

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

THE NEW YEAR AT WHITE HOUSE

GUESTS RECEIVED IN FA.
MOUS OLD BLUE ROOM.

Line of Callers Thronged the President's Home All Day—Ancient Customs at the Capital Are Observed—Ambassadors All Appear in Their Gaudiest Robes of State and Government Officials Make Formal Calls.

Washington, Jan. 1.—The people at Washington seem never to tire of White House receptions. Today, as on every New Year day for decades past, thousands formed themselves in line and stood for hours in the White House grounds at the risk of catching pneumonia for the privilege of shaking the hand of the president. There was little to distinguish today's function from those of former years. The recent change of British ambassadors caused a rearrangement in the order of the diplomatic line and there were several new faces among the officials and, of course, among the members of congress. For the most part, however, the reception was attended by the same officials, who were presented in virtually the same order and looking very much the same as last year. As for the president, the central figure of the day's doings, he looked just the same as he did a year ago, was dressed the same and in all probability was as glad when the affair was over as he was a year ago. There was the same crush of people about the door of the executive mansion and the same long line of shivering citizens who had to wait until the privileged guests had been presented.

The guests were received in the blue room. Promptly at 11 o'clock, the hour set for the beginning of the function, the trumpeters of the Marine band stationed in the vestibule sounded a fanfare announcing the approach of the receiving party, consisting of the president and Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Alice Roosevelt, who were joined by the cabinet ladies. Meanwhile the diplomats, whose bright and gorgeous uniforms gave the color and brilliancy to the reception, were assembling in the red room. Other privileged guests were likewise arriving in rapid succession and soon the state dining room and the parlor and reception rooms were thronged. Between two sections of the receiving party a lane was formed by cords of old gold velvet. Through this lane the callers passed from the red room, proceeding through the green room into the east room, and thence down the staircase to the east terrace, passing into the street opposite the west entrance of the treasury.

Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador and new dean of the diplomatic corps, led the line today and was the first man to shake hands with the president. A privilege held for many years by the late Lord Pauncefote. Count Cassini wore his court uniform, a magnificent creation of brilliant color with a wealth of gold lace. He was followed by his niece, secretaries and attaches of the Russian embassy, all in order, according to their rank. Count Cassini and the members of the embassy were presented to the president by Secretary Hay, after having been presented to Secretary Hay by the assistant secretary of state. This is a mere matter of form followed with all ambassadors and ministers, which permits them to approach the executive by easy stages.

The Mexican ambassador, Señor de Azpiroz, stands next to Count Cassini on the diplomatic list, and he was the second ambassador in line today. His wife and daughter were with him, along with secretaries and attaches.

Next came Signor Mayor das Planchas, ambassador of Italy, and his wife and secretary. The ambassador's uniform was dazzling and his decorations numerous.

The ambassador of Austria-Hungary followed. The ambassadors of France, Germany and Great Britain followed in the order given, with their families and secretaries.

After the ambassadors came the ministers, including the representatives of the Netherlands, Sweden and Norway, Guatemala and other countries. The new republic of Panama was represented by its delegate in this country, while several other new faces were noted also. These attracted little attention, however, alongside the Chinese delegation. The party from the flowery kingdom always forms the picturesque feature of the White House receptions, and today, as usual, the Chinese minister and his secretaries and attaches were on hand clad in the most gorgeous robes of costly silk.

After the diplomats, President and Mrs. Roosevelt received the supreme court of the United States, headed by

HAIR NATURALLY ABUNDANT.

When It Is Free of Dandruff, It Grows Luxuriantly.

Hair preparations and dandruff cures, as a rule, are sticky or irritating affairs that do no earthly good. Hair, when not diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly. Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair trouble, and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ; and, so far, the only hair preparation that will positively destroy the germ is Newbro's Herpicide—absolutely harmless, free from grease, sediment, dye matter or dangerous drugs. It kills itching instantly; makes hair glossy and soft as silk. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Chief Justice Fuller. Then followed the judges of the United States court of claims and the judiciary of the District of Columbia. The reception of members of congress began at 11:30 o'clock and after them came the military contingent and the heads of the various departments of government.

At 12:25 the doors were opened to the plain people. For nearly two hours persons of all ages, colors, sexes and conditions filed slowly by the president, who had a cheery greeting for all.

The arrangements throughout were admirable, with the result that there were no delays and no untoward incidents. Chief Willie and many of his secret service men were on hand and they kept a watchful eye over the chief executive. Remembering the awful horror of President McKinley's public reception at the Buffalo exposition, the detectives were careful to permit no one to pass the line with a hand in a pocket or covered.

TO SAVE FARM LANDS.

Montana Forest Reserve Is Created to Benefit Water Sources.

Under date of December 12, President Roosevelt issued a proclamation creating the Highwood mountains forest reserve, withdrawing from settlement a number of sections of land near the point where the boundary lines of Cascade, Chouteau and Fergus counties coincide. The greater part of the reserve, which embraces the greater part of two townships in Chouteau county, although portions of it are in Cascade and Fergus counties.

