

BECOMING A MOTHER

Is an ordeal which all women approach with indescribable fear, for nothing compares with the pain and horror of child-birth. The thought of the suffering and danger in store for her, robs the expectant mother of all pleasant anticipations of the coming event, and casts over her a shadow of gloom which cannot be shaken off. Thousands of women have found that the use of Mother's Friend during pregnancy robs confinement of all pain and danger, and insures safety to life of mother and child. This scientific liniment is a god-send to all women at the time of their most critical trial. FOR SAFER TRAVEL

MEASURE TO COMPEL THE BUILDING STRONGER CARS.

Comparative immunity of Sleeping Cars From Smashing Has Been Noted — Railroad Massacres of the Past Year Has Stimulated Investigation and Attempted Reform.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 15. — Under the supervision of the interstate commission a bill is being prepared which, if it becomes a law, will compel railroad companies to build stronger coaches and other passenger cars, with the exception of sleepers. The bill will be introduced by Representative Esch of Wisconsin, and will provide that all coaches and cars for passenger service shall be constructed with steel sleepers and steel sills.

The American Railway association has been asked to submit details which would be practical from a railroad standpoint, and every care is taken to have the measure such as will effect more safety in construction. Before beginning the draft of the bill Representative Esch made a long investigation, going thoroughly into the history of car construction. He conferred also with government officials who expressed the opinion that something should be done to prevent the further construction of light railway coaches which either telescope or break like egg shells in the event of a wreck, thereby causing a large death and casualty rate.

Immunity of Sleepers. It is asserted that the immunity from death and injury which passengers in sleeping cars enjoy is due largely to the steel underframe construction and it is understood the construction of the present day sleeping car will be taken as a standard. In this event, all day coaches, smoking cars, buffet cars, chair and parlor cars will have to be built with extension steel beams and possibly be provided with steel platforms and nontelegraphable device.

In view of the unusual number of lives sacrificed in railway wrecks the last year the urgent need of some such legislation is appreciated. At the same time the bill will undoubtedly give the railroads a reasonable length of time with which to comply with the provisions of the measure. This time will be sufficient to permit of all old equipment wearing out, but it will also provide that all cars to be constructed after the passage of the measure shall be of the required standard. It is the purpose to place the enforcement of the measure in the hands of the interstate commission, as is the case with the enforcement of the automatic coupler and other measures requiring the use of safety devices.

JUBILEE SINGERS.

Splendid Concert by Troupe Having International Fame.

Regarding the Fisk Jubilee singers who are to give one of their famous concerts at the Frazer theater Tuesday evening, the Bluffton, Me., Evening Times says:

The most caustic critic could find but little chance for his work in the concert given by the Jubilee singers last evening. Their songs were rendered in a manner that even the most captious author could not have failed to enjoy. Purity, earnestness and depth of feeling characterized their whole work. The gentle music of a tender strain can be brought out by no other people in the world like the colored people.

TWO LETTERS ABOUT TRIB

Man Who Was Willing to Try and Was Convinced.

A. S. Burroughs, Baker City, Ore., Dec. 15, 1902, wrote: "I have been a very hard drinker for twenty years, few people drank more than I. If your TRIB is a cure I want it." On May 15, 1903, Mr. Burroughs wrote: "It is a pleasure for me to recommend TRIB as a cure for the liquor habit. It has now been six months since I completed a cure with TRIB. I have never had better health. I eat well and sleep well. I believe it is the best cure for the liquor addiction yet placed upon the market."

Commendable Custom.

C. L. Whitney has just finished planting a park at the county fair grounds, consisting of 70 shade and ornamental trees of Norway and silver maple, broad leaved linden, Carolina poplar, American elm, tulip, box elder, Russian olive, golden arbor vitae, Australian pine and Colorado blue spruce. He has also planted avenues to locust trees along the drive ways and in front of the stables, a feature which will soon afford good shade for horses and men. The park will also make a cozy nook for private picnics and for visitors from the country to lunch during the fair when the trees mature. — Walla Walla Union.

Bright's Disease and Diabetes News.

