THREE DOLLARS EIGHTY

Easy Winter and Abundance of Feed Intervenes to Keep Prices From Going High, But Stockraisers' Profits are as Great as They Were a Year Ago - Sugar Beet Factories Tend to Bear the Market.

J. C. Lonergan, the cattle buyer, left this morning for Echo, where he goes to look after a cattle ship-

The market seems to be a little lower than it was a few days ago and will have no great rise, as far as present indications show, for some time to come. the estimation of the buyer the high market will come in May when it may go to 414 cents, but not much higher

The farmers have a lot of cattle scattered over the country, and all of them average better in condition than was the case at this time last year. The season has been a good one for the cattle men, and the stock is in good condition.

The sugar beet factories of Call fornia and the southern part of this state are beginning to get into operation, and they are feeding a large number of cattle, and this has a tendency to lower the price, for their feed costs them practically nothing.

Montana also has a large number of cattle which they will ship in here as soon as the price begins to rise, and this also tends to keep the quotations down to a certain extent. But in spite of the low prices that prevail the stock men report that they are making as much as they did last year, owing to the open winter and the consequent small amount of feeding necessary.
