MISSING MAN FOUND.

Body of J. D. Mock, of Grant's Pass, Found at Yale, Idaho, After Nine Months' Search.

Pocatello, Dec. 26.—The body of J. D. Mock, of Grant's Pass, Or., who has been missing for the past nine months, was found on Thursday evening near Yale, in this state. He had evidently just died from exposure and exhaustion, and his ticket, money and papers were all found undisturbed on the person.

Last April Mr. Mock bought a ticket from Grant's Pass to Albia, Iowa, and left his home with the intention of going directly to Iowa, and after leaving Grant's Pass was never seen by his friends again until his remains were found Thursday at Yale.

He had evidently become demented and on reaching Huntington had started to walk to his destination. The records of the O. R. & N. show that he rode on his ticket from Portland to Huntington, but there all traces of him vanished. The Short Line railroad company has prosecuted a diligent search for him for the past nine months, as his ticket had never been used and no trace of it could be found in any possible manner.

His son, who resides at Grant's Pass, has also made a thorough search going from house to house all through Oregon, in search of some trace.

The old gentleman was over 40 years old, and the supposition is that he became demented and when he reached Huntington, left the train and walked until he died from sheer exhaustion. Yale is 277 miles from Huntington, and he had walked the entire distance, it is thought. All his papers, money and ticket to Albia, Iowa, were in his pocket.

FOOTBALL WAS VERY ONESIDED

PENDLETON TEAM HAD IT ALL THEIR OWN WAY

Indians Had Plenty of Courage and Activity, but Were Shy of Skill—They Only Need Practice and Coaching to Be a Fine Team—Score Stood Twenty to Naught at the Conclusion of Game.

The football game yesterday afternoon was a very one-sided affair, and this with the cold and the fact that it took more time to get the ball in play after a foul than to make the play, or to make a score, combined to make it uninteresting for the patriotic cranks who braved the cold and the frost to see the game.

The Pendleton boys had the best of it from the first, and at no time was their goal in danger, while the Indians made one steady fight for victory from the time the game was called until the last half was finished.

With a little coaching and enough practice to teach them to play together, they could make it very interesting for the Pendleton boys.

The scores were frequent and easy and at the end of the game the result stood 21 to 0 in favor of the local team.

CHAS. A. WHEELER DEAD.

A Native of Massachusetts and 76 Years of Age.

The funeral of Charles A. Wheeler was conducted this morning at 10 o'clock from the residence of the son, C. S. Wheeler, on Alta street, Rev. Robert Dixon, of the Presbyterian church, conducting the services.

Mr. Wheeler was born in North Adams, Mass., June 23, 1827, and during his early youth lived in several places in the East, though he always retained a great fondness for his old home. About four years ago he came to this city, where he had since made his home with his son, the well known photographer.

His illness was short and the end came suddenly, though not unexpectedly to the family. Some time ago, while visiting his homestead, he caught a bad cold which developed into an attack of pneumonia, which rapidly grew worse until death came on Christmas eve.

Two sons and three daughters survive the death of their father, C. S. Wheeler and Miss Maude Wheeler, of this city; Fred Wheeler, of Peterson, Iowa; Mrs. Carpenter, of Renny, Wis., and Mrs. Mary Reynolds, of Burlington, Iowa.

Mrs. Oma Garner, the woman from Heppner who started for the East with Will Davis, of Heppner, intending there to secure a divorce from her husband and marry the other man, has returned to Arlington, where she will join her husband and live in the future.

Wednesday afternoon Mr. Garner had a conference with his wife over the telephone, and peace was patched up and she agreed to go to Arlington, though she refused to live longer in Heppner. Domestic felicity reigns once more in the Garner family, and the cause of the trouble is benefited by the $120 which the lady gave him to keep, and which he failed to return to her when he took his leave from her at the depot in this city.

GREAT STORM ON EASTERN COAST

Few Details Have Yet Reached the Outside World From Boston and New York.

LARGE DREDGER WAS SUNK BOSTON HARBOR.

Boston, Dec. 26.—General Poe, the largest dredger in the harbor, suddenly sunk this afternoon in the storm. George Coombs, a government employe, William O'Neill and Thomas Jones, blacksmiths, were drowned. Thirteen men were aboard and 10 were rescued. The dredger was being towed at the time the accident occurred. When the blast struck everything in the harbor either hunted moorings, or doubled their anchorage. Today was a good day in the recorder's court, there being eight men before the recorder, from which $45 was collected to go towards taking up some of the bills of the city.

