CLUB AND FEDERATION.

Club Directory.
The Thursday Afternoon meets once in two weeks, Thursdays.
The Current Literature, alternate Fridays.
The Woman's Club meets the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month.

Thursday Afternoon Club.
"Nature Study" was the subject that engrossed the attention of the members of the Thursday Afternoon Club at the home of Mrs. A. D. Stillman on Thursday. At roll call each member gave some incident in animal or bird life that had come under her personal observation. As an introductory to the work of the afternoon, Mrs. John Halley read an article from the pen of John Burroughs the naturalist, on "How to Study Nature." Mrs. C. S. Colesworthy delighted her hearers with a concise and well written thesis on "Sea Life," giving the remarkable histories of many inhabitants of the sea. A quiz, to test the power of observation among the ladies, created much amusement and brought out some curious features of animal life. A pleasing paper by Mrs. J. E. Owen on "Birds and Their Habits," was a sympathetic study and showed the writer's close acquaintance with the feathery kingdom. Mrs. M. J. Lane gave an interesting talk on the "Insect World," and told many facts concerning the social communities of both ants and bees and much other data concerning beetles, locusts, butterflies, etc. Plant and insect life was studied with the help of two microscopes which had been loaned for the occasion by Professor Conklin of the Pendleton high school. This feature was of unusual interest. Delicious refreshments were provided.

The next meeting of the Thursday Afternoon Club will be at the home of Mrs. C. E. Pruitt. The subject to be "Mendelssohn and His Music."

Current Literature Club.
An interesting afternoon on the history of Germany was held at the home of Mrs. Moorhouse by the members of the Current Literature Club. Mrs. N. Berkeley was leader and the following subjects were discussed: "The Hanseatic League," "Formation of the Swiss Confederacy," with interesting sketches of such men as Arnold von Winkelried and William Tell. A delightful paper on the "University Towns" was read by Mrs. Ernest Skiles. Mrs. Edwin Switzer rendered some charming piano numbers from modern German composers. Dainty refreshments were served.

Finishing Matlock Building.
The carpenters will finish the work on the interior of the Matlock building on Court street, either this evening or in the morning, and after the finishing touches have been put to the second floor, the building will be furnished and occupied by Mayor and Mrs. Matlock as a residence.

George Howell (Dem.) sitting member from the 19th Pennsylvania district, has been ousted and W. C. Connell (Rep.) declared entitled to the place. The vote to unseat Howell was 159 to 148.

Society

The events of next week will be dedicated to that illorted pair, good St. Valentine and the belligerent little god, Don Cupid, whose deadly arrows will no doubt do dire execution right along the line, as of yore. Hearts, true lover's knots and all the insignia of the season will be in evidence at every social function, in every conceivable form. To start next week's pleasures will be the leap year Valentine dancing party, given by the Matrons and Misses at Music hall on Monday evening. The following cleverly composed invitation will in a way impart some of the evening's pleasures:

Saint Valentine sends you his compliments gay,
And bids you be present on his birthday

At Music hall, the fifteenth is the date,

Nine is the hour, pray don't be late,
There'll be dancing and music, ices and cake

Everything jolly to keep you awake,
Prince Cupid will be there with arrows and bow,

So ladies take care, 'tis Leap Year, you know,

There will be dainty missives for one and for all

Who come to our merry Saint Valentine ball

So come and be happy and forget nevermore

Saint Valentine's Day nineteen hundred and four.

St. Valentine's Day.

Many among us who love the picturesqueness of olden time customs rejoice in the continuance of St. Valentine's Day.

For the pretty valentine idea has not declined with the decadence of the old fashioned paper love token.

Valentines, hundreds of them, are still sent every year. The message they convey is in every way as sentimental as that of the cupids and doves of a hundred years ago.

Almost anything pretty and fanciful makes an attractive offering for the Fourteenth. Many such dainty tokens can be manufactured at home. The shops, too, suggest practically limitless possibilities.

