JAMES SMITHSON

ENGLISHMAN WHO FOUNDED SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION.

Mr. Smith Was an Illegitimate Son of First Duke of Northumberland—Has Been Dead Seventy-Five Years—Buried at Genoa. His Body Will be Reinterred at Washington.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20. — In charge of Professor Alexander Graham Bell, the body of James Smithson, founder of the Smithsonian Institute in this city, will arrive at New York today or tomorrow on the North German Lloyd steamship Princess Irene...

James Smithson was the natural son of Hugh, first Duke of Northumberland, and Elizabeth, niece of the Duke of Somerset, a lineal descendant of Henry VII. His life was embittered by his birth. He became a wanderer, visited this country, and when he died at Genoa, Italy, in 1829, he left his entire fortune, amounting to $500,000, to the government of the United States...

It had been Smithson's boast that his name would remain known among men when the titles of the Northumbrians and the Percys, who were his ancestors, were extinct and forgotten. Smithson's legacy to the United States was brought to this country by Richard Rush sixty-five years ago. The money was brought in one hundred and five bags each containing one thousand gold sovereigns. As a result of the investment of that fund there has grown up in Washington an institution, which, in addition to the income of $50,000 from Smithson's legacy, expends each year $450,000. It came to the attention of Professor Alexander Graham Bell about a year ago that Smithson's body was about to be disturbed. The cemetery in Genoa where it was buried was to give way to a marble quarry. The matter was laid before the regents of the Smithsonian Institute and as a result of their action Professor Bell went to Europe in November and superintended the disinterring of Smithson's body.

PATTI IN SEATTLE.

Sound Paper Tells What the Diva Brought With Her.

Adelina Juana Maria Patti, Baroness of Cederstrom, and a lot of other names that were handed to her by previous husbands and have been sent to the bay, arrived in Seattle this morning on her private car, Craig-Nos (whatever that means), with her 61 years of worldly experience, her third husband, three score or more of trunks, not to mention a beautiful flock of portmanteaux, a prehistoric voice and an earnest desire to accumulate a bundle of Seattle gold, says the heartless Seattle Star.

Among other incidentals she brought her concert company and her manager, Marcus Mayer, and her youthful husband remained the "still alarm" and the knowledge of the necessity of remaining "in our midst" until January 22, the morning after she will count up the cash at the Grand opera house.

Among other things in the outfit—to use one of our own western phrases—is a maid-in-waiting. There's only one of these. The other 25 or 30 wouldn't wait, but this one staid to see the coast and the beauties of our western barbarism as well as the color of our money.

The venerable diva sang at Portland last night and her car came up on the night train. When it arrived in this city the members of the company were taken to the Washington and registered while madame remained on the car and slept—at least she did while Mr. Patti sat up and counted the money. Early in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Patti left the car, braving the terrors of the fog and damp, and were driven to the foot of the hill where the manager was confronted with a puzzle.

There was only one thing for Patti to do—get out of her carriage and board a trolley car. Engineers had been consulted as to the possibility of having the carriage hoisted to the doors of the hotel, but they gave up in despair, and madame, accompanied by the last maid who waited, and Mr. Patti got out of the carriage, tiptoed over the narrow planks that span the abyss of mud and for the smallest fraction of time came down to earth and boarded a street car—a private hotel car to be sure, but one that any person can ride in without digging for the customary nickel.

But, alas, the irrelevancy of the uncouth west. What inspiration prompted a small boy to whistle "They Are On Their Honeymoon" was not explained, but the tune was shrilly wafted on the dampened breeze and followed the car up the hill.

Sorrows of an Editor.

The following unique, if pathetic description of his personal loss is taken from E. P. Greene's Pasco Express. While Greene was in Pasco, his home, a mile east of Kennewick, burned down at five o'clock in the morning. Mrs. Greene, the only occupant, saved her clothes and one chair. The house was located on Greene's tract near the Kennewick ditch, and this is how Greene, who is one of the most original men that ever ran a desert newspaper, tells the story:

"Monday morning at 9 o'clock I received information that my house one mile east of Kennewick had burned. I could not believe it until I reached the bridge and discovered that the place where the house stood was there, but the house was not. The origin of the fire is unknown, but the loss is complete in every particular, all the contents, some of which were not measurable by dollar signs being consumed, excepting Mrs. Greene's clothing and one chair.

"The loss is between $500 and $600 with no insurance. I still have one suit of clothes, three quilts, a pair of blankets, about 30 cents worth of old mare, and some 'drabbings'.

"Anything I have is for sale except the Express. That I could not give away and don't want to.

"Mrs. Greene has gone to Walla Walla to stop with a son and I will camp in the Express till warm weather comes.

"I am thankful for many kind words of sympathy.

"P. S.—The well did not burn. It is a good one, and is for sale cheap, with 40 acres of land thrown in for good measure."

