AMONG THE EXCHANGES OF THE INLAND EMPIRE

The Fight for Trade.

W. C. Calder and J. N. Doane returned Saturday night from their mission of opening the Burnt River road to travel. They took two teams with them and were met by the Burnt River contingent, also well supplied with men and teams. The road was effectually broken and is now in good condition.

Stitch in Time Saves Nine.

A discussion of the numerous holes which exist in the sidewalks of the city came up last night, though the council was specific in stating that no reflection was meant on the street department or the street commissioner. The constant danger the city was in of a damage suit was mentioned, and the sentiment appeared to be that the street commissioner should be given a force adequate to keep the walks in repair and then hold him responsible for their conditions.

Curio Worth Seeing.

Fifty years ago Breeze Gibson and his brother, George B. Gibson, now of Pomeroy, Wash., when they were boys on the Polk county farm in the Eola hills, cut open a small oak sapling and inserted in the center of it

Reducing Price of Luxury.

Deputy Auditor T. M. McKinney was threatened yesterday with legal proceedings because he would not grant a man a marriage license for less than the required amount, $5. The man appeared yesterday with the request to know the cost of the papers, and afterward he returned with the couple who wished to be united and for whom he was going to be a witness. When the deputy asked him for the required amount he demurred and said he would make the officer give him the required license for $1.—Walla Walla Statesman.

Reclaiming the Desert.

The Muddy Creek Reservoir and Dutch Creek Irrigation Company has been incorporated, the object of the company being to furnish water for irrigating several thousand acres of land belonging to the stockholders. The capital stock consists of 5,000 shares at $1 per share, which, with the exception of about 400 shares, has been subscribed.—Baker City Democrat.

Slot Machine for Shoestrings.

The Bee Hive installed a nickel-in-the-slot machine yesterday. Four styles of strings can be secured from the machine and full directions for operating the same are placed in a conspicuous place. The machine is located at the main entrance door to the store.—Lewiston Tribune.

A Complaint.

"He's a mighty hard man to get along with," said the practical politician sadly. "Mighty hard." "He seems thoroughly honest." "Of course he is. That's what makes him so erratic and unsatisfactory. Every once in awhile he insists on doing something simply because he thinks it is right, without waiting to figure out what its effect on his political prospects is liable to be."—Washington Star.

A Verb.

"What part of speech is button?" asked the teacher of the second grade grammar class. "It's a verb," exclaimed Bobbie positively. "A verb?" echoed the teacher in surprise. "How do you make that out?" "Well," answered Bobbie, "when a goat gives a feller a buttin' don't it express action, bein' and state of bein'?"—Ohio State Journal.

A Dangerous Pair.

A discussion about the numerous highway robberies was on. "To me it at first looked like a case of 'Your money or your life!'" said one. "How?" "Going home last night I met a lawyer and a doctor together."—Philadelphia North American.

There Were Others.

"You are too careless in the use of words, John. It is just as easy to be correct as to be incorrect. Get a book or two on the subject of rhetoric and read up a little." "Read up, uncle? Do you want me to stand on my head when I read?"—New York Tribune.

MARKET REVIEWED

There seems to be something wrong with the coffee trust, for the prices of package coffee have taken a little jump during the past few days; whether permanently or not cannot be said.

Eggs are more plentiful than for some time, and are now selling for 30 cents a dozen fresh from the ranch, and since the supply is nearly equal to the demand, the packed variety has been relegated for the most part to the background until the hens on the farms take another rest.

Squashes and pumpkins are now hard to find, the season having advanced so far that they are practically out of the market, and from this on those who are on the search for pumpkin pies will have to put up with the canned goods.
