THEATERDOM

Plays and Players and Their Realm

Miss Bertha Matlock, who will come to the Frazer next Tuesday in a dramatic recital, is a daughter of E. L. Matlock, deceased, of Heppner, and is a native of the city of Heppner. She is a sister of Mrs. T. W. Ayers and Mrs. E. A. Vaughn of this city and a niece of Mayor-elect W. F. Matlock of this city.

Miss Matlock resides with another sister, Mrs. A. A. Roberts, in Portland, and has just graduated from the Gillispie School of Expression, of Portland. She has given dramatic readings and recitals in all the Willamette Valley cities, and will make this her chosen profession.

She has made a decided success in all her entertainments, and her appearance in this city is anticipated with great pleasure. Her ability is of a high order, and the papers from the valley towns, where she has appeared, speak in the highest terms of her.

The Gillispie School of Expression is a thorough institution, and graduation from it means that the student is proficient in the art of elocution, or it would not issue the graduation papers. Miss Matlock stood high in her class, and has received numerous comments on the high order of her natural ability, which she has added to the art as learned in that institution.

Her many friends in Unatilla and

Morrow counties are glad to note her advancement to the front rank of elocutionists in the state, and her reception in Eastern Oregon will be cordial in the extreme.

Prof. Zan, who accompanies her, is director of the choir in the Portland cathedral and is one of the very first musicians of the state.

"Way Down East," the celebrated rural play, has already seen several seasons, and that length of time in things theatrical brings a play to old age. But "Way Down East" has not even thought of outliving its usefulness. Three companies presenting the play are booked solid for three years to come.

Undoubtedly the majority of theater-goers have seen the play, but there is a certain fascination that brings them back for a second and even a third visit.

Then, again, the local managers will tell you that "Way Down East" brings people to the theaters who will not be seen at any other play during the entire season.

Manager Brady has wisely kept his companies and productions up to his original high standard, and so long as he continues along the same line "Way Down East" will remain the mainstay of his growing bank account.

WEEKLY FASHION LETTER.

New York, Dec. 12.—A perfectly gowned woman is beautiful to look upon, and to be faultlessly garbed requires uncompromising self-analysis. Herein lies the secret of many a woman's fame as a leader of fashion and to a lack of observation of this fact can be traced the disappointment many experience in duplicating a pretty gown which may have been seen and admired.

Women who fail to study their weak points, as well as their strong ones, are never successful dressers. As one arbiter of the modes expresses it, no detail should be left unconsidered from the size of the feet to the color of the hair.

Must Be Used Judiciously.

There are several materials and colors this season that either make or mar one. For instance, take the new shades of green. Never were the shades daintier or prettier, but the dark tones require radiant cheeks and bright, sparkling eyes, and woe to the pale-faced sister who attempts to wear them. Then there are pinks that "fight" the color of the hair if it is burnished gold, sheeny yellow or Titian brown. In its stead, the soft, flaky whites should be used; then, for very black hair, there are warm reds, pink and geranium tints.

A chapter could be written on the subject of chevelure, for with the great variety of styles of arranging the coiffure it is the easiest matter possible to go awry. The fashionable little novelties for hair, however, help to solve this problem greatly. For long, slender faces there are dainty wreaths of leaves or flowers, white if the ears are a pretty pink and pink if the ears lack color. For straight, obstinate hair, there come fluffy little imitation curls to be arranged around unlovely foreheads and above the curls should be worn a half wreath of leaves or flowers.

Smooth Faced Materials.

Very pretty bunches of violets come for decorating the coiffure, but a word of warning must be given concerning them. They should not be worn unless the gown itself is of a harmonizing shade. Harmony and contrast is an important consideration for hair, flowers and gown and so little a de-

The burnished plumage of the peacock owes its brilliancy and splendor to a healthful condition. Let the bird be sickly, and the plumage droops and grows dull. There is no exception in nature to the rule that beauty depends on health.

Women who see their beauty waning rarely associate the external change with failure of the womanly health. They do not understand the close relation of the general physical health to the health of the delicate womanly organism, until after being cured of womanly diseases by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they find the color returning to the cheek and the flesh to the body.

"Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"Several years ago I was very poorly," writes Mrs. May Kelley, of Sylvia, Kans., "so weak I could hardly walk across the floor, and at times suffered severely. I took two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and got well and hardy—gained twelve pounds in two months and was the picture of health. Your medicines have cured me. Almost everybody I meet says, 'You look so much better than you have for several years; you look well now.'"

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a lady's laxative. Nothing equals them for gentleness and thoroughness.

tail if neglected can offset an other wise exquisite effect.

The way in which the mixed fabrics have been overdone has resulted in a return of smooth faced materials and these are more elegant than ever. The long coat continues a favorite design for street wear, but with modifications. Though the back remains close-fitting, there is a tendency to less and less draw the front into the figure. Then, the square effect is less often observed. Instead the three-quarter coats are rounded away from the front and bound with satin or velvet. This is the most masculine of the season's modes, for the great effect this year has been to avoid anything that is not strictly womanly.

Some Pretty Novelties.

One of the most picturesque materials just now is metal gray velvet. It makes really serviceable and handsome gowns. One very chic design has the blouse gathered under a pointed yoke, which might also be called a collar. This opens at the front, showing a jabot of cream lace on which are large buttons of dark gray satin, hand painted with delicate floral designs.

An effective feature of the toilette is the sleeves, which are gathered up the inside seam from the top to the wrist and are very long, wrinkling over the hand. There is a wide girdle of panne velvet decorated with a gun metal buckle studded with amethysts. The skirt flares smartly around the bottom, but is rather plain. Except for a few strappings of velvet piped with white and secured here and there with gray velvet buttons, there was no trimming on the skirt.

Each season the fad for wearing light wash shirt waists grows and this is why so many pretty designs are shown in the shops. A few years ago it was quite out of the question to buy a stylish lawn waist in mid-winter; but now such waists are displayed in models that would do credit to July or August sales. Pretty embroidered fronts and yokes of tucks and lace are the favorite trimmings for these waists. Very thin ones of French null and organdie can be worn over corset covers of pale blue and pink silk with dainty effect.

BARBER SHOP APPLIANCES.

Electrical and Compressed Air Outfit Installed by Krassig & Sharp.

Krassig & Sharp, barbers, have received their new facial and scalp massage outfits, and have had the electrical massage installed, so that they are now at the front rank of all the shops in the city in the way of modern appliances. The face and scalp treatment is run with compressed air, and thus can be used at any time, while the face massage is supplied with a current from a storage battery, making it available at any time of the day.

It's the Climate.

Bobbie Jones, a 15-year-old boy, whom his mother insists is incorrigible, was committed to the reform school today, says the Seattle Star. His mother filed a petition for his commitment about two weeks ago, and Judge Tallman was about to send him to Chehalis at that time, but Everett Smith, an attorney who was in the court room during the hearing, offered to look after him a little if the judge would give him one more chance. Instead of improving in his habits, however, Bobbie is said to have become even more depraved, and, in fact, is said to have been hard-hearted enough to actually pull the hair of his widowed mother when she attempted to chastise him.
