Did the love of gain ever make a hero or a martyr? Did it ever win a battle? Will a man do most for love or for money, for honor or money? Having no money, does a genius become a fool? Having much money, does a fool become a genius? Did any nation, loving money, ever become great; or, gaining riches and luxury, ever remain great? — Robert Blatchford.

WELL DIRECTED RIVALRY.

Congressman Cushman, of Washington, has again offered a prize of $100 to be given to the best essay writer in the seventh or eighth grades in the state's schools. This year the subject chosen is, "The Expedition of Lewis and Clark." Last year the subject was, "The State of Washington," and the prize was won by a Walla Walla boy in the seventh grade. Historical accuracy, literary ability and grammar are the features which decide the contest. Hundred dollar prizes may not be available, but the institution of a rivalry of this kind in the schools of Umatilla county, is possible with a much smaller sum as the scholars' objective, and could be made to yield some very pretty and effective results.

Don't you people who believe in applying the same standards of morality and good government to a city that every good citizen applies in his own conduct, think for a moment that "evil is self-destructive," that "the right will prevail because it is right." These doctrines are balderdash, no matter what their origin is—whether they came from pagan, atheist or Christian sources. Evil is a noxious weed that dies only to be succeeded by another of the same species unless the soil is dugged and the seed of a better product planted. The right prevails only when it is made to prevail by sacrifice and suffering. The abolition of feudalism, the Reformation, a democratic form of government in America, the abolition of human slavery, religious liberty, and every other form of moral advancement have been accomplished; did not accomplish themselves. Mind, we say, "have been accomplished; did not accomplish themselves." "God's will is done" in municipal government only as somebody with will and self-sacrificing instincts gets behind and under doctrines and principles and brings them to pass. This is a lesson for the laissez faire, who think that truth and righteousness are dynamic forces that work themselves into the ascendancy; which belief is a fallacy and—shall we say it? a subterfuge to get rid of personal responsibility. The spark of divinity that is in man is God's method of kindling fires of righteousness in this world, and it takes attrition, self-sacrifice and aggressive endeavor to start even a small blaze. The fire is latent, it will not kindle itself.

"Individualism" and "incentives to take the initiative" are the continuous and tiresome howls of the plutocratic grafters whenever a practical scheme is proposed by which their combination can be restricted. But they are in their palmy days of unabridged power over courts, legislatures, congress and the producers. Listen for the wall and the cloud of dust that will go up when the farmers' trust (now on the way to realize a good effective organization) begins to get in its work; when the output of livestock, grain and fruit is purposely and systematically restricted to keep up prices for the farmer, as the output of the packing houses, canneries and mines is now restricted to keep up prices for the trusts controlling those industries. "Individualism" and "incentives to take the initiative" are just as sacred principles for farmers and laborers as for manipulators of trusts and the outcome will be trusts of farmers and laborers, controlling the output of raw material and amount of available human effort called "labor."

To save human life and to save boys from becoming cripples, the police and the railroad employees should at once begin to make examples of the young idiots who play on and around moving trains. They are reckless, irresponsible, fool pests. They are a continual irritation and desperation to the trainmen, who have something else to do besides chasing these "naturals" out of danger. Sooner or later someone will be killed or maimed for life. That is the inevitable result sooner or later. It is a mere matter of time. In the name of common humanity and common sense, begin the arrests, fines and imprisonments at once.

A proposition in economics that will not stand applying in the management of one's personal affairs will bankrupt a city if persisted in. The city in the aggregate is an individual, and the profit and loss page must be balanced—at the expense or to the profit of the individuals who comprise the municipality, just as surely as of the municipality itself.

SLAVERY UNDER MONOPOLY.

The monopoly prices that we pay on protected goods amounts to $500,000,000 a year. That represents the labor of 700,000 slaves. It is moderate to say that the excessive charges of street and steam railroads and other public service corporations amounts to $25,000,000 a year. That represents the labor of 350,000 slaves. But what about ground rent? This is unmistakable tribute. How much pure ground rent is paid by the people in the United States? From reliable data at hand I estimate it to be six billions a year. Let us subtract four millions to keep well within the truth. That represents the labor of nearly three million slaves.

The essence of slavery is this, that a man should be deprived of the fruits of his labor. The money which is taken from us in the form of ground rents, war revenues and monopoly profits is the equivalent of our labor and the proof of our slavery. The want ads. in our newspapers have taken the place of the old auction block, and the pangs of hunger do the work of the overseer's whip. Slavery remains. The landlords and the tariff barons alone have a mastery over the fruits of men's labor which is vastly more valuable to them than was the labor of the negro to the chattel slaveholder.

We may not be able to think in millions, but we can imagine something of the horrors of chattel slavery, and he who looks beneath the form of our civilization must find a slavery more far-reaching, more firmly entrenched, and no less terrible in its way than the slavery of the past.—Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow.

HOW TO BE A MAN.

The way to keep the current of your brain moving, the way to keep mentally alive, is to keep on always learning something. Read, study. When you hear of a sound book—beware of new ones—get that book, and think your way through it. Read regularly, read little and read carefully—no more than you can comfortably digest. The page of a book that arouses no active thought is wasted. It is as though you should swallow waste paper instead of bread. Your food is wasted—and worse than wasted—it it fails to build up new blood and new tissue. The food that you give your mind is worse than wasted if it fails to build up new thought, new thinking power, new ambition to know more.

How is it with you who read this tonight?

Is your mind as active as it was when you were younger? Are you as ambitious as you ever were? Do you look around and ahead eagerly for opportunities to distinguish yourself?

Or are you settling into a rut of resignation, of lack of confidence in yourself or of foolish complaining about the world and its opportunities? If you are losing ambition, losing mental activity, losing the keen interest in life and its chances, look out. Your mental pipes are freezing.

Start up the current again, feed your mind, keep it moving in search of truth.

Fail in this and you will be like one of those frozen water pipes that give no return when the water is turned on.

You will be like the professor's partly dissected frog that went on living and hopping after its brain had been removed.

Set your brain to work. If it is clogged up with alcohol, tobacco, conceit, whining complaints, clear it out.

Think, study, talk to the most intelligent men you can find. Drop the frozen fools whose dull company you may have been keeping.

Don't be a frozen pipe or a dissected frog. Be a man.—Chicago American.

AMERICAN INTEREST IN KOREA.

In fact, Americans, so far as business enterprises and the money invested in them are concerned, have larger interests in Korea than all the other nations combined. Americans constructed and sold to the Japanese the Chemulpo-Seoul railroad.

Americans constructed for the Korean government (and have not yet been entirely paid for the same) the electric railway in the city of Seoul itself, and some eighteen or twenty miles of suburban roads. Americans have also constructed lighting plants for the city of Seoul, and are investing in the development of a water system for the capital. Americans import into Korea immense quantities of kerosene oil, of canned goods, and of cotton cloth.

Americans own, in association with English and French capitalists, the largest single enterprise in Korea, and one of the largest in Asia, —a mining concession in the northern part of Korea. American missionaries, also are doing a magnificent work in Korea. So that American interest is not alone the interest which attaches to exciting and important events, but is based upon the actual conditions of existing trade and property in Korea as well as upon the future possibilities of the entire Asiatic commerce.—From "Korea as the Prize of War," by J. Sloat Fassett, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for February.