WINTER IS COMING BRINGING CATARRH

Every Catarrh sufferer dreads the coming of winter, for with the first breath of the "ice-king" this miserable disease is fanned into life and all the disgusting symptoms return. The nostrils are stopped up and the throat can be kept clear of mucous secretions only by continual hawking and spitting. Catarrh is a nuisance and source of annoyance, not only to the one who has it, but everybody else.

The catarrhal poison brings on stomach troubles and affects the Kidneys and Bladder. It attacks the soft bones and tissues of the head and throat, causing total or partial deafness, the loss of smell, and giving to the voice a rasping, nasal twang. No part of the body is secure from its ravages. Catarrh makes you sick all over, for it is a disease of the blood, and circulates all through the system, and for this reason, sprays, washes, inhalers, powders and salves have proven failures.

THE WAY TO CURE CATARRH THOROUGHLY AND PERMANENTLY IS TO CLEANSE THE BLOOD OF THE UNHEALTHY SECRETIONS THAT KEEP THE MEMBRANES OF THE BODY INFLAMED, AND NOTHING DOES THIS SO SURELY AND PROMPTLY AS S. S. S. AS LONG AS THE BLOOD IS POISONED WITH CATARRHAL MATTER THE DISCHARGE OF MUCUS AND OTHER DISGUSTING SYMPTOMS OF THE MISERABLE DISEASE WILL CONTINUE.

S. S. S. GOES TO THE FOUNTAIN SOURCE OF THE TROUBLE AND PURIFIES AND ENRICHES THE BLOOD, AND SO INVIGORATES AND TONES UP THE SYSTEM THAT CATCHING COLD AND CONTRACTING CATARRH IS NOT SO LIKELY TO OCCUR. Keep the blood in order and winter's coming brings none of the discomforts of Catarrh. Write us particulars of your case, and let our physicians help you get rid of this blood-tainting and stubborn disease. We make no charge whatever for medical advice.

EAST OREGONIAN UNKNOWN NUMBER GUESSING CONTEST

Every Subscriber to Have an Opportunity to Guess on a $100 Rubber Tired Buggy

As an Expression of Our Good Will Towards Subscribers and to Increase our Subscription List

We Will Give Away, Absolutely Free, a Cushion-Tire now on Exhibition in the Show Window of the A. Kunkel & Co. Implement House, Two Doors South of the East Oregonian Building.

The East Oregonian has purchased from the A. Kunkel Implement Co., a $100 cushion tire buggy. It is a beauty, strong, serviceable and well finished. For each year's subscription to the Weekly at $1.50 or for every similar amount paid on the daily or semi-weekly the subscriber is entitled to one guess at an unknown number of three figures, that will be placed in a sealed envelope. This is not a drawing, lottery, or gift enterprise of any kind.

How to Participate. Each receipt for $1.50 for the Daily, Weekly or Semi-weekly East Oregonian, to any address, the person to whom the receipt is issued, will be given an opportunity, absolutely without cost, to have a guess at the unknown number, and the person or persons guessing nearest that number will receive as a present and without any compensation whatever, and merely as an expression of good will on the part of the East Oregonian toward its subscribers, the $100 cushion tired buggy advertised in this paper and on exhibition at A. Kunkel & Co's. implement house two doors south of the East Oregonian building.

For each $1.50 paid the holder of the receipt will have an opportunity of making one guess. For example if you send $1.50 for one year's subscription to the Weekly or $2.00 for one year's subscription to the Semi-weekly you are entitled to one guess. If you pay $5.00 for one year's subscription by mail to the Daily you will get three guesses. If you pay $7.50 for one year's subscription to the Daily delivered by carrier you will get five guesses, or if you pay $3.75 for six months of the Daily by carrier you are entitled to two guesses.

No commission is allowed to any agent or solicitor for securing subscribers under this offer, and the person so subscribing does it with the understanding that the East Oregonian is accepted as payment in full for the money paid.

Unknow Number — How Prepared. The unknown number that is to be guessed will be made up in the following manner. The ten numbers from eight to nine will be put on separate slips of paper and folded so as to be unseen, and a committee of subscribers will be asked to conduct the assembling of the unknown number. This unknown number will be formed at the East Oregonian office on January in the following manner:

The ten numbers from eight to nine, inclusive, on separate slips of paper, in small sealed envelopes, will be placed in a box, shaken, and a blindfolded person in the presence of the committee will draw out three of those ten numbers, marking the first one, the second two and the third three in figures, and they will then be placed in a large envelope, sealed up and delivered to the chairman of the committee of subscribers until the contest is closed when the buggy will be turned over to the person guessing nearest to the selected number.

The remaining seven numbers from which the three numbers were drawn, will be burned unopened by the committee, so that no one will know what they were.

The unknown numbers will be formed by putting together the three numbers in the order as marked, one, two, three, on the envelopes on which they are contained. The unknown number will not be assembled until the guessing contest is completed, hence no one will know what it is until it is publicly announced to subscribers.

Limited Competition. The number of receipts issued in this contest will be limited to the