As the new reserve is in the Great Falls land district, the officers of the Helena land district have not been officially notified of its creation, although it has been understood for some time that it was the intention of the interior department to have the lands in question withdrawn. It is understood that practically none of the land withdrawn is fit for cultivation, the reserve embracing what is known as the Highwood mountains, which form the headwaters of Highwood creek, an important little stream, along which there are a large number of settlers.

As the Highwood mountains are covered with a good growth of timber, which could be utilized for commercial purposes, it was feared that the mountains might be stripped to the extent that they would be unable to hold the snow which feeds Highwood creek, and that in this manner the ranchers along the creek would suffer. For this reason the reserve was created.

GEOMETRY MADE EASY.

An Experiment Which Will Explain One of Euclid's Problems.

For children who cannot easily grasp mathematical or geometrical rules such simple experiments as the following are of special interest: Geometry teaches that when a circle is moved within another the diameter of which is twice as large each point in the periphery of the smaller circle will describe during this movement a straight line which corresponds exactly to the diameter of the larger circle.

That this is invariably true can be easily shown. Cut out of an old card board calendar two circles, one twice as large in diameter as the other, and

GEOMETRICAL ROPE WALKER.

In the margin of the smaller circle stick a needle. Now, when this needle is set in motion, it will describe a straight line, which will be nothing else but the diameter of the larger circle.

If the foot of a tight rope dancer, who can easily be cut out of a visiting card, is now fastened with wax to the head of the needle on the rim of the small circle, it will readily be seen that the graceful little figure, no matter how much it may pirouette or where it may go, will ever keep consistently on the diameter of the larger circle.

Some Funny Ducks.

If you ever go to Hankow, China, don't forget to visit the duck farms. There are a great many of them, and they are really very funny. Hankow is built along the river, and the people live by catching fish and raising ducks. Close to the water are the little sheds in which the ducks sleep at night. Early each morning the doors of these sheds are opened, and the ducks go out upon the river and swim about all day. At sunset the owner claps his hands, and the ducks rush from all directions, and there is a most desperate scramble. None of them wishes to be the last duck to go through the door. They have the best of reasons, too, for a Chinaman sits at the door with a long bamboo rod in his hand, and the last duck always gets a sharp crack. It is very funny, too, to see these farmers driving their ducks to market. They never walk, but ride in the oddest sort of boats, and the ducks swim on before. Should one swim to either side he is quickly brought into line again by an unmistakable hint from the bamboo stick which his master always carries.

The Wilts Hotel, the oldest landmark in Harrisburg, Pa., was destroyed by fire Thursday morning. It was over 40 years old and was of great historical interest on account of the early pioneer meetings held there.

Mrs. Fairbanks tells how neglect of warning symptoms will soon prostrate a woman. She thinks woman's safeguard is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Ignorance and neglect are the cause of untold female suffering, not only with the laws of health but with the chance of a cure. I did not heed the warnings of headaches, organic pains, and general weariness, until I was well nigh prostrated. I knew I had to do something. Happily I did the right thing. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound faithfully, according to directions, and was rewarded in a few weeks to find that my aches and pains disappeared, and I again felt the glow of health through my body. Since I have been well I have been more careful. I have also advised a number of my sick friends to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and they have never had reason to be sorry. Yours very truly, MRS. MAY FAIRBANKS, 216 South 7th St., Minneapolis, Minn." (Mrs. Fairbanks is one of the most successful and highest salaried travelling saleswomen in the West.)

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

SWEET WILL DECLINE.

Cannot Become Chairman of Democratic State Committee.

State Senator Alex Sweet, of Multnomah, who is being urged by many to take the chairmanship of the democratic state central committee in case of the resignation of Samuel White, of Baker City, says to the Oregon Daily Journal: "I do not know anything about the matter, but have heard that some of my friends are making an effort to have me take the place. I have not considered it and have no desire for the place, as it is one that requires labor and responsibility and is also expensive. I don't feel at this time that I should neglect my business to take the position."

"While I am willing to give such time as I can spare from my business to assist the party, I am not in a position to devote the bulk of my time to politics. I do not think that there will be any opposition to the reelection of Mr. White, providing he can so arrange his affairs to continue in the place. He has made a good chairman and his relations and mine are most harmonious and pleasant."

"In case Mr. White finds it impossible to give further attention to the office, through the urgency of his private affairs, there are other men who can fill the position with credit, and are so situated that they can take the work without great personal sacrifice."

"I fully appreciate the honor my friends are trying to confer upon me, but I feel as if I could not concede to their wishes at this time."

BOATS ON UPPER COLUMBIA.

Chelan County, Washington, Forging Ahead Rapidly.

Walla Walla, Jan. 1.—Captain Charles Miller of Wenatchee, who is associated with Captain Griggs and Captain Miller, in operating the line of steamboats from Wenatchee up the Columbia river, is in the city visiting F. S. Dement, his brother-in-law, and will remain until after the New Year.

Captain Miller says conditions are good in the Chelan country and sees great possibilities ahead for that part of Washington. At present two boats are being run, though the company has five or six in commission.
