ASHES FELL WITH RAIN.

Curious Phenomena Reported From Baker County.

O. R. & N. train crews coming in from the east, say that a curious phenomena was witnessed at Huntington and vicinity, on Sunday evening.

During a heavy rain storm which extended all over the country, from Durkee to Huntington, a distance of 20 miles, a substance resembling wood ashes, fell in great quantities. It was indissoluble, as it remained on the ground after a drenching rain and was thick enough on boards and house-tops to make a visible change in the color.

The substance had every appearance of being ashes, had a greasy feeling and was different from any phenomena ever witnessed in that region before. In the sunshine the ashes dried up and disappeared, leaving a slight trace of dust which had a taste of burned powder in it. No one attempts to explain the strange phenomena. Farmers coming in for miles told of the same substance falling with the rain that evening and it seems to have been generally distributed over that section.

IN THE JAP COLONY

LOYAL TO THE MIKADO IN TROUBLE WITH RUSSIA.

All Are Willing to Fight, But Too Poor to Go, and They Dread Compulsory Service of Three Years—Greatly Interested in War News and Up-to-Date in Their Information.

The local Japanese colony, consisting of 19 members, is greatly elated over the war reports from the Orient.

All of them are interested, but none of them will return home, although four or five of them would, if they were financially able to do so.

Most of the Japanese in Pendleton are young fellows who have not been here long enough to make a stake yet, and cannot buy a ticket home no matter how badly their services were needed there.

Those of the Japs who can read English yesterday evening took great delight in reading the East Oregonian bulletins posted in the streets. As the interpreters read of the sinking of the Russian ships by the Japanese navy, the members of the colony exhibited the greatest joy, saying in broken English: "Jap man heap fight; pretty soon, Russia, all the same China, no likee fight Japan."

The colony "chips in" and buys extra papers every evening to get the late war news, and the English speaking members read and translate the dispatches into Japanese, for their eager brethren, who cannot read or write English.

Several of the "brown boys" have been attending school at the M. E. church during the winter months and are very proficient in the English language, reading and writing it with ease.

When asked if they would like to go home and fight, several of them said they would if they had the money, but if they did go, would have to serve three years in the Japanese army, as they had left home before rendering their military service, which is compulsory on every boy, upon reaching the age of twenty.

FIRST RECORDER OF ECHO.

H. C. Willis, Founder of American Hare Canning Industry to Walla Walla on a visit.

H. C. Willis, the first recorder of the city of Echo, accompanied by his wife, was in the city today en route to Walla Walla on a few weeks' visit and rest after the long and wearisome task of founding and placing in its present proportions the American Hare Cannery and Cold Storage business at Echo.

Mr. Willis started in one year ago in March to formulate plans for organizing this company and without a dollar of capital except his energy, he has succeeded in establishing the business, investing over $6,000 in building and equipment, has paid every dollar of indebtedness and the company now has $3,000 worth of canned product ready for market.

Mr. Willis has sold out his controlling interest and has retired from the management. He will engage in other business at Echo.

If there is also a divorce microbe, it might be in better business.

General Organizer W. of W.

Mrs. P. P. Pardillan, of Seattle, who has been in the city for a short time in consultation with Mrs. Carrie Van Orsdall, the grand guardian of the Women of Woodcraft, left this morning for Portland, where she will remain in the interest of the order for some time. Mrs. Pardillan is a general organizer of the Women of Woodcraft and has been at Payette for a time.

Miss Summer to Portland.

Miss Bertha M. Summer left this morning for her home in Portland, after a couple of days spent as the guest of Mrs. Carrie Van Orsdall, discussing plans for the prosecution of the work of the Women of Woodcraft. Miss Summer will leave in a short time for San Francisco, where she will work as a general organizer for the order throughout Northern California.

No Profit in Importing Apples.

F. E. Thompson, of the firm of Davis & Company, of North Yakima, returned to his home this morning after a short visit in the city. Mr. Thompson is interested in the fruit business and was here wishing to ship in a carload of apples from Washington, but found the rate of 40 cents a hundred was more than he could pay and make anything on the transaction.
