by those intimately acquainted with him to be a typical Russian in appearance and habits of mind. As he has grown older he has likewise grown stronger and more robust and is said to resemble his father much more than does the present czar. This resemblance has won for him a high regard from the Russian people, who have never become reconciled to the idea of being ruled by a little man such as Nicholas II.

The grand duke Michael is said to have a strong sympathy with the Russian national aspirations of the "world empire," and it is believed he would push his country's advantages in Asia and take a dominant attitude in Europe should he inherit the responsibilities of the throne.

As yet the young grand duke is believed to be heart whole and fancy free, though rumor has had him betrothed to Princess Margaret of Connaught and several other of the eligible princesses of Europe.

BROTHERS DROWNED.

McFarland Boys Meet Death in Snake River Eddy.

Lewiston, Dec. 4.—Word reached the city yesterday afternoon that Ephriam and Bert McFarland, brothers, aged 28 and 24 years respectively, were drowned in the Salmon river eddy Wednesday night. The Salmon river eddy is one of the dangerous whirls of the upper Snake river and is located about a mile below the mouth of the Salmon river.

The McFarland brothers were engaged in saving the wreckage from the steamer Innaha and were en route to Cottonwood bar with a load of salvage at the time of the accident.

Associated with the McFarland brothers in saving the wreckage from the Innaha were Frank and John Carslay, all of whom had been employees of the Lewiston Southern Navigation company and were with the steamer Innaha at the time of the wreck.

CARNEGIE LIBRARY.

Structure Just Completed at Alexandria, Indiana.

Bangor, Me., Dec. 4.—The Christie library, which has been in course of construction here for more than a year, is now complete and today the building was formally dedicated. Exercises appropriate to the occasion were held, among the speakers and prominent participants being Miss Morica Hoagland of Indianapolis, state library organizer and President Robert Lincoln Kelly of Earlham college.

The library building is of handsome design and contains every modern convenience in the way of equipment for the purposes for which it is intended.

M. E. CONFERENCE.

Georgia Methodists in Session at Brunswick.

Alexander, Ind., Dec. 4.—The carnal session of the Savannah conference of the M. E. church began in Brunswick today and will continue until the middle of the coming week. In addition to the customary appointments and other perfunctory business the program of the conference provides for sermons and addresses by a number of distinguished divines and lay workers of the church. The attendance of delegates and visitors is large.

"Slotless" Slot Machines.

Seattle, Dec. 4.—Sheriff Cudihoe has so far taken no steps to precipitate another of those tiresome "test" cases by seizing the new fangled "slotless slot machine," now on exhibition. Nor do the cigar men display any great eagerness to stir up the animals by putting up other machines of the sort. The "slotless" is still the only one of its kind in the city. So far, too, the slumbers of "Procrustean Attorney" Scott seem to be undisturbed by the advent of the "slotless," although Deputy Prosecutor Kriete is quietly looking for new dope in the law books.
