MELLMAN RETURNS

PENDLETON-DAYTON ELECTRIC ROAD REVIVED.

Promoter Says He Has Secured Funds With Which to Build the Line—Old Dream of Rapid Transit in the Inland Empire Enjoys a Temporary Animation—Line to Be 85 Miles in Length and Will Touch All Umatilla, Columbia and Walla Walla County Towns En Route.

Mellman has returned. The revival of this "iridescent dream" will not excite much enthusiasm in Pendleton, but the electric road promoter has returned from somewhere to Dayton, and is now making promises to begin throwing dirt on his line between that city and Pendleton in the near future. He claims to have secured sufficient capital to build his road, and is now making actual preparations to begin construction on the Mellman electric road, which was so fully exploited in the papers two years ago. His franchise in Walla Walla expires in June and he is endeavoring to have this franchise extended. His agent at Dayton recently filed renewal of the water rights held by Mellman, on the Tukannon, and the magnate now promises Walla Walla that he will have the line under construction within a very short time if this franchise is extended. The Dayton-Pendleton electric line as promoted by Mr. Mellman, is 85 miles in length and touches all the towns en route between these cities, including Adams, Athena, Milton, Freewater, Walla Walla, Dry Creek, Valley Grove, Dixie, Waitsburg and Huntville. Power was to have been supplied from central stations on the Umatilla, the Tukannon and the Walla Walla rivers. The purpose of the company was to operate electric lighting plants at all the cities touched by the road, as well as to operate a modern electric road, such as is now in operation between Seattle and Tacoma, running trains over the entire length of the road about one hour apart, thus affording quick and regular communication between all the cities en route.

It has been hoped that such a road would be built as it would afford facilities for travel and transportation to all the remote settlements in Umatilla, Walla Walla and Columbia counties, and would have a tendency to build up the central points and county seats, by affording cheap and rapid communication with the country districts, and by furnishing cheaper light and power.

Returns From the North. John Gardner, one of the oldest engineers on the O. R. & N., has just returned from a visit to his old home in Minnesota, and is very glad to get back to the mild climate of Oregon. He says the states of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Dakota and Montana are experiencing one of the hardest winters seen here for many years. Snow is deep in the mountains and very high water is expected. It was almost one continual blizzard from St. Paul to Spokane, along the line of the Great Northern as he came home. He went to La Grande last evening and will resume his passenger run between that city and Huntington.

REPUBLICAN CLUB

BEGINS BUSINESS WITH ONE HUNDRED MEMBERS.

Elected Officers, Adopted Constitution and By-Laws and Will Hold Regular Meetings—Will Be a Pacifist and Promoter of the Party's Best Interests and Wholly Devoid of Selfishness—Will Not Be Dictated.

Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States, was honored again last night when about 100 of the young men of this city organized the Roosevelt Republican Club of Pendleton.

Roy W. Ritner was selected by the members of the organization to fill the presidential chair, L. G. Frazier was elected vice president, J. H. Gwinn secretary, and Frank J. Macey treasurer.

The constitution and by-laws were reported by a committee which has for the past two weeks been at work on them, and the organization was made permanent.

It was decided to meet hereafter on the second and fourth Thursdays in each month until such time as the work of the club shall have been done and the success of the reunited party be a matter of history.

Special programs will be arranged for the meetings of the club, well known and entertaining speakers will be secured, and the sessions will be both interesting, instructive and beneficial.

J. H. Gwinn, F. J. Macey and Charles W. Myers were appointed as a committee who will at once commence to swell the membership until it takes in every republican in the city and vicinity over the age of 18 years. There will be no limit to the maximum age.

The war-cry and trumpet-call of the club will be harmony. It will represent no faction, have no tendency, acknowledge no leader except the great principle of the party. The organization will not submit to the dictates of faction cranked bosses, or pledge itself to the support of factional seekers after nomination to county, state or national offices. It will follow the example of the state convention and sew up the wounds and heal the strife in the party in this part of the state. Such is the plan as outlined by the managers of the club, which will make its first appearance as an entertainer and instructor at the court house on the evening of March 24, when an elaborate program will be presented, with music by the club quartet and speeches by some of the republican speakers of the county who do not represent one faction or the other.

WOOL BUYERS COMING.

J. H. Gwinn Receives Letters From All the Prominent Wool Men Who Have Attended Former Sales.

J. H. Gwinn, secretary of the Oregon Woolgrowers' Association, is in receipt of letters from all the prominent buyers who have attended former wool sales in this city, and they all inquire as to the prospects for the wool clip in this county this year.

It is evident that all the former buyers will be on the ground with several new faces, attracted by the excellence of the Umatilla clip.