Three of the men were gypsies belonging to the band that has been infesting the city for some days, and the rest were Indians, and all were celebrating Christmas in the way that suited them best. They stated to the court that as everyone made a point of celebrating the day they failed to see why they should be fined for its observance. The gypsies were fined for fighting, and the rest for being drunk.

FORGER PARKER IS CAUGHT AT CONDON

Escaped From the Train at Arlington.

Had Secreted a Pair of Overalls, Jumper, Cap and Shoes in a Light Grip Unawares to the Detective—Broke Shackles From His Ankles and Walked to Condon—Parker Will Be Prosecuted.

Thurlow W. Parker, the forger, who made his escape from Detective Jo Day, of Portland, in a rather extraordinary manner on Tuesday night, was captured at 11 o'clock Thursday night while sitting in a hotel at Condon, Gilliam county, by Sheriff Johnson, of that county.

Parker made his escape from train No. 3, at Arlington, about midnight Tuesday night, while Day was snoring soundly in a berth opposite, unmindful of his movements. Day had placed Parker in a berth in the tourist, with the shackles on his feet, after giving all the prisoner's clothing to the porter for safe-keeping.

Parker took advantage of the sound nap of the detective, dressed himself in a pair of overalls, jumper, cap and shoes brought along in a small grip, and quietly slipped out of the car, broke the shackles off his feet and walked from Arlington to Condon, and registered at the hotel as "Fred Johnson, O. R. & N."

He had only been in the city two hours until the sheriff walked into the hotel office and arrested him. He made no resistance and told of his escape and trip overland to Condon with much interest.

Day's carelessness in allowing Parker to escape has caused considerable comment in official circles, and the deputy district attorney of Multnomah county says he will not recognize Day as a detective again. Day says the reason he did not sleep in the same berth with Parker was that Parker had been confined for a few days in the city jail at Helena, and from all appearances had contracted a heavy and active supply of jail "grey backs," and that he did not wish to share the luxury with him.

Parker's mother has arranged to pay up all the losses sustained by Portland business men, through Parker's forgeries, but the man who holds the last forged check passed by Parker says he will prosecute the criminal, no matter if the losses are made good, so Parker will not escape through his mother's intervention.

Suit for Divorce.

A suit for divorce was filed this morning in the office of the county clerk by H. E. Collier in the case of Della Parrish vs. Bruce Parrish. The plaintiff alleges that she and the plaintiff were married in this city on October 14, 1902, and that there is one child as the result of the union, a son, Joseph Parrish, aged 3 weeks. The cause of action is cruel and inhuman treatment and failure to provide the necessities of life, clothing or medical attendance when sick. The plaintiff asks that the custody of the child be given her and that she have costs and attorney's fees.

Chinese soldiers are having constant target practice, as though in preparation for active duty, and Chinese immigrants suspected of being soldiers in disguise, are entering Manchuria in large numbers. Arms are being hidden in accessible places.

SPECIAL SERVICES.

New Feature in the Work of the Christian Church.

There will be the regular services at the Christian church tomorrow both morning and evening, and in the afternoon will be held a special service which will be from this time on a regular part of the work of the church.

In the afternoon the members of the church will gather at the building and will take their basket dinner there.

At 2 o'clock the annual meeting of the congregation will be called to order by the pastor and at this time will be elected the officers of the church and Sunday school for the year to come. The reports of the retiring officers will be read and all of the routine business of the church will be transacted. The meeting will be, in fact, a meeting of the committee of the whole church, which will outline and discuss the work of the church for the coming season, and when the roll of the church will be called.

This is a new departure in the church, but will be followed in the future, it being the idea of the officers of the church to hold an annual meeting on the last Sunday in December of each year, when the plans for the next year will be laid, and the officers of the church will be elected.

OLD RATES RESTORED.

Boats Below The Dalles Are Forced to Raise Rates From That City and Portland.

The old prices on the river boats between The Dalles and Portland, have been restored and tickets now cost as much as formerly. A sharp rate war has been on for several months between the rival river lines, and rates were cut down below a figure at which the companies could afford to do business. Owing to the great expense of operating the boats the companies have been driven to restore the old prices or go out of business.

The cut in prices has induced many people to travel by boat between The Dalles and Portland, but this arrangement will be done away with in future as the boat ticket at the old price is no inducement to travel, owing to the long time required to make the trip.

The French government employs 1,550 workmen and 15,000 women in the state tobacco manufactures, and makes a yearly profit of 400,000,000 francs.
