RICHARD CARVEL

QUITE A GOOD PLAY, BUT MR. ROBSON WAS NOT HERE

His Substitute Was Excellent, But an Understudy, Just the Same—The Pendleton Public Will Not Forget the Incident Before the Coming of Next Season—The Cast in General Was Strong and Satisfactory.

One of the best houses of the season gathered at the Frazer last Saturday night to hear Richard Carvel, and incidentally to witness the acting of Andrew Robson in the title role. The audience saw a very good show, but not the same as it was last year by some degrees, for it was new in nearly all of the parts, and the old faces were missed in most of them.

Those who attended the play when it was here last year were disappointed in the acting of Mr. Robson, and were sympathetic. They all seemed to see that he had become taller during the year, like a young boy in his teens, and also that he had become much thinner, and they marveled at the change in acting and voice and his falling off. The fact of the matter is that the noted man had fallen off in Portland about four nights before, and at the time that Pendleton was congratulating herself at having a treat in store, he was in the city taking a rest. Mrs. J. W. Bennett, the wife of the manager, and the lady who plays the part of Fatty Swain, said before the performance that Mr. Robson had been taken sick four nights before, and had gone on to Portland for treatment. Whether he was troubled with too much Christmas or with an attack of appendicitis has not been as yet told to his anxious and loyal friends in this city who went to the theater Saturday night to see and hear his play.

It is presumed that Mr. Bennett was so worried that he forgot to tell the manager of the Frazer, and so the people were deceived. Of course, it is of little consequence, and Pendleton is the favorite place for the non-appearance of the leading players; but out of common courtesy and honesty and fair dealing, if the management of the company possesses such unimportant characteristics, an announcement should have been made of the illness of Mr. Robson. Perhaps Mr. Bennett will think of it by the next time he comes to the city, and will tell why he forgot. If he does not, the people will feel a little hard towards him for this is not the first of April.

But the play itself was very good, though not as pleasing as last season. About the only actress not new to this city on the stage was Pricilla Knowles, in the part of Fatty Swain, and her interpretation of her part was even better than it was when she was here before. As the little, half-audacious, half-prudish and wholly irrepressible Patty, she won the audience, and went side by side with Miss Manners in the leading part as played by Margaret Gallagher.

The play as a whole was a good evening's entertainment, and had it not been for the lack of courtesy in the management in allowing the main part to be substituted with no announcement as to the cause, it would have been entirely satisfactory.

PATTI IN PORTLAND.

Noted Singer Making a Farewell Tour of America.

Madam Adeline Patti will sing one night in Portland, on January 14. The Armory has been engaged for the occasion and hundreds of inquiries are now reaching Calvin Hellig, under whose direction Patti will sing, concerning seats.

The famous prima donna will be supported by a company of the best musical artists to be found in Europe, in charge of Romualdo Sapie, who has conducted the former American performances of Patti.

Patti's first American performance was given at the old Academy of Music, New York City, on November 24, 1859. This is her farewell tour.

Big School Teachers' Union.

Practically all the public school teachers in New York city have been brought into a big trade union numbering 13,000 members. It is known as the "Interborough Council of Teachers." Except for walking delegates the Interborough Council possesses all the attributes of a trade union, although the teachers insist that there is a wide difference in their organization. Overtures for affiliation with the Chicago Teachers' union and with the Central Federation Union of New York have been rejected, but it is prophesied that they will all get together in due time.

Steel Workers Quit.

Not all the steel workers are quietly submitting to reductions in wages. Those employed by the Inland Steel company at Indiana Harbor have announced to the management that they would not accept any such proposition and went on strike. The men were told that the mill would be shut down indefinitely, and both the open hearth and blooming mills were also ordered closed. These men are not organized, and now it is proposed to form a union of the open hearth workers in Indiana Harbor, South Chicago and South Deering—some 500 in all.

GAME LAW TOO FIERCE.

Carter Bill for Protection of Game Died in the Senate.

After an interesting and amusing discussion, a bill proposed in the senate by Senator Carter, providing for the protection of certain species of game, particularly deer, in Klamath and Lake counties, failed to see the light of day, having received but 15 votes.

The bill provided for the protection of game during a closed season prescribed, which was quite satisfactory to all or a majority of the members, but the chief objection, which resulted in the ultimate defeat of the bill, was the character of the punishment imposed for its violation.

Only minor fines and imprisonment in the penalties were provided for the slaughter of small game out of season, but other sections prescribed that in case of the violation thereof, that is, the wanton killing of deer out of season, upon conviction for the second offense, the violator thereof would be subject to a fine of not less than $300 or more than $1,000, or imprisonment in the penitentiary for a term of not less than one year nor more than three years. This punishment seemed too severe to a majority of the members and was the source of the bill's defeat.

BRYAN ABROAD.

London Paper's Estimate of the Nebraska Statesman.

The Westminster Gazette of London gives notice of the arrival of William Jennings Bryan upon Albion's shores in the following:

"That most interesting individuality, W. J. Bryan, who is on a visit to this country, is only 43 years old. He first distinguished himself in America as an orator who advocated the tariff for revenue only. He was elected to congress in 1890, and became a conspicuous supporter of the free coinage of silver in 1896, when he was nominated for the presidency, to the surprise of everybody. Andrew Carnegie in criticizing his policy referred to him as 'Bryan the conjurer,' but added, 'He and his wife are models of purity in their simple lives, and neighbors and earnest in their desire to do their part toward making the world a little better.'"

Fight Will Be Bitter.

Those who will persist in closing their ears against the continual recommendation of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption will have a long and bitter fight with their troubles, if not ended earlier by fatal termination. Read what T. R. Beall of Beall, Miss., has to say: "Last fall my wife had every symptom of consumption. She took Dr. King's New Discovery after everything else had failed. Improvement came at once and four bottles entirely cured her." Guaranteed by Tollman & Co., druggists. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

ONE WAY OUT.

A Resident of Pendleton Shows the Way.

Only one way to cure a bad back. Liniments and plasters may relieve it.

They won't cure it. Backache means sick kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills.

Pendleton people prove this.

Read a case of it: Mrs. J. Brynk, who lives on Star street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are a grand medicine, as I know from experience, and I have no hesitation in saying that any sufferer from backache or other kidney troubles who will give them a fair trial, will be more than well satisfied with the results. I suffered for three or four years with sharp pains in my back which became acute when I attempted to bend over, or to lift anything. Besides, I had rheumatism or lumbago in my left arm so bad that I could not raise it above my shoulder without assistance from my left hand. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and got a box at the Brock & McComas Co. drug store. When I had used three boxes the backache had vanished and with it the rheumatic pains through my arm."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents per box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.