George W. Abbott, of Boston, the buyer who had the misfortune to break his leg on the depot platform at The Dalles, last year, while attending the wool sales in Eastern Oregon, has written to Mr. Gwinn that he expects to be present, and in closing his letter says in regard to the market prospects:

"As the situation now is, wool will be some lower than last year. The American Woolen Company, on account of their large production, is the chief factor in making prices for goods. They have offered their goods at less than a year ago.

"If sheep have done well, growers may perhaps realize as much per head as they did last year, even if prices are lower, as last year's clip averaged from one to one and a half pounds, less per fleece than usual, on account of the severe winter and the scarcity of feed."

Mr. Gwinn has written letters to the principal buyers to the effect that Umatilla county wool will be of an extra good quality this year, and that owing to the general conditions of the market, the grower here will expect a good price for his wool and that it might as well be understood first as last that the sheepmen were not scared at the prospects of alleged low prices.

TAXPAYING.

Large Volume of It Done by Mail, Involving Much Work.

The sheriff's office is busy today, but the business looks like a calm besides the rush of the last few days of the tax payments. Yesterday was the last day under the law that the sheriff could grant a rebate, and the office was full of people all day waiting for their turn.

Up to last night it is estimated that $125,000 was handed over the counter at the office in payment of taxes, but this is an estimate, and may be either too high or too low. The office force does not know the exact amount, and will not for a week or so.

The office safe is full of letters and statements with checks and orders attached for payment of taxes by those who were unable to reach the city in time to get their rebate, and so sent the amount through the mail. As much of the time of the clerks as possible will be spent on this pile of correspondence until all has been cleared out of the way and the receipts sent back with the rebate marked. In the meantime, the office is taking no money for taxes, or at least is writing no receipts, until the rebate work is out of hand. It will take several days to get this part of the work closed, as the taxes represented by the letters amount to several thousand dollars, made up principally of small statements.

HABEAS CORPUS FILED.

Invoked to Secure the Release of a Deserter Who Did Not Legally Enlist.

An action in habeas corpus was filed in the circuit court yesterday afternoon and was argued this afternoon before Judge Ellis. The suit was brought by William Sherburn, the father of Henry Joseph Sherburn, asking that T. D. Taylor as sheriff of this county, be compelled to bring Henry Sherburn before the court and show cause why the boy should not be set free.

Henry Sherburn, it is claimed, is a deserter from the regular army at Walla Walla, and has been arrested by the sheriff and is being held under instructions from Walla Walla, until such a time as an officer can reach the city from that place and take the prisoner to the fort.

The petitioner in his request states that the prisoner is not being held under a service or process from any court, either federal or state, that no charge has been preferred against him in any legal body, and that he is illegally detained. The complaint further alleges that the son is but 19 years of age and that the consent of the parents to his enlistment in the army has never been given, and that he is thus not of right enlisted, and therefore cannot of right be a deserter from the ranks. James A. Fee is attorney for the father and complainant.

APPRAISERS APPOINTED.

Will Look After Apportionment of Wade Estate Among Creditors.

Judge Fitz Gerald yesterday appointed Thomas Thompson, George Perringer and Lee Moorhouse as appraisers of the estate of C. B. Wade. The men will make an inventory of the estate as soon as possible and report to the court of bankruptcy. Their report will then be audited, and if correct the disposal of the estate for division among the creditors will be made as soon as the necessary sales can be made.

The board of appraisers was appointed as it was, for the reason that the men on it were not in any way connected with the estate. Neither were they interested in the bank. They are, therefore, in a position to act in a perfectly impartial manner in the appraisement.

Three Indians, Three Days.

Three Indians were brought into police court this morning charged with drunkenness. When arrested last night one of the men had four pint flasks of whiskey in his pockets and was in such a drunken state that he could not stand up. The police judge gave each a sentence of three days in the city jail.

Council Meeting Tonight.

The city council will meet this evening. At this meeting the remonstrance of the proposed Webb street compulsory grading will be presented. There are 54 signatures to the petition. It is thought that the petition will at least delay the commencement of the improvement work.

MACCABEES REVIEW.

Will Be Held in Pendleton March 30, With Many Visiting Delegates.

The Umatilla tent of the Maccabees had a most interesting meeting last night, when seven new members were initiated into the mysteries of the order.

Word has been received from D. P. Markey, the supreme commander of the Maccabees for the state, that he will be in this city and hold a review here March 30. At that time delegates from all of the principal tents in Eastern Oregon will be present and a contest will be held between the teams representing the different camps of this district.

The tent from La Grande is arranging for a special car to bring their delegation and others to the convention.
