MEMORABLE YEAR

EXCELLENT RECORD
IN GOLD PRODUCTION.

1903 Second Only to 1902 in Output and General Importance—Slight Decline Due to Labor Troubles—Discovery of Splendid Ore Deposits During the Year—New Mining Exchanges Organized.

Denver, Col., Jan. 16.—The past year as it affects the mining of gold, silver, copper, zinc and lead will be remembered as having marked a period of very substantial production by a number of new enterprises organized within the past three years. The general impetus which has been in evidence in development of the mines since 1898, and which reached its climax in 1902, was not deterred in 1903 notwithstanding the fact that the preliminary figures compiled by the director of the mint, show a decrease in the gold production of $6,000,000. This loss is readily explained by the falling off of the Cripple Creek output due to labor troubles.

While 1902 was in every respect a memorable year for the mining industry—one which witnessed the greatest amount of new development work ever undertaken for a like period—yet 1903 will take rank as a satisfactory sequence to a memorable year.

In the West, particularly in Colorado, Arizona and California, operations of the mines have hampered by labor difficulties, each of which found a local reason to aggravate it. While the dissension between the miner and operator has been settled in California and Arizona, a considerable amount of ill-feeling still prevails in this state.

New Strikes Made.

Aside from the usual skirmishing which follows the announcement of a strike of ore, several important discoveries were made during the year. Tonopah, Nev., in keeping with its record, furnished the sensation of the year by the continued strikes which were made at various parts of the camp, increasing the area in which it was originally supposed that rich ore would be found. Other important strikes have been noted at Camp Bowerman, Gunnison county, Colo., one near Hillshoro, N. M., still unverified and the third in British Columbia, at Poplar Creek.

Aside from the general development work which characterized the operations in the field, the existing activity and interest displayed in following mining operations were demonstrated at non-mining centers by the organization of new mining exchanges. Boston, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Cincinnati felt this extension of the mining industry and a new exchange is forming in New York.

WESTERN TIMBER AREA.

Enormous Amount of Forest Land on the North Pacific Slope.

The timbered area of Washington and Oregon is equal to the whole of New England and two-thirds of New York, says the Pacific Monthly. Imagine the six states of New England and the greater part of New York covered with an unbroken forest and you will have some idea of the immensity of the forest of the northwest.

The trees of this section will cut good merchantable timber of 450,000,000,000 feet in Oregon alone, according to the estimates of government forest experts, we have 325,000,000,000 feet.

What does this mean? Stop a moment and think about it. Cut into boards one inch thick, this Oregon timber will cover a walk half a mile wide entirely around the earth at the equator; the same boards would make us a driveway to the moon 250 feet wide (not allowing for the supporting timbers). Or, we have sufficient timber for a board 15 inches wide to bridge the gulf between us and the planet Mars 48,000,000 miles away.

And the money value of it all? Well, $12 per 1,000 feet for the finished lumber is a conservative estimate. At this price the value of Oregon lumber is $4,920,000,000. This is almost twice the total amount of money—gold and silver coins and bank notes—in the United States on January 1, 1902.

TRAIN DELAYED BY A KISS.

Loving Girl Companions at Portland Hinder Traffic for a Moment.

The clock in the waiting room at the Union depot said the time was one minute to four, says the Oregon Daily Journal. The Albany local leaves at four. Three very excited young ladies made their way at a canter down the corridor, and one said "Salem" weakly, to the window clerk while she fumbled for the change. The other two with satchel and bag rushed straight for the gate-man and shot by him before he could say "ticket".

The other young lady came crashing through and ran for the train. When she was a dozen feet from the steps the train started. She bravely clambered on and was safe.

The other two young ladies ran along by her while the train moved more and more rapidly.

"Get on," shouted the brakeman as he prepared to stop the train. The girls just trudged along the platform. The brakeman pulled the rope and the train stopped stock still.

The young lady on the steps stooped gracefully over, puckered her lips and gave each panting comrade a farewell kiss.

"Thanks, awfully," said the girls on the platform to the brakeman.

WAY DOWN EAST COMING.

Oregon Daily Journal Pays High Tribute to Performance.

The Oregon Daily Journal, speaking of the performance of "Way Down East" in Portland, says:

"The weather bureau did not advertise exceptionally chilly weather last night, but those who witnessed the opening performance of "Way Down East" at the Marquam Grand were treated to a snow storm that was realistic enough to make you shove your hands into your pockets and shiver.

This is the second visit of this production to this city.

"Way Down East" has the good old fashioned plot with the erring heroine, the heartless villain, the heavy father and the noble hero, but it is in such a dress that it seems new. There are excellently drawn characters, a meddling old woman, a country constable, the raw country farm boy that occupy so much of the action of the piece as to turn attention entirely from the antique plot. The story is always popular and probably always will be. As a work of stagecraft the piece is remarkable and the snow storm scene has become famous.

Edwin J. Herron as Hi Holler, the chore boy, H. H. Forsman, as Professor Steering, Imogene Hyams, who played Mrs. Bartlett, Charles H. Riegel, as Squire Bartlett, and Phillip Yale Drew, as David Bartlett, did their work well. Anna Moore, played by Ruby Bridges, is a pathetic heroine. The village choir sang.

"Maloney's Wedding."

"Maloney's Wedding" a farcical conceit replete with healthful comedy and affording opportunity for pleasing ensembles, catchy dances and novel specialties comes to the Frazer theater on Monday night. The cast is made up of twenty capable artists, pretty girls in ultra costumes, novel scenic effects and a well conceived plot are the salient features of the successful attraction.

YOUNG WIFEHOOD

Boston, Mass., 152 Shawmut Ave., Oct. 25, 1902.
After I had been married about four months I felt my health generally declining. I seemed to lose the light step and dragged wearily along instead. My appetite failed me and I lost health and strength. I was nervous and had shooting pains through my limbs and stomach while bearing down pains and constant headaches added to my misery. The menstrual flow became more and more profuse and I was unable to attend to my daily duties. My husband called in three different physicians and I took enough medicine to fill an ever a dozen women, but it all had no effect on me whatever, until I took Wine of Cardui. In a few days I felt a change for the better, my general health improved and at the next time of my period my flow was more natural and I was in less pain. Gradually I recovered my health and strength and am now in perfect health. I take an occasional dose of Wine of Cardui which keeps me well.

I am happy to give you this endorsement.

Bertha Fisher
President, Back Bay Woman's Club.

Why don't you try for the same health Mrs. Fisher has? It is easy to secure if you take Wine of Cardui according to directions. Wine of Cardui strengthens weak and worn-out women of any age and assists the mother and housewife to bear her exacting duties. Wine of Cardui makes women fit for all the duties of womanhood.

It will relieve the pains of irregularity, cure falling of the womb, leucorrhoea, ovarian troubles, and has been known to remove what physicians considered dangerous tumors. Women who use Wine of Cardui do not suffer at the monthly periods. They do not suffer hysterical attacks, because Wine of Cardui gives them strong nerves freed from the irritation of female suffering.

A $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui purchased from your druggist will keep you free from pain.