Many men who observe St. Valentine's day in this more advanced age indulge their fancy for flowers. This year violets and potted plants in bloom are counted among the favorites for these dainty remembrances. Exquisite little baskets and boxes are on sale for violets and other flowers. These fastened with dainty ribbons, make a valentine which can but touch a responsive chord in any woman's heart.

Propitious for Proposals.

One of the romantic superstitions associated with St. Valentine's day is that because the 14th of February is the beginning of the spring bearing the first suggestion of new life with the chirping and mating of birds, no other time is more propitious for love making and proposals of marriage.

A Jolly Children's Party.

Miss Kathleen and Master Eldon Furnish were charming hostess and host at a "heart and valentine party" given last evening at the home of their parents on Water street, to about 45 of their friends. The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Red hearts were suspended in the arches and at different places about the rooms. In one corner of the dining room a rookery was built, banked in profusion with green foliage. Here lemonade and punch could be dipped from the fount, which was concealed in the rookery. The first of the evening's pleasures was the hunt for red hearts—400 of them being secreted at different places about the rooms. In this, Sherman Kunkel was the most successful and won the prize. Following this was the gathering of grains of corn as they were dropped on the floor by the goose lady as she wended her way through the rooms. Edgar Smith picked up the greatest amount and won the prize. After various other games, refreshments were served, when the guests departed, feeling that Kathleen and Eldon were the best of entertainers. The children present who formed the happy throng were: Eleanor Vincent, Una Smith, Mildred Berkeley, Mable Cameron, Lavelle Florence, Hazel Rader, Genevieve Halley, Gwendolin Smith, Tootsie Cameron, Sibyl Clopton, Olive Gwinn, Grace Cole, Irene Hexter, Paralee Halley, Genevieve Clark, Erial Mann, Edna Thompson, Edna Florence, Aneta Slater, Lucile Rader, Hazel Hamilton, Audra Dutton, Edna Slater, Beth Smith, Nora Younger, Mable Bickers and Hilda Held; Edgar Smith, Linwood Livermore, Philip Jackson, Richard Thompson, Cress Sturgis, Harold J. Warner, Bob Livermore, Chester Foc, John Dickson, Sherman Kunkel, James Sturgis, Blaine Burton, Francis Jackson, Homer Kunkel, Louis Kunkel, Edward Ellis, Westbrook Dickson, Jack Vincent and Bobbie Held.

Delightful Card Party.

The hospitality of the Hartman home, which has long been known to the residents of Pendleton, was again verified on Thursday evening, when a number of Judge and Mrs. Hartman's friends responded to the invitation to spend the evening with them and play whist. Mrs. Norbourne Berkeley proved the most proficient player among the guests, and scored the honors, receiving a lovely bunch of carnations. After the game was completed, delightful refreshments were served. Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames T. C. Taylor, F. W. Vincent, E. D. Marshall, Frank Clopton, J. R. Dickson, T. C. Warner, T. J. Halley, C. J. Smith, C. E. Roosevelt, John Vert, Norbourne Berkeley, Mrs. S. P. Sturgis and Miss Neva Lane.

Miss Lane Entertained.

Halley, C. E. Roosevelt, F. W. Vincent, Mrs. C. S. Jackson and J. T. Lambrith.

Those who enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Vincent were Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Roosevelt, Mrs. C. S. Jackson and Mr. Anderson, of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Hunziker Entertains.

The last one of a series of parties given by Mrs. Louis Hunziker, took place Tuesday evening when Misses Jessie Hartman, Bertha Alexander, Effie Frazier and Nellie Cameron, Messrs. Win Stewart, Royal Sawtell, Fred Lampkin, George Hartman, Charley Myers, William Keller, Messrs. and Mesdames L. G. Frazier and Sam Thompson, were invited to be the guests on this occasion. Five hundred was played, Miss Bertha Alexander winning the lady's prize and L. G. Frazier the gentleman's prize, the consolation going to Royal Sawtell. The evening proved a very enjoyable one.