Office Wine and Spirit Review, San Francisco, Oct. 12.—To the Editor of the East Oregonian.

Dear Sir:—The business men of this city who are now proclaiming to the world the discovery of the cure for Bright's disease and Diabetes have asked me as one of the beneficiaries to write to some of my brother editors. Hence this letter to you. I was at first as skeptical as anyone. I had reason to be. I had a clear case of chronic Bright's Disease; was ill for a year. It was not thought I would live thirty days. The president of the Pacific States Type Foundry told my wife that the newly-discovered diuretic would save my life, and against my private convictions I was put on it. In six months my recovery was complete.

A friend of mine, Dr. A. J. Howe, a prominent physician, was nearly dead with Bright's Disease. On my recovery I told him and he acted the same in his case and he is now well on the road to recovery. As a brother editor I personally assure you of the truth of the discovery. Thousands of lives are to be saved and I am writing in the hope that this letter will start some of them right.

Praternally yours,
R. M. Wood, Editor.

OREGON RUSSIAN'S REVIEW OF THE WAR

The grim power of Russian despotism has finally succeeded in carrying out the first act of a great drama, or rather tragedy. By its usual methods of deception it forced Japan to appeal to arms to defend and maintain her existence. That Japan is fully able to do so—of this, there is no question in the mind of any ordinary observer of the world's doings. It is true that Japan has no standing army as large as Russia. At least the syndicate articles printed in some of our newspapers and written by individuals commissioned to represent here Russia's interests have spread the idea of an army larger than that of all the combined armies of Europe.

In this, of course, there is no truth—it is only a bluff, though of the two contending powers Russia's army is, of course, the larger. Nevertheless the advantages are on the side of Japan, which can place every available man in the field, while Russia could not begin to do anything of the kind. Indeed it is very doubtful whether Russia could place one-fifth of her army in Eastern Asia.

Internal Foes Everywhere.

Not only are there strong rumors of Balkan complications—and who in this world has a more just grievance against Russia than the Turkish empire—which necessitate a large army in Southern and South-eastern European Russia, but it is probably the only imperial power today whose internal foes can be found in every part of the dominions. There is scarcely a well populated province in that empire where thousands of people under some pretext or another have not been driven to desperation by the brutality of that relentless power.

There is scarcely one peasant out of a hundred that has not been reduced to poverty by taxation, extortion and general plunder, as carried on by that oligarchy. There is scarce one home out of 50 where a son or a daughter, a sister or a brother, has not been imprisoned in her dungeons, exiled into Siberia, or hanged for participation—in real or supposed—in the revolutionary movement against the imperial government.

Because of these and many other similar wrongs the greater part of Russia's army must be kept at home guarding her own subjects. Such is the actual condition that prevails in that empire.

The world further knows that Russia is the only power today whose sole policy is that of conquest and should that monstrous absolutism in man-brute guise succeed in this war, it would mean the dismemberment of China and in due course of events it would only become a question of time as to who should be its next victim.

Japanese Fighting for Civilization.

This is the history of Russia, and this is why the whole world is in full sympathy with the heroic effort of the Japanese people, who, strange as it may seem, are fighting for civilization against a Caucasian race who throughout the whole of its history has been the uncompromising enemy of every cardinal principle on which modern civilization rests.

This is why the whole world is in sympathy with the heroic effort of the Japanese people, and herein is the actual source of that firm conviction in every human breast that should Japan fall in dealing that ignoble aggressor the mortal blow it so justly deserves, the great powers will step in with something like a repetition of the famous Berlin congress of 1878, the results of which will be final and unmistakable.

On the other hand, should Japan come out victorious, as indications seem to point, the world will certainly applaud her achievement, while Russia will be obliged to give up all she struggled for. Manchuria will not fall into the paws of "the bear that walks like a man," and the integrity of China will be preserved, whatever the outcome of the struggle between Russia and Japan may prove, and Russia in either case would not gain what she now expects to gain. The whole world is against her.—W. H. Galvani, of Portland, in Oregon Daily Journal.
